here in good health. The deceased was a native of Wolfe Island, where his father, who died a few years ago, was a leading farmer. For many years past he was engaged in Toledo for a few years, but returned to Kingston three or four years ago. He married Miss Jones, formerly of Garden Island He had no children His mother, one brother and three sisters survive. The brother is William of Wolfe Island, and the sisters, Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Kyle, of Kingston, and Miss Bullis, who lives with her mother on the island. In religion, Mr. Bullis was an Anglican, a member of St. George's cathedral.

Mr. Bullis was closely identified with the Oddfellows. Before going to Toledo he was connected with Kingston Lodge No. 59. While in Toledo, a lodge was constituted there, and he became one of the charter members. Fourteen years ago, he took charge of the Kingston Canton, and was captain of it ever since, during his residence in the city A few weeks ago, when the schooner Acacis flag incident was at the height of discussion, Mr. Bullis told a Whig representative of a similar incident which occurred when the Kingston Canton visited Syracuse, N.Y., as guests of the Oddfellows there about ten years ago. The matter was hushed up, as the Odtlfellows of both countries had no desire to invite in ternational bitterness. The Kingston Canton carried their silk Union Jack on invitation of the Syracuse Oddfel lows. In the march there were murmurings against the flag. The crisis came when a gang of hoodlums made an attack on the British emblem, and tried to wrench it from the bearer and Ottawa, Aug. 17.-The lumbermen's tramp it under feet. Capt.
