AT THE COLLEGIATE

MANY IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE.

The Exterior Improved—Better Accommodation for More Pupils—The Anticipated Attendance.

Everything is settling down to regularity in the city schools. The rush and excitement of opening days have subsided and the scholars are fast getting in line for the work of the fall term.

At the Collegiate Institute things are in better shape than ever before. During the summer months the Junior Course went all over the building from top to bottom, oiling the floors, dusting the woodwork and hanging himself with the hundred and one things to be fixed up while the teachers and pupils were on their holidays. The result is in evidence and the school to-day presents a model of cleanliness and order.

So rapid has the increase in attendance at the high school been of late years that it was found necessary to make additions to the building during the summer. The east side of the building in the upper story was torn away and remodelled. To say the improvements have made the structure, as viewed from the car line by strangers in our city, more beautiful would be stating a bare truth. It was always considered by many citizens a mistake that such a magnificent public building should have its principal frontage on Earl street, instead of Alfred street, where the exterior decorations would show up to greater effect and be appreciated better. This point mentioned has been to some degree altered and made more presentable.

In the basement of the Collegiate is the mechanical workshop with its twenty-four benches and kits of tools, besides two lathes and a motor to run them. The main floor is given up to class rooms and offices exclusively. On the second floor more class rooms, cloak rooms and the book room. Here some changes have also been made of late. The east side of this portion of the building formerly consisted of the class rooms for practical physics and chemistry, but has been interestingly re-arranged. These have been reconstructed into ordinary class rooms, containing forty-two and thirty-eight desks respectively, the laboratory becoming an additional cloak room. The rooms thus unoccupied have been allotted to the upper story. Here, two large new rooms have been constructed during the past month, and will provide a new home for the sciences. The northern corner of the building has been partitioned off for the commercial classes with accommodation for some thirty pupils. The hall itself when not otherwise occupied, is taken up as a draughting room in connection with the technical course. The finish of the whole upper floor has been redecorated and varnished. In order to provide heating facilities for the new alterations, more registers have been installed. Three new mains have been laid and instead of return draughts as formerly used in the engine room, a direct one has been substituted.

From these few remarks it will be seen that the Collegiate is in a position to live up to its past record. Of the teaching staff little need be said. Principal Ellis needs no introduction to Kingstonians, and his worth has been amply shown during his long career. Under his supervision is a staff of masters of unquestioned ability.

Last year's attendance at the Collegiate was a little above the number of students at present enrolled, but many pupils have yet to enter, some twenty-five or thirty being expected in next week. This fall about one hundred and forty-five new pupils have registered, about the same record as last year. Just now in the neighborhood of thirty-eight scholars are studying at the Kingston Collegiate Institute, but when the full number arrive, probably four hundred and twenty-five will be the grand aggregate. The recent accommodations at the institute are just sufficient for the scholars attending, but do not allow for any increase in their numbers.

Two Classes Over Crowded.

So far, Inspector Kitch has found only two rooms in the public schools overcrowded. These are in Frontenac school, where for the past few years the attendance has not been as large as desired. Now there are a large number of pupils entering that school, and the trustees are well pleased. No doubt there will be overcrowding in other schools when the children have all got back to their books.

Lake Ontario Park.

The attendance at the pavilion at Lake Ontario Park last evening was very good. A fine programme was presented. To-morrow night will close the engagement of the present company and also the park. A matinee will be given to-morrow for the children. It will be one cent day on the cars. This will be the last opportunity this season, and those who desire an evening's amusement should take advantage of it.

W.C.T.U. ANNUAL MEETING.

The Business Considered and Officers Chosen.

The first meeting of the W.C.T.U. after the holiday season was held Thursday afternoon, in the Y.W.C.A. building. The attendance was fair. Mrs. MacCallum, president, occupied the chair and conducted the usual devotional exercises. The minutes of the June meeting were read by Mrs. H. Lyon, after which the reports of officers were read. The recording secretary gave a resume of the work done by the union during the year, which recalled many pleasing and some sad events that had taken place, but all tending to show that the union is not standing still, but that, by earnestness and united effort, some advance is being made along the line of Christian temperance work.

Mrs. Rogers, treasurer, reported the financial condition, and although the funds are low yet the union is not in debt, and has a trifle to its credit.

Several reports of departments were read. Mrs. R. E. Sparks gave a brief report on the work; Mrs. Wright on fruit and delicacies, and although the funds are low yet the union is not in debt, and has a trifle to its credit.

Grand Opera House

THE BOOKINGS ARE DECIDEDLY ATTRACTIVE.

"Girls Will Be Girls" Was Well Produced—Next Week Comes "The Wayward Son" and "The School Girl."

If the present type of theatrical attractions continue during the whole season, the local theatre-goers will be very happy. The plays offered so far have been of exceptional merit for so early a period in the season and at a "one night stand." The bookings of the next two weeks are decidedly attractive. The attendance at the Grand Opera House, in view of Ontario Park pavilion being still in operation, has been quite large.

The first of the "Girls Will Be Girls," a very attractive and entertaining musical piece of nonsense presented by Al. Leech, the well-known comedian, and a capable company. Mr. Leech, who in looks, is a second edition of "The Wayward Son," was suffering from a cold. His quips and drags were placed him in a class by himself as a comedian. His own composed song, "Go Woulnd't That Be Great," and his clever dancing won him vigorous applause. Frank Bonson, as Sheriff A. Brock, William Morrison, as all three Rosebuds, Lillian Manola, Mad Gray and Aileen Plaven gave good support. The chorus was exceptionally good and the settings were artistic. The stock fight in the second act was quite realistic.

"The Wayward Son"

What is heralded as the best comedy-drama of the year will be seen here when "The Wayward Son" makes its appearance at the Grand Opera House on Monday, Sept. 11th. The play abounds in dramatic climaxes, principle of which is a sensational railroad scene, differentiating entirely from any heretofore introduced on the stage.

"The School Girl"

One of the most pleasing attractions of the year at the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday, September 12th, will be the dainty London New York musical success "The School Girl," which comes heralded as a most pretentious scenic production and replete with a score of lyrical gems. It will be presented here just as it was for four hundred nights in London and one hundred and fifty nights in New York city, with the same brilliant production intact in every respect. The music is said to be the prettiest ever written by Leslie Stuart, the famous composer of "Florodora."

STRAIGHT PROMOTION.

Think Dr. C. K. Clark Will Get Toronto World.

Though there was no definite affirmation at the parliamentary hearings of the appointment of Dr. C. K. Clark, Kingston, to succeed Dr. Daniel Clark as superintendent at the insane asylum in this city, it was quietly intimated by those who know that there was little doubt that he will receive the appointment.

Dr. Clark is at present superintendent of the Rockwood Asylum at Kingston. He is a native of Elora, graduated M. B. in 1878, and M. D. in 1879. He was clinical assistant at the Toronto asylum in 1874, and was then appointed superintendent of the Hamilton Insane Asylum. From 1881 to 1882 he was assistant, and he was finally made superintendent of the Rockwood institution. He is professor of mental diseases at Queen's College and is acknowledged to be one of Canada's leading alienists.

WHAT IS TOLD.

J. Morgan Shaw is Slated for a Position.

It is understood here that Dr. Snider, of Waterford, is to be given an inspectorate in connection with the position of patients, and their friends, who are now being cared for at public expense in the asylums. It is proposed to make all patients or their friends contribute towards their maintenance in the institutions.

General Synod Attendance.

The Ontario delegation, six clergymen and six laymen, was the only complete large delegation in attendance at the Anglican General Synod, at the opening of the year. They were Dean Smith, Archdeacon Carey and Macormie, Canon Bogert, Revs. G. R. Beamish and H. B. Bedford Jones, Judge McDonald, Edw. J. B. Penn, R. V. Rogers, W. R. Carroll, J. R. Baragel, R. J. Carson. Two of the seven officers of the lower house were chosen from Ontario diocese. The attendance in that body upon the first day was 131.

A Batteryman Drowned.

Lawrence Batterton, Ottawa, a member of "A" battery at Petawawa training camp, was drowned on Wednesday while bathing in the Petawawa river. About a month ago he joined the battery from Ottawa and joined the unit. He was the second son of the late John Batterton, Ottawa and was survived by his mother and two brothers, John P. and D. Batterton, and three sisters, Misses Elizabeth, Mary C. and Veronica, was a member of St. Patrick's church, and formerly employed in the Mortimer company.

The offices in the city buildings will now be open Saturday afternoons, the vacation period having ended.

The "Girls Will Be Girls" company left this morning at one o'clock for Ottawa, where they will make a two night stand.

The civic finance committee has been called to meet this evening to take steps for the renewal of insurance on city property.

A man like J. M. Shaw, who has made his sacrifices for his party, is well entitled to the best consideration that party can give.

Police Constable Arnel will catch for the Orientals in their game with the Bloomer Girls at Lake Ontario Park next Wednesday.

Henry Cunningham, piano tuner from Chickerings, Orders received at McAuley's book store, Princess street.

St. Mary's cathedral organ was to have been opened this evening, but the tuning is not yet completed, and another opening date will be set.

To-day the Roman Catholic church celebrates the festival of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary. It will be observed on Sunday next with solemn ceremonies.

James Britton, William Dyson, and William Henderson, convicted of highway robbery at Toronto have been sent to the penitentiary for four years each. All have had records, Henderson is an ex-convict.

In a letter to Mayor Keary, New Westminster, B.C., Lord Roberts announces that he kindly accepts the dedication of Prof. Trendell's (Vanover) march, "Commandant's," that the Irish Guards band will play at the Dominion exhibition.

The probable appointment of Dr. C. K. Clark to the superintendency of Toronto Asylum is approved by the press. The Toronto News says "it was a public duty to fill an important post like this with a thoroughly qualified man, and this apparently was the aim of the government."

THEY OVERDID GENEROSITY.

A Scene in the Police Court This Morning.

This morning's session of the police court passed off in quick order. Three offenders stood in the dock with bowed heads.

"James Humpson, you are charged with being drunk, you have been given every chance; more than any one else, almost, has received."

"I have a job to go to," came the answer in a hoarse voice.

"Three months," responded the magistrate in quiet tones.

"William Thompson, the same applies to you. Ten dollars and costs or one month."

"Will you give me time to pay," pleaded the prisoner.

"Sit down," broke forth Sergt. Nesbitt.

"David Sullivan, your case is just about the same. Five dollars and costs or one month."

"Can I get the money? Can I get the money?" kept questioning the offender as he left the court room.

It was one—two, three; forward, march, and the trio returned whence they came.

LOST ON SUPERIOR

A KINGSTON MAN AMONG THE DROWNED.

Iosco Carried a Crew of Nineteen Men and the Olive Jeanette Seven—The Crafts Carried Iron Ore.

George Choua, a son of Mrs. William Chown of Kingston, was drowned on Lake Superior, on Sunday last, during a terrible gale. He was second engineer on the steamer Iosco. He was married to an Amherst Island lady, Frank J. Griffin, son of Capt. William Griffin, and Matthew Cummings, Oswego men, were also drowned.

The Iosco and Jeanette, laden with iron ore, left Duluth, Thursday, bound for Lake Erie. They were caught by the storm when half way down Lake Superior and must have been driven back with the hope of finding shelter among the islands east of the western Peninsula. Both boats were apparently overcome by the gale long before they reached Huron Island. From the fact that the schooner succeeded in getting within four miles of the island without the steamer being in sight, it is believed that the Iosco foundered much earlier in the day.

Not a single man escaped to tell the story of the experience of the crews of the two boats and twenty-six names have been added to the death list caused by the gale.

Both boats were owned by W. A. Hawgood & Co., of Cleveland. The Iosco was insured for $40,000 and the Jeanette for $20,000, through Smith, Davis & Co., of Buffalo. The steamer was built in 1891 and the schooner in 1890, both by F. W. Wheeler, of Bay City, Mich.

The Olive Jeanette has been fatal to the steamers which have towed her. Some five years ago the steamer L. R. Doty started out from Chicago with her in tow, bound for Buffalo. The two boats were struck by a furious gale and separated. The schooner lived through the storm, but the Doty was never after heard of. There was never even any wreckage found. The schooner was then given to the Iosco to tow, and now apparently the Iosco has gone the same way.

A Monstrosity.

At odd times suggestions have been made in the direction of utilization of the idle Martello towers in Kingston, but the delegates to General Synod at Quebec, will carry home as probably the deepest critical impression of Quebec the object presented by a former military tower on the historic Plains of Abraham. It is surmounted by ugly scaffolding supporting huge water-tank, a veritable mingling of the sublime and picturesque with the ugly and ridiculous.

From the fact that the schooner succeeded in getting within four miles of the island without the steamer being in sight, it is believed that the Iosco foundered much earlier in the day.

Not a single man escaped to tell the story of the experience of the crews of the two boats and twenty-six names have been added to the death list caused by the gale.

Both boats were owned by W. A. Hawgood & Co., of Cleveland. The Iosco was insured for $40,000 and the Jeanette for $20,000, through Smith, Davis & Co., of Buffalo. The steamer was built in 1891 and the schooner in 1890, both by F. W. Wheeler, of Bay City, Mich.

The Olive Jeanette has been fatal to the steamers which have towed her. Some five years ago the steamer L. R. Doty started out from Chicago with her in tow, bound for Buffalo. The two boats were struck by a furious gale and separated. The schooner lived through the storm, but the Doty was never after heard of. There was never even any wreckage found. The schooner was then given to the Iosco to tow, and now apparently the Iosco has gone the same way.

A Monstrosity.

At odd times suggestions have been made in the direction of utilization of the idle Martello towers in Kingston, but the delegates to General Synod at Quebec, will carry home as probably the deepest critical impression of Quebec the object presented by a former military tower on the historic Plains of Abraham. It is surmounted by ugly scaffolding supporting huge water-tank, a veritable mingling of the sublime and picturesque with the ugly and ridiculous.
