STONE IN HER KEEL

SERVED AS PLUG TO KEEP HER FROM SINKING.

Freighter Brazil in Dry Dock at South Chicago, Getting a Fourteen Hundred Pound Stone Scrapped Off Her Bottom.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The big freighter Brazil is at the shipyard's drydock in South Chicago with a huge stone weighing fully 1,400 pounds held securely between the plates in the centre of the boat near the keel. The stone was placed up by the steamer some-where between Duluth and South Chicago, and Capt. Ribbeck is unable to explain how the stone came in contact with his boat.

The big stone after tearing away a number of plates and cutting a big hole in the side of the Brazil, served as a plug to prevent the boat from leaking.

She arrived in South Chicago in good time and the captain states that he experienced no great difficulty in making the trip. The steamer is now undergoing a thorough inspection and it will require several weeks to make the necessary repairs.

MARKS OF LINERS.

Various Ways of Identifying Passing Vessels. Those who go down to the sea in ships will have little trouble in recognizing the passing liners if they will bear in mind that the funnel by day and a light by night is an almost certain indication of the line to which the vessel belongs.

A red funnel with a black top shows that the boat belongs to the Cunard fleet, while a buff funnel is the sign of a Hamburg-American boat unless it has a black top, which would prove it to belong to the White Star Line.

The North German Lloyd has cream-colored funnels, while the Holland-America adds to the cream a white band with green borders.

The American liners have black funnels with white bands. An all black funnel would show the boat to be one of the Anchor fleet, while the Bristol line has the white band of the American broken by a blue star. The Red Star has a black funnel with a white band and a red top, and the Scandinavian-American is black and red banded, while the Wilson line carries red stacks with black tops. The French line and the Atlantic Transport service have the same style as the Wilson line.

The North German-Lloyd burns two lights, starting blue and changing to red, while the Holland-America shows green lights forward and aft and a white light in the centre.

Restored Cathedral. There was a great gathering of clergy and laity at the formal opening service and benediction of the restored nave of the cathedral at St. John's, Newfoundland, the loss of which by fire in 1892 was lamented throughout the Anglican communion.

The service was in ancient form, full of ceremony and interest. The sermon was eloquent, from Rt. Rev. Dr. Courtney, late Bishop of Nova Scotia. In the evening the Bishop of Newfoundland (Llewellyn Jones) preached. The offerings of the day were $1,001.

"IS DR. CHASE YOUR DOCTOR?"

Have You Learned to Cure Biliousness, Indigestion and Constipation With DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS?

A medicine, like a physician, is selected because of the actual results it is known to bring about. Most people are slow in choosing either physician or medicine until they know of cases in which they have proven successful.

In calling your attention to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills it is only necessary to point to their success in the past, for they are known in nearly every home.

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthy flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

This cleansing process set in action by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills means a thorough cure of biliousness, indigestion, torpid liver, kidney derangements and constipation. It means a restoration of health, strength and comfort where there has been pain, weakness and suffering. It means a removal of the conditions which lead to backache, rheumatism, humpback, Bright's disease, appendicitis and diabetes.

Samuel Calver, foreman G.T. R. freight sheds, Brockville, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with the greatest success and can say for a certainty that they cured me of kidney trouble. I was all used up, had a bad back and was not able to work for some time. I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and they soon made me well again. I believe that if it had not been for this treatment I would not be at work to-day."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 2x a box, at all dealers. See Edman's book store, Princess street. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

THE NELSON CENTENARY

Think of Him as Brave Fighter.

On Saturday, October 21st, spirits will rise, because the hundredth anniversary of Admiral Horatio Nelson's death will recall Britain's triumph and glory. His untimely death should be mourned and he should be solemnly speaking loving remembrances, but in victory the hero's individuality is lost in his grand collective achievement.

We can think of Nelson only as the brave fighter of immortal fame. "This island loves thee well, thou famous man, the greatest sailor since the world began."

His simple but immortal signal, to the ships flying into battle, will ever be the most moving incentive to fight and die for country and for home. A century passed before the world, strangely, too, in a far distant sea, witnessed a naval combat which approached in gravity and importance that of Trafalgar. And when Admiral Togo met the armada which held the last hope of Russia he could find nothing more inspiring for his well-trained crews than a variant of the signal hoisted by Nelson.

Britain will honor the day with services, especially in St. Paul's Cathedral, and with national and municipal honors. The recent exchange of visits and friendship between the two navies will clear the air of any misunderstanding in our empire and an understanding appreciation in France. The centenary year was beautifully crowned with magnanimity and insensibility. Canada, too, can be proud and grateful of the progress of mother country on the seas in many climes, and of her great sailors' faith, courage and devotion; grateful for the success of the powerful arm whose mitered flag protects to the furthestmost bounds of empire and proclaims the safety of the ships which issue from dominion ports on two great oceans.

AN IRISH PEN-PICTURE.

Beauty of the Blackwater Landscape. The new land act, writes Frances Campbell in the Westminster Gazette, is working well in this part of Ireland, between Waterford and Cork, recently visited by me. Farms that once brought a rent of 300 can now had for $300, which means that the farmer has more to spend on education, on placing his sons and daughters, and keeping the home. That is the main thing, Ireland may now keep her population, the boys and girls, and the young boys, and pretty, pensive-eyed girls. There will be work for them at home.

Land is now being laid open by the plough that has not been turned since the days of Henry VIII, since the monks tilled it in their frocks and cowls—rich abbeys, long fallow, practically virgin soil. And there are a host of minor industries. Handloom weaving has spread southward and west; there is much carving of old art carved; much making of fine linen, carpets, fringes, tweeds, linens, lawns, pottery, brasswork of extraordinary artistry. In the opinion of the authority it is the manufacturing particularly the mills—that will make the country prosperous.

I had pictured the country as desolate and poverty-stricken; but there is no poverty, no want visible anywhere. The fields are covered with the healing grain, heavy toward the harvest; with orderly array of windmills drying on the sunny slopes and on the meadow lands along the arroyo Blackwater. Long lines of potatoes, beginning to yellow; orchards bending groundward with their fragrant load; costly houses, crowded barns; an industrious people working on the land, a prosperous people waiting here and there for the trains in the narrow little stations. There are no loose ends, so to speak—no untidy corners in the prospect.

And the beauty of the landscape! The low Irish hills, warmly crimson, with the heather and a curiously vivid heath that is blood-red or absolute violet; great masses of heavy timber.

Fashion Fads. The newest barrettes for the hair are of ebony and gold.

A luxury for the moneyed woman is an evening wrap of ermine elaborately trimmed with Irish lace and having a unique to match.

Unique and beautiful is a brooch in enamel that is in the design of an orchid in pale purple tints.

Winter coats for small folk are shown in scarlet cloth with cuffs and collars of hunters' green velvet.

A dragonfly brooch has the wings of diamonds, the head of a single ruby and the slender body of small emeralds.

The new mayonnaise dish is in the form of a tomato—a very red china tomato that opens at the top or half stem proving to be a cover.

Dog collars in strings of pink coral or turquoise beads, are delightfully pretty and are held together by gold bars set with brilliant.

If you can acquire a good-sized miniature and perch it on your between-season chapeau you will be "right in style."

BUSY LITTLE BURG

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING.

Dominion Bank Will Open Branch—Tennis Between Newburgh and Deseronto—Organ Keys Sticking—Going to African Mission Work.

Newburgh, Oct. 17.—The annual meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. Rev. Mr. Wilson, Northburg, gave an interesting address on the year's work. The attendance was very small. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. J. E. Sears; secretary, T. A. Dunlop; treasurer, J. W. Courtney; deponent, Rev. J. H. Hunt; collectors, Messrs. Courtney and Dunwoody.

The Napanee C. I. Juniors will battle on the gridiron here on Wednesday evening with the stalwart youths of the N. H. S. M. Ryan will move his tea house this week. Henry Paul has moved into John Patterson's stone house. It is now a certainty that the Dominion Bank will open a branch in Newburgh and the new branch will be in M. Ryan's new store. Some parties tied a rope across the sidewalk near the site of Ryan's tea house. Fortunately the trick was discovered before any one was hurt. The authorities are on the watch for the guilty parties. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Switzerville, and Mrs. Myrtle Husband, Sydenham, spent Sunday with Mrs. Husband, Mrs. A. B. Aylesworth, Toronto, and Miss Emma Paughan, Jersey City, spent a week last week at J. H. Aylesworth's. Mrs. Browne of Belleville, is visiting at Walter Briscoe's. Husking bees are the order. Mrs. George Madden is quite low.

In Saturday afternoon a tennis match was played between representatives of Newburgh and Deseronto. In the singles, W. B. Dunn, Newburgh, was beaten by G. E. Deroche, Deseronto. In the doubles, Messrs. Millar and Ryan took the visitors, Messrs. White and Montgomery, into camp. Mr. Pasmore, Deseronto, was an efficient umpire. The locals play in Deseronto next Saturday. Kenneth Richards, Deseronto, was in town on Saturday. The Bay of Quinte railway has put a time board at the station. Miss Conway entertained her girl friends on Friday evening. A very pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. J. J. Shorey is on the sick list. Mrs. Hope has returned home after an extended visit to her mother, Mrs. (Rev.) Swaine, Oxford Mills. Sidney Llewellyn left on Wednesday, for Breckville, where he has secured a situation.

Steps are being taken to organize a dancing class for the winter. A Deseronto football team will likely play the high school juniors here, this evening. Wesley Shorts took in the excursion to New York. Rev. W. H. Emsley, Napanee, preached the annual missionary sermon in the Methodist church, on Sunday evening, and delivered his homily with a powerful discourse. Several keys of the organ struck when the choir were halting through the first anthem, and to save the situation the organist ceased playing and the anthem was finished unaccompanied. During the offertory, however, the choir redeemed themselves singing "Look Unto Me," with fine effect.

The organ keys sticking is getting to be too common an occurrence. Every time it rains or when there is a dampness to the organ, the organ cannot be used. If the Ladies' Aid would take the matter in hand, they could very easily secure funds to move the organ out from the wall, which is no doubt the cause of the trouble. It is too valuable an organ to lose in this way. Oran Scouten, a former member of Newburgh League, who sails November 1st, to engage in mission work in Africa, took the topic at the Epworth League last night. Miss Baker, Selkirk, is visiting Mrs. room man's, Mrs. Vannal-tine, Palace room on Friday with her sister, Mrs. Farley. W. W. Adams has secured a new tailor from Russell, Ont.

Tracked By A Pig. Edinburgh Scotsman. A certain inspector of Scotland Yard, who is a Kerry man, did a little detective work before he came to London. The story goes that one day at Milltown fair, he bought a pig for 30s., paid for it, and departed to put his purchase into a yard for safe-keeping.

Later in the day, having occasion to make further purchases, he discovered, to his horror, that he had paid to the seller of the pig a £5 note, instead of a £1 note, as he supposed. He looked for his man in vain; the man had gone from the fair, leaving no clue to his whereabouts.

But a lucky thought coming to the future detective, he liberated the pig from its confinement, concluding that the "bonnaven" would be likely to make for home. The piece was slow, but with the aid of a fox-hunter the inspector followed the pig for about nine miles, until it walked into its former domicile. The situation being explained, he recovered his £1 note.

A Shocking Confession. Lippincott's Magazine. Benedict is a New Haven man who has been eight times the father of a bouncing boulder. In the outskirts of the university city, is a little town named the hills named Prospect, and last year four of the children were sent there for the summer.

One day Benedict and his wife entertained at dinner a new acquaintance Professor B. The professor is a bachelor, like many scholarly men, rather ill at ease in society.

"What a fine little family of children you have," he began with an admiring glance, at the four stay-at-home.

"Yes, indeed," replied Benedict proudly, "and we have four more in Prospect."

The professor blushed in astonishment.

MISTAKES IN PICTURES.

Ludicrous Blunders Made by Artists Which Pass Muster.

Chicago News. A well-meaning artist of the eighteenth century painted a picture in which Abraham was depicted as about to sacrifice Isaac while Isaac blundered. The actual event which the artist had striven to depict antedated the use of firearms by about 3,000 years. There are also pictures of the Israelites crossing the Red Sea, the men armed with muskets and other weapons of modern manufacture. In the matter of costume the early painters found a stumbling block. In the Edinburgh National Gallery is a picture in which Pharaoh's daughter and her ladies are arrayed in long waisted bodices and hoop-skirts common to Europe in the sixteenth century.

In another picture of the same date, representing "Joseph and His Kindred in Egypt," which is hung in the national collection in London, there is no trace of the distinctive features of Egyptian architecture about the buildings; they are all Italian in type. In the same gallery, "The Family of Darius at the Feet of Alexander After the Battle of Issus," the women wear pointed waists and enormously extended skirts, although the incident occurred in the year 339 B.C. The artist was a Venetian and he drew the Venetian costumes of his own period, 1528.

Raphael, like so many others, drew his Madonnas, his saints and his martyrs from Italian models and clothed them in contemporary Italian costume, giving the figures as a block around the scenery with which he was so familiar. It was only when travellers came to visit the holy land and saw the people there, unchanged in sentiment, habit and customs for centuries, that they came to realize that the pictures were wrong.

TREES AND LIGHTNING.

Elms and Oaks Most Often Hit—Open Fields Safest.

New York News. About the most dangerous place to seek shelter in a thunderstorm is under an oak or elm tree. The fact has long been known to scientists, but many persons are killed every year by lightning because of the lack or disregard of this knowledge.

The total loss of life annually by lightning is not known, for complete statistics on the subject have never been kept. A few years ago the United States weather bureau attempted something of the kind in a tentative way. Its experts figured out the average number of persons killed by lightning yearly in the United States as 312. But this was incomplete. From several states in the union the weather bureau received no reports.

The reports received did show that of all that lightning killed only a few were struck in the open field. Most of the killed and injured, it was found, had sought shelter from thunderstorms under trees, in doorways of barns or near chimneys.

While no record of the kinds of trees most often struck by lightning has ever been kept in the United States, the lightning rod conferences held in England in 1881 reported that in the United Kingdom the trees most often struck were the elm, oak, ash and poplar. It is also said that the birch and maple were seldom touched.

Household Hints. Keep honey in the dark. If exposed to the light it will quickly granulate. Prunes are greatly improved by adding a little cider to the water in which they are cooked.

Always heat new iron, such as ranges, gradually at first, as this will prevent cracking.

Woolen clothes should be washed in very hot suds and not rinsed. Luke-warm water shrinks them.

If potatoes are soaked in cold water or two or three hours after peeling they will be whiter when cooked.

A few drops of coal oil added to the water with which windows are to be washed will save time and labor.

When making ginger snaps add a teaspoonful of vinegar and see what an improvement it will make.

If mustard is made with boiling water with a little salt added it will not dry and cake in the mustard pot.

The flavor of most clear soups is improved by adding a small lump of sugar just before taking them from the fire.

Not The Canadian Style. In Japan they take electoral promises seriously. A rich voter in Nagano province, after having pledged himself publicly to vote for a certain candidate, transferred his vote to the real candidate. Thereupon his wife added herself in white and committed suicide after the old Samurai fashion. Her grave is still decorated with flowers by the people of the district, and incense is burned before her tomb. She felt that life was no longer worth living after her husband had broken his pledge.

A Tremendous Loss. Not only of time, but comfort too, if you have a corn. Better try Putnam's Corn Extractor and cure the corn. Painless and sure, acts in twenty-four hours. Use only Putnam's—it's the best.

She'd Keep It. "But can you keep house?" he asked, doubtfully; for he was, above all things, a practical man. "If you get a house and put it in my name," she replied, promptly, "I'll keep it all right enough."

Matters being thus satisfactorily settled, their engagement was announced.

Make Home Dyeing Successful By Using

As there are weak, adulterated and worthless package dyes under various names sold by some dealers to whom large profits are of more concern than the home success and comfort of our women and girls, we would urge all who ask for DIAMOND DYES to see that each package bears the words "DIAMOND PACKAGE DYES."

Beware of common package dyes introduced in your town which pretend to dye all materials equally well with one dye. Such package dyes are snares and delusions. They ruin good dresses and all other articles of clothing, and are dangerous to handle.

The Diamond Dyes are the popular home dyes all over the world, and ladies at all times can depend upon their strength, beauty and everlasting colors. Refuse all crude and weak dyes and cling to the reliable Diamond Dyes, and you are sure of success in home coloring work.
