LABOR DAY PARADE

WORKMEN AND BOYS ON THE MARCH.

The Lads Carried Union Jacks—The Mayor and Three Aldermen Rode—Sports at the Fair Grounds.

Yesterday was the anniversary set aside by organized labor upon which to celebrate their formation into a recognized body and society. Right merrily did they celebrate the same in Kingston. Shortly after ten o'clock the members of the trades and labor council assembled on the market square in front of their hall, and formed into a procession. First of all was a mounted marshal, then the Fourteenth band, discoursing familiar and beautiful marches. Next the mayor, Alds. Bell, Sears, and Hoag rode in one of Kingston's most finely appointed carriages. What followed came as a surprise to most of the spectators. The future brain and sinew of the land, under the chief of the fire department as marshal, strutted proudly along, prouder even than their elders to take part in the procession. The little lads turned out in unexpected numbers and each carrying a small Union Jack, they formed the decided feature of the parade. The remainder of the line was made up of the several unions of the city, each headed by one of their number bearing its particular insignia.

The route followed was along King to Princess, up Princess to Barrie, along Barrie to Union, to Bagot, to Earl, to Ontario, to the market square. Large numbers of citizens turned out to see the men and thronged the line of march. Conspicuous by their presence also were the members of the fairer sex. The whole affair proved a most gratifying success to those in charge.

In the afternoon a monster picnic was held at the fair grounds. The long list of sports was successfully carried through and everybody went away more than pleased with their day's outing. The 14th band was in attendance during the afternoon and dancing indulged in the palace.

THE DARK CORNERS.

A Light is Needed at a Black Spot.

"Observer" writes thus in regard to an item in the Whig of Friday last: In your issue of last evening an article appeared under the heading of "The Dark Corners." The particular corner mentioned, viz., the corner of King and Union streets, was certainly well described when it was called, "Black as pitch."

On account of the thick foliage and insufficient lights in that locality the sidewalks as well as the street are very dark places, and as King street is the main thoroughfare to the parks the placing of an electric light at the above named corner is badly needed, and would be a great boon to the general public and a preventative to possible accidents.

WILL OF LATE DR. FEE.

The Sum of $1,000 Left to the House of Industry.

As has been stated, the late Dr. Fee was a friend to the poor during his lifetime, and at his death they are not forgotten. By his will, $1,000 of his estate goes to the House of Industry, an institution sorely in want. It is a long time since anyone in Kingston remembered this refuge for the poor to such an extent and Dr. Fee's splendid gift may perhaps be the means of causing others to follow his example. The House of Industry directors will be more than grateful for the legacy. Dr. Fee left $1,000 and a cottage to his housekeeper, and $1,000 each to his brother and sisters. His estate is valued at about $10,000.

Back From His Vacation.

Rev. J. B. Grimshaw, of Union street Baptist church, occupied his pulpit last Sunday after a vacation of a full month spent on the great lakes. While at Two Harbours, Minn., in conversation with the manager of the iron ore dock department of the Duluth and Iron Range Railway company, he found that trains carrying from 1,800 to 2,000 tons of iron ore arrive every thirty minutes from the mines which are from fifty to ninety miles away. There are five docks at Two Harbours, each being 1,388 feet long, and sixty-eight feet high. The ore capacity of these docks is 188,000 tons, and 10,580 tons of ore is loaded on the boats in less than nine hours. The highest record for one twenty-four hours, shipment is 90,000 tons.

Retreat Of The Priests.

Rev. Father Klowder, superior general of the Redemptorist order, commences the retreat for the clergy of the diocese in St. Mary's cathedral this morning. The retreat closes on Saturday, and all the clergy will be here for the service in connection with the opening of the new organ on Friday evening.

A TOUCH OF QUINCY.

Received by Local Theatre-Goers on Labor Day.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" was at the Grand afternoon and evening yesterday. Justin Adams' rural drama continues as popular as ever, if one may judge by the attendance it draws. The four acts were well put on, the scenery being somewhat better than that usually accompanying shows of like character. The principals were all good, and received the best of support, the company being an evenly balanced one. Miss Ada Wadsworth as Lindy Putnam, rich as a "Creazers" and yet poorest of them all; Miss Juliet Martin, as Huldy Mason, who comes near having a little romance; and Miss Elizabeth G. Meredith as Alice Pettengill, beloved, beautiful—and blind, are deserving of particular mention for the manner in which they interpreted the lines allotted them. They read into the play a sincerity and thoughtfulness very commendable. The small characters, from Quincy down, were all of the best, but Alice Baldwin, as Mrs. Crowley, who should be more careful where she sits; and Abner Stiles, were the fun-makers of the troupe. The play was well received throughout, and will bear repetition.

The Great Star.

Al Leech, the star of "Girls Will Be Girls" company, that plays an engagement here on Thursday, September 7th, at the Grand, just thirty-three years ago, February 26th last, first saw the light of day in Wheeling, West Va., and when only seven years of age had to start in life to earn his livelihood. He commenced by being a newsboy and followed that occupation until he was fourteen years of age, after which he started to work in a nail factory in his native town and continued on until he was nineteen years, when a circus happened along in want of talent for a concert side show, Daniel Lemon, the proprietor of the Lemon circus, inquiring around the public resorts to find out if he could secure some talent was informed of Leech and his ability as comic singer, and good dancer. He sought out and engaged him after quite a line of arguments, as Al was loath to accept, he being of a very nervous temperament and not feeling as secure in his own mind as his friends were that he could fill the bill. Anyhow he accepted and made a great hit both with the management and the entire audience. He however, only stayed with the circus a short time, when he went with a minstrel company; from that he went into vaudeville, where he became one of the most prominent headliners in the business. It was while he was doing this turn at Keith's Theatre in Boston that William A. Brady first saw Leech's very successful act; Brady sent for Joseph Hart, who had Leech under contract, after the show and in less than one hour from the time they met, Brady had Hart and Leech's signature to a three years contract. When Leech returned to the theatre in the evening the news had arrived there before Leech. Mr. Albee, Keith's manager sought him in his dressing-room and offered Leech and his three rosebuds a five years' contract at $800 per week. Leech had to decline on account of the Brady contract, and that is how Leech advanced from a newsboy to the most prominent star in the musical comedy world.

THE YACHT CLUB CRUISE.

Tezpi Was the Winner, With Chiriya Second.

The result of Saturday's cruise of the Kingston Yacht Club resulted: Tezpi (E. C. Gildersleeve), first; Chiriya (Dalton Bros.), second; Harmony (H. Cunningham), third. There were seven entries in the handicap, the start being: Verona, 2.33 p.m.; Chiriya, 2.26; Cock Robin, Thelma and Tezpi, 2.24; Harmony, 2.20; Freda, 2.12. The four Gananoque boats to enter were unable to get up.

The run to Stella on Saturday afternoon resulted: Tezpi, Chiriya, Harmony. To McDonald's Cove, Chiriya, Tezpi, Harmony. Back to Stella, Tezpi, Chiriya, Harmony. This gave the Tezpi thirteen points, the Chiriya eleven and the Harmony three. Special prizes were given by the yacht club. The yachtsmen returned last evening.

The Funeral On Monday.

The funeral of the late William King, Alfred street, occurred on Monday morning. The service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Sparling. The casket was covered with flowers, the remembrances of many friends. The Queen street Methodist church trustee board sent a fine wreath. The veterans of 1866 were present wearing their medals. They had served with deceased at Prescott. The bearers were Messrs. S. Birch, J. E. Clark, John Walker, R. E. Sparks, J. A. Gardiner and Col. Gordon. Interment took place at Cataraqui, John King, Ottawa, a brother attended the funeral.

AMONG 2,000 ISLANDS.

America's Trip Taken Again and Again.

With flags unfurled, and a breezy blue sky overhead, the steamer America, took an excursion of 350 passengers among the archipelago of 2,000 islands, on Saturday afternoon, making her famous seventy mile tour. Two hundred excursionists went from Kingston, and 150 tourists from river resorts were also on the steamer. After passing the picturesque gap, at Cedar Island, the steamer entered the portals of the region of the Thousand Islands, and soon arrived at Clayton. Here the steamer Ramona, of the Folger line, was seen ready to depart for river points, with a load of New Yorkers. The America also touched at Round Island Park, Thousand Island Park, Murray Hill Park and Alexandria Bay.

This trip is being taken over and over again by people who feel that there is rest in every motion of the steamer, and all who take it appreciate the still radiance of the river which flows slowly through narrow channels with thick woodland on either side, as the tourist remains safely ensconced on the spacious decks, or reposes in the palace saloons of the America. The route taken by Capt. James F. Allen, who is in command of the America this season, gives a view of crystal eddies, solitary bays, sleeny pools, cliffs of granite, high headlands of rock and many wild groves.

The hours flew on steadily, and the steamer at last swung swiftly round on her return voyage. The illumination of Kingston seen as the steamer reached her destination, was magnificent, and the electric lights sparkled through the shades of the night. The arrival home was at an early hour.

THE GENERAL SYNOD.

Delegates Will Be Present From All Canada.

The general synod of the Church of England, in Canada, will convene, in Quebec, on Wednesday. Delegates will be present from the most remote parts of the dominion—even from the Yukon. It is a triennial synod, and supreme. The bishops form the upper house, and the clergy and laity the lower, and only the most important subjects are dealt with. The proposed revision of the prayer book, and the compilation of a Canadian hymnal will come up at this meeting.

The delegates from the diocese of Ontario are: The Dean of Ontario, Archdeacons Carey and Macmorine, Kingston; Canon Bogart and Rural Dean Beamish, Belleville; Rev. H. H. Bedford-Jones, Brockville. The laity will be represented by Edw. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., R. J. Carson, R. V. Rogers, J. R. Dargavel, M.P.P., Elgin; and W. B. Carroll, Gananoque.

LAKE ONTARIO PARK

THE LAST WEEK OF THE PRESENT SEASON.

Good Vaudeville Being Presented —Pavilion Crowded Last Evening—Another One Cent Day for the Children.

Notwithstanding counter attractions the pavilion at Lake Ontario Park retained its popularity last evening as the crowd was simply immense. The new company for the last week of the season is a good one. Fred. Elzor opened the programme with a fine parody on the newspaper press. His monologue work was good. His contortion work with Mrs. Elzor could not be excelled. Mrs. Elzor's work was watched with interest and wonder. The audience were delighted with their performance. Mr. and Mrs. Ollie C. Hall, colored comedians gave a good entertainment. Their delineation of "Old Black Joe," in character, was fine, and in response to an encore gave "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Owing to repeated recalls Mr. Hall sang "No One Like Mother," and "The Swanee River." Mr. Hall possesses a rich baritone voice. Miss Fayette's songs gave much pleasure and she was applauded. Miss Annie Norris presided at the piano and played the accompaniments with ability.

A display of fireworks afterwards took place under the careful management of William Shea. Dancing was then engaged in by a very large number of young people and continued till midnight. Fred. Bristow acted as prompter and introduced many new figures in his work, which took well. Saturday, this week, will be a one cent day for the children and a matinee performance will be given.

A YOUTH MURDERED.

He Was Shot By a Watertown, N.Y., Italian.

On Sunday morning Charles Babcock, formerly of Napanee, was shot and instantly killed in Watertown, N.Y. He was twenty years of age. Frank Fiori, aged twenty, an Italian, is accused of the deed. After the opera on Saturday night Babcock and a friend went to an Italian saloon on Arsenal street. The many persons there got quarrelling and betting. At midnight the saloon-keeper turned off the lights. Babcock and Fiori went out, still having words, and later clinched. Then a shot was heard and Babcock fell with a wound behind the ear. He was dead when picked up. Fiori was run down after some trouble. He denied the charges, but later confessed. Death was found to have resulted from gunshot wounds, one of which was at the base of the brain and the other following the ribs of the left side. A cap which Fiori wore, a light gray checkered one, was found near the scene of the murder. The clothes worn by Fiori are in the possession of the police.

Charles Babcock was the son of the late Walter Babcock and Mrs. Arthur Sarple of No. 62 Factory street, Watertown, N.Y. He was born and had lived in the city for the greater part of his life, but previous to six years ago had spent some time in Napanee, Ont. He is survived by his mother and one sister, Mabel Babcock, of Henderson.

Who'll Be Appointed?

For the position of medical health officer, now vacant, the most likely one is Dr. J. H. Bell. The city council will make the appointment, and the city council is tory, so that only doctors of that political party need apply. Dr. Ross is also mentioned in connection with the position. All those who are after the appointment are aldermen.
