DANDRUFF DON'T WASH OUT.

The Germ That Causes It Has to Be Destroyed, to Cure Dandruff. Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking that by scrubbing off the scurf she will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of forty years, she has spent 250 days of twelve hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life, in that vain hope; vain because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide" - also a delightful hair dressing, and thorough antiseptic against all contagion from use of other's hair brushes. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

Gold in the Twilight

Miss Daly gave a pleasant little tea, yesterday, for Miss Bolger's visitor, Mrs. James Pott, of Stirling, who has been the incentive to several jolly little gatherings. Tea was served in front of Miss Geraldine and Miss Kathleen Daly. Among the guests were: Mrs. Crookall, Mrs. Ruth Nickle, Mrs. George Ellis, Miss Ida Sutherland, Miss Alice King, Miss Mona Knight, Miss Gertrude Whitehead, Miss Going, Miss Josephine Brown, Miss May Bolger and Miss Alice Green, of Madoc. The last named added greatly to the afternoon's fun by telling fortunes from the tea leaves lying within the mystic depths of the teacups.

A surprise party called upon the Misses Brown, University avenue, on Tuesday night, and took possession of latter and her party. Out of the latter "tag," and other games as heartily refreshing, as they are rare with grown-ups, were played. In the house the kitchen was invited, and taffy made, and other jolly pranks indulged in, and the whole evening was indeed, most satisfactory, from a pleasure standpoint. The three hostesses are always successful in making any sort of a party go off with a bang, and this one was just as all other affairs, large and small, at their home, are.

A jolly surprise party, with Miss Bolger's as the rendezvous, was organized this week and all sorts of fun indulged in.

The passenger list of the Allan line (tubing) Victorian, which reached Montreal on Saturday, reads rather like Burke's Peerage. Among the notable people it brought to Canada are: Lord Robert Cecil and Lady Cecil, Hon. Mrs. Johnston, of London, Hon. William Peel, Hon. Sydney Peel, Le Comte de Violaine and Comtesse, Viscount de Vesce, Sir Thomas and Lady Clive. A passage had been booked for Lord G. Hamilton, but he did not come. Lord Robert Edgar Algeron Cecil is the third son of the late Marquis of Salisbury, prime minister of England. Like his world-famous father, he was a journalist before he rose to the front rank of statesman. In appearance Lord Robert bears a striking resemblance to Mr. Anthony Hope, the author. Sir Thomas Clive, the Irish knight, is visiting Canada to look after his interests here. Before his departure for home he will visit Rev. Dean Dann, of St. Peter's cathedral, London, Ont., who is a relative.

With the shock which came, this morning, when the news of Mrs. Waddell's death was heard, came also the breath of relief that one, dearly loved by all who knew her, had departed from the great pain she has lately suffered here. Before his departure for home he will visit Rev. Dean Dann, of St. Peter's cathedral, London, Ont., who is a relative.

Mrs. Green, and Miss Alice Green, of Madoc, are visiting the Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Burton, University avenue, East street. They will leave for their home in Winnipeg to-day.

Mrs. Buchanan is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Kaye, at Wolsley Barracks, London.

Mr. Alhol Stewart, of Quebec, and Mr. Shirley Layton, of Nova Scotia, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stewart, Ottawa.

Mrs. K. N. Fenwick is the guest of Mrs. Fages at the Island of Orleans and intends coming back to Ottawa next week.

Mrs. Janet Porteous will leave, on Monday, for Saranac Lake, where she will spend the winter with her mother and sister. Mrs. Porteous has taken a furnished house there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith, Montreal, were in the city to-day and called on Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Dremann, East street. They will leave for their home in Winnipeg to-day.

Mr. James Pott, left to-day for Stirling.

Master Bert Folger, who has spent the summer with his grandmother, Mrs. George King, Alice street, went back to Toronto, yesterday.

Dr. Campbell, of Montreal, who was up for the meeting of Queen's trustees, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Macdonnell.

Mrs. George Richardson, and her family, are home from their summer camp down the Rideau.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farrell, of Montreal, who have spent a day or so, at "Avonmore," went down to Ganouque, today, on their way home.

Miss Edna Stiles, of Cornwall, is returning. Mrs. W. St. Pierre Hughes, Mrs. Olive Boyd, University avenue, returned from visiting friends in Ottawa, yesterday. She was accompanied by Miss Clark, Ottawa, who will spend a few weeks with her here.

Madame Benuchemin, from Quebec, and Madame de Plessis, who have been staying with Madame du Plessis for a few weeks, left for Winnipeg to-day.

Mrs. Hoag, with her children and her niece, came back to town, from Tronton, this week.

Mrs. Brown of Hamilton, is the guest of Mrs. De Carteret, Alfred street.

Lady Kirkpatrick wore a very handsome black, broad silk, with collar of cream lace, and a small hat, with touches of pink, at the R.C.Y.C. "At Home" for Prince Louis of Battenberg.

Mrs. Rankin, of Montreal, is the guest of Mrs. Dalton, Johnston street.

Mrs. Harry Tandy has come up to town from the island, but Miss Lettice and Miss Constance Tandy will probably remain down there throughout September.

Mrs. Osborne and Mr. Hubert Osborne will sail, next week, for England. Mrs. Osborne and Miss Folger intend living there in the future.

The engagement is announced of: Miss Josephine Telford, daughter of Mr. Bernard Telford, Moore street, to Mr. George B. Mackay, of the Bank of Toronto, Montreal, and son of the late Mr. John Mackay, of Kingston.

Miss Edith M. Halsted, Mount Forest, to Mr. George J. Reid, manager, Sovereign Bank, Mount Forest. The wedding will take place in October.

Miss Mae Hyland, 102 Henderson avenue, Ottawa, to Mr. C. Lorne Marston, of London. The wedding will take place on September 12th.

Miss Agnes Watt, of Barrie, to Dr. J. H. Purdy, of Cobourg, Ont. The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Margaret Mabel Dean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean, of Sturgeon Falls, Ont., to Mr. Thomas Erskine, McKee barrister, of Sturgeon Falls.

The marriage of Miss Nora Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shaw, of Ottawa, to Mr. Frank Morgan, of Hartford, Connecticut, son of Dr. Morgan, will take place September 26th.

The marriage of Mr. E. F. Hunter, of the Quebec Bank, Ottawa, to Miss Madeline Moffat, of Pembroke, will take place very quietly in Pembroke on Wednesday, September 13th.

Miss Josephine Telford, eldest daughter of County Crown Attorney Anderson, Belleville, was married to Mr. James Douglas Ponton, of South America, son of Mr. Douglas Ponton, of Toronto, on Wednesday, Mr. George T. Gillespie, of Belleville, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ponton, of Montreal, and Mr. Allen Barnett, of Toronto, were ushers. Miss Violet Anderson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The marriage of Miss Florence May Pringle, daughter of Mrs. James Pringle, Rose avenue, to Mr. John Munro Sutherland, of Toronto. The wedding will take place on September 12th, at Old St. Andrew's church.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Emily Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. J. Bradshaw, Belleville, to Mr. Grey, Montreal. The wedding will take place on September 20th.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

Of Moderns at Queen's—An Account of His Record.

Yesterday the trustees of Queen's University appointed E. W. F. St. John, B.A. (Cambridge), to the post of assistant professor in French and German. There was a large number of applications from both sides of the Atlantic, and some difficulty was experienced in estimating the relative merits of each, but the trustees finally decided in favor of Mr. Patechet.

The new assistant professor is a young Englishman, twenty-seven, trained in an English grammar school, and with some six years' experience in teaching French and German. He spent a year in France, followed by a year in Germany, and most of his college days in France. His appointment as master of modern languages in his school have been spent on the continent. He is said to speak as well as write, French and German, with ease and with an excellent accent. Besides passing the London intermediate B.A. examination, he is a graduate of Cambridge University, having taken the medieval and modern languages tripos. At Cambridge, he attended lectures on comparative philology and did some Gothic and Italian to help in the study of the development of Germanic and French. Dr. Adams, the well-known scholar, was his tutor in Emmanuel College, and testifies to his scholarship, his ability as a teacher and his high character. Mr. Patechet was placed in the first class in the study of modern languages inter-collegiate examination in French and German, both in his first and second years, and on one of these occasions he was the only man placed in the first class. He studied the history of French literature, as well as the course in phonetics under Prof. Viduolomotte, who says that he possesses "a very complete knowledge of modern and ancient French." Mr. Patechet also studied the old and modern German language and literature under the direction of Dr. Karl Breul. All his testimonials bear witness to his ability, earnestness and success as a teacher. Mr. Patechet is a man of wide cultivation, including a fair knowledge of science, with an interest in all branches of knowledge and the modesty of a scholar. While he is thoroughly familiar with the French and German tongues, and has taken every care to study those historically and philologically, he has also an insight into the meaning of the literary products contained in them.

CANADA IS ASSISTING

WHAT DOMINION SHIPS TO SOUTH AFRICA.

One Ship Alone Carried 80,000 Fine Deals—Good Opening in Dark Continent.

The Cape Argus says it was stated the other day by a representative of Messrs. J. Laing Miller & Co., agents for the Canadian and South African Joint Steamship Service, that the preferential treatment now accorded by the South African Colonies to Canadian goods was being to result in a considerable impetus being given to the trade between the two countries.

Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co. of Liverpool, and Messrs. Furness, Withy & Co. of London, are carrying on the service jointly, and, while, owing to the depression that has reigned so long in South Africa, the expectations that were formed at its inception have not yet been realized, there is very good ground, particularly in view of the preferential treatment alluded to, for believing that they will be before long.

Not that the service is in any way unduly dilated yet is to be held. On the contrary, the indications are of excellent import to perpetrate a vile pun. Half a dozen fine boats are employed on the service, which is a monthly one. In the summer they sail from Montreal, and in the winter from St. John, New Brunswick, Cape Town, Port Elizabeth and Durban are their regular ports of call, while East London, Mossel Bay and Delagoa Bay are called at if sufficient cargo offers.

The representatives of the local produce and other goods, such as poultry, apples, eggs, butter, cheddar cheese, tinned goods, and cattle are the principal lines in which Canada assists in supplying the wants of South Africa.

To a large extent the timber consists of poplar planks for building purposes and for cabinet making. It is interesting to learn that currently this all came from Montreal, and that there is every promise that in time the whole of the Canadian timber will be forwarded by this line. It can be put aboard cheaply at Montreal than at New York, and the rates are practically the same as those of the Prince Line. One boat alone has brought out as many as 30,000 deals, and Johannesburg is a big customer in this line. The stagnation of the building trade has had, naturally, its effect upon this branch of the Canadian trade.

At present the average number of cattle brought over by each boat is about fifty, and there is every prospect that this number will continue to increase. The freight is low, the cattle are said to give every satisfaction, while such is the excellence of the arrangements on board, that none have yet been lost on the voyage.

Most of the cases of apples, as well as the smaller russets, which are a prominent feature in our local fruit shops just now, come from Canadian orchards, and have been brought over by the ships of this line. The Canadian apple season begins in September, and only for some two or three months does its produce have the South African market to itself. For in addition to the South African producer, the competition of Australia, Madeira, etc., has to be encountered. And at present the Canadian producer seems to come into the field only when it is unoccupied.

These apples are coming over in large quantities, and are much appreciated, in fact, by the local market. The vessel of the line to arrive—the Wyandotte—brought over 1,000 barrels and 4,000 cases, some four or five varieties of them being represented. They were in excellent condition, and are landed in magnificent condition. The importing is mostly done by two or three Canadian firms established in Cape Town.

In the matter of the trade generally, in connection with this line, it seems that the larger portion comes to Cape Town and Durban, the Garden Colony's ports being the regular ports of call. Town, owing to the fact that all goods destined for Johannesburg go through it.

Poultry, in the shape of fowls, geese, ducks and turkeys, have been a considerable item, but, strangely enough, of late the supply has fallen off—possibly this is owing to Australian competition. It is expected, however, that the Melville, which is due on the 28th, will bring a large quantity.

In the case of eggs, perhaps, it seems particularly ridiculous, that we should have to look for our supplies to countries many thousands of miles away. But so it is, and Canada is the latest recruit to the ranks of our purveyors in this direction. The export of Canadian eggs to this country is as yet but in its infancy, but in the coming season much larger shipments are expected than have been made in the past. It is interesting to note, in a delicacy with which Canada supplies us. Possibly, if the fact were more widely known among our housewives, salmon would be more often than is the case at present.

In regard to flour, there is, as mentioned on that occasion, good ground for supposing that the trade will reach large dimensions. As it is, its condition is very satisfactory, although the large surplus available for export to the United States, and the somewhat cheaper lines that country has to offer us, must affect the Canadian export to our shores.

In addition to timber for the building trade, by the way, Canada is now exporting to us metal ceilings and metal laths.

YOUTHFUL ASTRONOMER.

At 17 Hector Macpherson Has Written Learned Work.

Astronomers, like poets, are born, not made. No man takes to astronomy from mercenary motives, and only real and enthusiastic can supply the patience and perseverance necessary to accomplish real and abiding work in the study of the wonders of the starry heavens.

Hector Macpherson, Jr., a lad of 17, the author of "Astronomers of Today," may be heard of in future. The son of one of the best known journalists in Scotland, he has had no systematic education and has never been at a public school.

Young Hector's home is at Johnsburn, Balerno, a pretty, tree-sheltered old Middleton County house, several miles from Edinburgh. Here the youthful astronomer has had ample leisure and opportunity to cultivate his favorite science. He has never been made to "grind at grammar" in his own or other languages, though his father has helped him in different ways, and encouraged him to find out things for himself. The lad has acquired in this way a large amount of general knowledge unknown to the ordinary school-boy, and has acquired the faculty of giving expression to his ideas in clear, terse, vigorous English.

When twelve or thirteen he began to show a strong interest in astronomy. His father, believing it is good for the youthful mind to occupy itself with great subjects, gave the boy encouragement, and procured for him astronomical primers written in simple and popular style. Instead of wearing, the usual wooden and iron-rimmed spectacles, he got a general idea of the whole subject, and worked steadily through many astronomical books, increasing in difficulty. Bit by bit the young astronomer developed, getting a corner of his home fitted up as an observatory, with telescope, star maps and other paraphernalia as became a private astronomer.

By and by, at his father's suggestion, he commenced a series of articles in an Edinburgh weekly newspaper on the work accomplished by living astronomers. Having tried in vain to find in any book published in English up-to-date information as to the work of such men as Schiaparelli, Flammarion and others, the boy wrote to the scientists themselves, sent on copies of some of his articles to show what he was doing, and begged for accurate information to show what each man does, and the most important contribution to science during his lifetime. An interesting and friendly correspondence followed, and the boy wrote to the scientists and others, getting a corner of his home fitted up as an observatory, with telescope, star maps and other paraphernalia as became a private astronomer.

At present the youthful astronomer, in addition to pursuing his studies of the stars, is engaged in mathematical and other studies under a private tutor with a view to entering at Edinburgh University.

ARMOR-PROTECTED CAMERA.

What are said to be the best photographs of the war in the east, were secured by an English firm which is in this line of business. These pictures stood out among the others secured on the field of action because it was evident from even a casual inspection of the prints that the operator had used great care and had given unusual attention to detail in the matter of making the exposure. From the great number of successes obtained it was apparent that the pictures were not the result of hit or miss snaphotting on the field. These pictures attracted great attention and at the present time they are on exhibition in one of the London halls, and are being viewed daily by throngs of people.

The secret of these camera successes was the bullet-proof shield which was devised for the use of the camera man, and from behind the kindly shelter of this he was enabled to make his exposures with perfect deliberation and to seize upon the right moment for the exposure to get the best effects. With this shield, the photographer pushed his way along through the thickest of the fight, with very little risk to life or limb.

No Room For Sick Baby.

A young woman told the Westminster coroner the other day how, when her three-week-old child was taken ill she tramped about London trying to get a hospital to take it in. At some hospitals it could not be admitted because it was illegitimate, at others the nurses said it was not ill enough to be taken in, and at another letters from a doctor and a clergyman were required.

She at last found herself at a Hampstead hospital, where the nurse said her child could be admitted only on a Tuesday or a Friday. She was taking the baby back to Brixton, where she lived, when on reaching Victoria Station the little one was so ill that she hurried to St. George's Hospital, where it died from heart failure a few minutes after its admission.

The coroner criticized the woman's action in leaving the workhouse as soon as sixteen days after the child's birth, but said he was quite at a loss to understand why the question of the baby's legitimacy should affect its admission to a hospital.

The scene it was a peaceful one. The children at play. The larks above with songs of love together in the harmony of their notes. The foul assassin there appeared. And stopped the joyous fun. And in another moment he. His hellish work was done.

The offender against public sentiment was William McLaughlin, and he was sentenced to twenty-one days for his part. The "door" effusion was illustrative of a recent outrage on a boy in the neighborhood, and it is said the crowd were moved to tears.
