A Baker's Triumph

The Mooney Baker cannot produce anything better than

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas

The very best of flour, butter and cream—the most modern plant, the very best baker in Canada. A biscuit superior to any other you have ever tasted. Say "Mooney's" to your grocer.

Boys don't like to wear their father's shrunken underwear—they don't have to if they wear Cetee, for he'll wear it out himself.

Just as economical to buy Cetee full-featured one-piece suits for them, also, and much more comfortable—no coarse seams to chafe the body.

Made of the finest wool, rendered unshrinkable by a secret process which does not impair wearing quality.

CRAZED SEAMEN

END LIVES BY DIVE INTO OCEAN DEPTHS.

Craft Shattered By Storm—Crew Clings to Days to Floating Hulk—Only Two Survive Ordeal.

Boston, Oct. 17.—The tale of a shipwreck in which eight seamen suffered so fearfully from exposure, hunger and thirst that one of them either died outright, or washed away, or crazed by their experience, hurled themselves into the sea, was brought out by the two survivors of the crew of the coasting schooner Van Name & King, of New Haven, which was last seen to pieces by a gale of South Carolina coast on October 6th.

The two men who were rescued by the schooner Stillman F. Kelly, which arrived here yesterday, are William Thomas and William G. Warner. The six who one by one succumbed were Capt. William A. Maxwell, Mate E. A. Chase, the engineer, a colored steward and two colored seamen, William Grizzell and Arthur Grizzell.

The Van Name & King, which has been sailing along the coast since 1886, left Charlestown, S.C., for New York on October 3rd, with a cargo of heavy goods. Two days later she ran into a heavy gale and was wrecked in the great sea for several hours sprang a leak. The pumps were started, but within a short time the engine room was flooded and the pumps choked.

On Friday, October 6th, with her hold nearly full of water, the little schooner was hove down on her beam ends. The crew clambered up on the weather side and lashed themselves to the bulwarks. There they remained, soaked by every sea that broke over them, all day, constantly on the watch for some passing vessel.

That night the storm increased in fury. Both of the men were picked aboard, breaking both legs of Seaman Arthur and sweeping Grizzell into the sea.

Arthur's companions could do nothing to ease his sufferings, but when, on Saturday, the schooner was completely over, they managed to cut his lashings and drag him on to a piece of the afterhouse.

It was several hours before they could be brought together on their little raft. That night Arthur died in the arms of Capt. Maxwell, and he relieved the overloaded raft his body was dropped overboard.

Sunday brought a ray of hope when a craft was sighted, but she passed by without heeding the little group of frantic seamen.

That night, however, the waves subsided, and a little rain fell, which was greatly welcomed by the men and brought a slight relief. It was only temporary, and not long after Mate Chase's mind gave way, and the craft was again lightened when he threw himself into the sea.

The next victim of the strain was Capt. Maxwell, who, on Monday forenoon became violently insane and followed his mate's example of self-destruction as a relief to his sufferings.

The death of the captain was a relief to the men, but they were still in a perilous position, and they threw themselves into the sea, and were picked up by the German engineer, and a few hours after Capt. Maxwell's death the raft was lightened for the fourth time when the crazed seaman jumped into the waves.

The last victim was the colored steward, who expired on the raft late Monday night and whose body was dropped overboard by the two remaining seamen.

Relief came twelve hours later when the Stillman F. Kelly, bound up the coast from Ceylon, Ga., to this port, sighted the little raft and hove to alongside. Both of the men were taken to be taken off in slings and for two days were unable to move.

CHIMNEY ISLE SOLD.

Famous Spot Will Be Used by Sportsman.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Oct. 17.—Chimney Island, a historic spot in the St. Lawrence three miles below this city, has been sold for shooting purposes. Patriotic organizations, both here and in Canada have been discussing plans for raising funds for its purchase, but John A. Mallory of Mallorytown, who for some time past has been the owner of the island, sold it Saturday to an American syndicate to be used as a hunting and camping ground.

The syndicate has also purchased the shoals in the vicinity of the island to be used for the same purpose. The organization consists of F. J. Bourne, commodore of the New York Yacht Club, W. Williams of the Chippewa Bay Yacht Club, and Charles M. Inglis, also of Chippewa. The topographical features of the island will not be changed.

DOES BASEBALL PAY?

Mack's Athletics Inclined to Think It Does.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—As a reward for winning the American League pennant in baseball, the eighteen players of the Philadelphia club were presented by President Shibe of that club with $8,131.49 to be divided equally among the men. This is the amount of the Philadelphia club's portion of the receipts for the first four games of the world's championship series with the New York National League team.

The Philadelphia players also received $7,848.46 as their portion of the receipts of the world's series allotted to them by the National commission.

Stork's Crew Rewarded.

London, Oct. 17.—The underwriters at Lloyd's have presented to the officers and men of the steamer Stork sums varying from fifty to five pounds.

The Stork had a perilous trip from the Hudson Bay having been forced to take shelter on an island, where the crew lived on rabbits and wild animals for ten months. The vessel arrived in London a few weeks ago.

The steamer Simla arrived at Richmond wharf to-day from Fort William with wheat.

WORLD'S RICHEST BABY.

Daughter of Mrs. Spender-Clay Will Get $110,000,000.

London, Oct. 17.—The richest baby in the world—a whispert million and attendants last Wednesday when a daughter was born to Mrs. Herbert Henry Spender-Clay.

It's the truth, for this mite of humanity is the grand-daughter of William Waldorf Astor, who will inherit one of these days with a fortune of at least $100,000,000, while perhaps one-tenth that much more will descend upon her from the father's side.

Baby Clay will grow up with only a traditional recollection that she has American blood in her veins. Her mother, who was Miss Pauline Astor, was born at East Thirty-third street in New York, but she was only a miss in short skirts when her father decided he liked England better than his native country.

Since her tenth year Mrs. Spender-Clay has paid only two brief visits to America. Nevertheless up to the time she married an Englishman she used to say, in spite of her father's renunciation of his American citizenship that she preferred to be known as an American.

The marriage of Miss Astor to Captain H. H. Spender-Clay took place October 29th, of last year.

HAD OBJECT IN LIFE.

Arrested for Decoying and Robbing Germans.

Paris, Oct. 16.—In Paris the police have discovered a woman whose peculiar sort of patriotism has been compared to Boule de Suif in Guy de Maupassant's story. She was arrested recently for having robbed a German merchant of $338. To the magistrate she made a strange declaration. She said that her main object in life was to decoy Germans and rob them. She went about with them to cafes and music halls and while affecting to be very interested in them she picked their pockets. In this way she had annexed for several years past over $3,500. She had picked the pockets of exactly sixty-seven Germans and she was proud of it. As her reason for thus acting, the woman said that in 1870 her family in Normandy had been completely ruined by the German invaders, who stole her father's cattle, pigs, fowls and even plate. She was then obliged to go out as a day maid, but not being accustomed to service she came to Paris and began waylaying and robbing Germans. The magistrate listened to this tale calmly. It evidently made no impression on him for he sent the new Boule de Suif to the depot, there to await trial.

EX-CHAMPION IN HARD LUCK.

Matty Matthews Who Made $100,000.

"Matty" Matthews, of New York, former waterweight champion of the world is "dead broke." The $100,000 he earned during his ring career has been eaten up by fast living and rowdy habits.

"Matty" is earning $15 a week riding one of the plugging hounds at the Hippodrome. Matthews was married to Thompson and Dundas lately. In his boyhood days he had won some slight fame as a jockey and he said he felt he had the courage and ability to take the dive into the big blue dome tank. He was given a position and at to-day's performance went through his work without a hitch.

Matthews lost the championship to "Bully" Ferns, in Toronto three years ago, after losing and winning from him in Detroit, and since that time has been on the down path. He won the championship from "Mysterious Billy" Smith, at the Broadway Athletic Club, April 27th, 1900. His share of the proceeds was $5,000, and as a result of the rash way in which he distributed his money, he tells that the following day he placed $2,500 on a horse and lost it.

SCOTLAND'S WHISKEY.

121,778,039 Gallons in Stock—Consumption Decreasing.

London, Oct. 17.—Since 1898-99 the output of whiskey in Scotland has been reduced by 10,500,000 gallons. The figures for this year show a reduction of nearly 2,000,000 gallons, while 282,988 gallons have been added to the stock on hand, bringing the latter to the enormous total of 121,778,039 gallons.

This condition to the stock on hand is not due to overproduction, but to a decrease in consumption. The opinion is general in trade circles that unless the consumption takes an upward turn soon the production of both malt and grain whiskey must be greatly restricted.

The reduction in consumption is almost entirely confined to the lowest grades of whiskey. On the other hand, there is an increase in the consumption of the higher grade in bottles, which will continue to increase.

The standardization of whiskey sooner or later will be enforced. This may be expected to cause some outcry, but the trade in the end will benefit by it.

Tommy's Letter.

Philadelphia Inquirer.

Tommy Mulligan, of the seventh grade, was absent from the classroom for one entire day. It would appear that he had played truant, for, unknown to Tommy, his teacher had spied him trudging homeward with his pockets bulging suspiciously when she, too, was homeward bound that afternoon.

But Tommy brought a note of excuse the next morning, which, of course, would prove that he had been detained at home legitimately. The writing was hardly that of a feminine hand, and the note appeared to have been written laboriously and with much blotting; furthermore, the penmanship appeared to be strangely familiar to his teacher. The note read:

"Dear teacher—Please excuse Tomy for not coming to school yesterday, he had not come. I stole my pants.—Mrs. Mulligan."

CHANGING SENTIMENT.

Oliver Coldsmith's "Deserted Village."

Coldsmith, in his "Deserted Village," spoke of a certain chapel where those who "went to scoff, remained to pray." So in life one often laughs at what he does not understand and later, when he does understand, his laugh turns to praise. There were some who doubted the merits of Nesbitt's "Herpicide," the scalp germicide and hair-dressing, but since they have tried it, they are now among his best friends and strongest endorsers. Herpicide kills the germ that eats the hair off at the root, and the hair then grows again. As a hair dressing it is incomparable. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

TO POLE ON AN AIRSHIP.

Announced Intention of An English Aeronaut.

London, Oct. 17.—Edgar Wilson, of Pimlico, declares that he may make a voyage to the north pole in an air ship which he is building. The new flying machine, when completed, will be similar to that described in Jules Verne's "Clippers of the Clouds." It will be the first full-sized "true airship" ever built, being 100 feet long and fourteen feet wide. Already tests have been carried out with motors, and Mr. Wilson anticipates being able to propel the machine at a speed approaching fifty miles an hour.

Judge Stops Court.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 17.—"Stop the trial," said Justice Constock, excitedly. "The expert of tobacco, and said he had a chew. Will some one please produce a plug?" Patrick McLean and Paul Dusing, the defendants, delivering beer in Evanston. Herpicide produced." They were charged with delivering beer in Evanston. Justice Constock took a small "hunk" from each plug and contentedly leaped back in his chair while the court went on. McLean and Dusing were discharged. The justice is a retired sea captain and long ago acquired the "chewing habit."

Professor Arrested.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 17.—Prof. Robert L. Greene, of the department of pharmacy of Notre Dame University, was arrested here by United States Marshal Pettit, charged with violating the postal laws. The charge is that he sent a postal card to the governor of Vermont at the time a movement was launched to save from the gallows Mrs. Rogers, convicted of the murder. Across the corner of the card was written, "Professional consultant a butcher," which constituted a violation of the postal laws.
