

WOMEN AVOIDED

from Women Who Avoided... Many Women Suffering... Will Be Interested.

Miss Margaret Menley of 275 St. Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham—'Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvis, organs, cramps, bearing down pains, and an irritable disposition compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had ovarian trouble and suggested, and advised, an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected, and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. To my surprise, the operation he had recommended disappeared and I am now more robust, vigorous and well; and I can not express my thanks for what it has done for me.'

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhoea, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A PESTIFEROUS GERM. Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not checked, the hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it; but Dr. Newb's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

TO BE MARRIED. Bride and Groom Are of Mature Age.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 15.—Ninety years old, six times married and the father of forty-four children, with grandchildren galore, Jacob Kinney, takes a seventh wife. The woman of his choice is Ann Green, a widow, who admits having passed the sixtieth mile post.

Mr. Kinney says that he feels the need of a companion, although he is able to get about as well as he did twenty years ago, and is able to do considerable work around his farm. The wedding will take place this afternoon, but there will be no bridal trip.

A FULL CONFESSION STATE SENATORS ARE IN A BOODLING COMBINE.

Story of Former Senator Harry Bunkers—Building & Loan Associations Were to Be Held Up—Had Money Dropped in His Pocket. Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 15.—Brought from his prison cell to confront his alleged associate in the boodling combine of last winter, Harry Bunkers, former state senator from San Francisco, made a complete confession on the witness-stand in Judge Hart's court-room, where the trial of E. J. Kimmons, one of the four state senators indicted by the grand jury, was in progress. Bunkers detailed plan of campaign, which he says, was one whereby the building and loan associations of the state were to be "held up" and compelled to pay for protection. He also told of receiving money, stating that Joseph Jordan had dropped a roll of $350 in his pocket as he stood in the street, and said that Kimmons had received his share but two minutes before. Lastly, he told of the terror and fright that followed the exposure in the senate, the last conference held in Kimmons' room over the disposal of the marked bills, and of the suggestions that were made to clear themselves of guilt.

RULES FOR JAP BRIDES. They Are Taught to Make Homes Happy.

That the movement to free women from the bonds of overbearing man receives but little encouragement in the sunny land of Japan is evident from the commitments given to Japanese wives on their wedding morning by their mothers. The behests are known as the "Twelve Commandments of the Bride" and read as follows: (1) The moment you are married, you are no longer my daughter. Therefore, you must obey your parents-in-law as you once obeyed your father and mother. (2) When you are married your husband will be your sole master. Be humble and polite. Strict obedience to her husband is the noblest virtue a wife can possess. (3) Always be amiable towards your mother-in-law. (4) Do not be jealous; jealousy kills your husband's affection for you. (5) Even though your husband be wrong, do not get angry; be patient, and when he has calmed down, then speak to him gently. (6) Do not talk too much; speak no evil of your neighbors; never tell lies. (7) Rise early, retire late, and do not sleep in the afternoon. Drink little wine, and until you are fifty take no part in public assemblies nor mingling with the crowd. (8) Consult no fortune-teller. (9) Be a good manager, and especially be economical in your household. (10) Although you may marry young, do not frequent too youthful society. (11) Do not wear bright colored garments. Always be neatly but modestly dressed. (12) Do not pride yourself on your father's rank or fortune. If he is a rich man, never allude to his riches before your husband's relations.

Preserving.

An old negro lady who had learned the art of canning in the southland, and whose fruit always kept so nicely, gives this advice: "Buy a roll of the very best cotton batting, cut rounds the size of the jar, and lay them on the fruit cans, place one on top of fruit as soon as can is filled and seal immediately." After trying the plan for five years, L. R. tells me the negro lady's advice has proved to be excellent; the cotton keeps the air out and should any mold form it would adhere to the cotton and be removed with it and not spread into the fruit. Instead of labelling your fruit jars, save the paper bags which come with groceries, and place each jar in a bag, writing the kind of fruit in contains on the bag. This plainly labels it, and your jar is clean and free from the dust of the cellar.

Lifetime of Duelling.

Lieut. Huet, the author of the scandalous book "Sabres of Wood and Guns of Straw," which has drawn on him the anger of his former regiment, was challenged to another duel recently. He is just recovering from a wound received in a duel last week as the result of the publication of his book. His new challenger is Gen. Savagier who until a few days ago was colonel of the Limoges regiment. Huet has received seven challenges since his book was published and several other offers have signified their intention of fighting. The wife of one officer has taken legal action against the lieutenant.

The Preserving Kettle.

Peel the pears, and if they are large cut each one into four pieces and take out the cores. Put a pound of fruit weigh a pound of sugar. Dissolve the sugar with just enough water to wet it; add a quarter of an ounce of gelatine dissolved in warm water, and a spoonful of sugar. When the sugar is dissolved, make the syrup and cook the fruit until it is clear.

POPULAR HYMNS. Their Authors and Their Histories.

The author of the inspiring hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," Salomon Barings-Gould (Exeter, England, 1833), an English clergyman, novelist, antiquarian and the writer of a number of well-known hymns, was a Cambridge man, graduating from Clare College in 1856. Besides his works on medieval lore his name is familiar to the English people as the author of "Richard Cable," "John Herring" and other novels. In comparatively short time since this hymn was written, in 1865, it has become world famous, and ranks in frequency of use, with the greatest. It is one of the few martial songs suitable to church worship, and all English soldiers often sing it on the march, whole regiments marching to the strains, and in no small degree to the ringing tune which Sir Arthur Sullivan composed for it in 1872. Our Master.

John Greenleaf Whittier (Haverhill, Mass., 1807-1892), Quaker poet, anti-slavery editor and agitator, had catholicity of spirit, seen in the hymns that the churches have adopted from his poems. Perhaps their growing popularity is indicative of a spread in the churches of the spirit which he earnestly advocated. The poem from which this hymn is taken was first published in 1856. To-day it is one of the best loved and most representative hymns of the newer type. We may not climb the heavenly steeps, To bring the Lowly Christ down; In vain we search the lowest depths, For him no depths can drown. A present help is he; And faith has still its Olivet, And love his Galilee. The healing of the seaman's dress Is by the water's tender care; We touch him in his wrong and press, And love him while we pray.

The Ninety and Nine.

While the authorship of this popular hymn has been generally attributed to Elizabeth C. Clephane, of Boston, it has always been associated with Ira D. Sankey, the singing companion of Dwight L. Moody. The poem was unknown until Mr. Sankey, looking for something that would touch the shepherds of the church, discovered it in the corner of an obscure paper. He extemporized the melody to which he rendered it. The words and the air immediately sprang into great popularity, and were called for at all the meetings. Along with other simple songs it started a wave of religious melody which swept around the world, so that these hymns were being whistled and sung and played by rich and poor, on street, in the church, and home. The series of song books in which these first appeared has gone into many millions of copies. There were ninety and nine that safety lay In the shelter of the fold that safety lay, But one was out on a hills away. Far off from the gates of gold; Away on the mountains cold and bare, From the shepherd's tender care, Lord, thou hast here thy ninety and nine, Are they not enough for thee? But the shepherd answered: "One of mine I go to the desert to find my sheep, And he that is lost, I'll never leave him. How deep were the waters crossed, Nor how dark the night which the Lord went thro'! Ere he found the sheep that was lost, 'Twas sick and helpless, and ready to die, But all thro' the mountains, thunder given. And up from the rocky steep, 'Rejoice, I have found my sheep!' And the angels echoed around the throne, 'Rejoice the Lord brings back his own!'

HIS THIRD PROMOTION.

A Queen's Graduate is Climbing Upwards. Perth Courier. Howard H. Scott, son of Rev. A. H.
