Belfast, Oct. 20 .- John Butler, fiftyfive years old, has been held for trial charged with procuring to be pub lished a scandalous and seditious libel concerning the government of king and the employment of majesty's troops.

The defendant sold a certain pamp let, which was described as "No. 1 of the Dungannon Club publications." Beneath the title of the club were the words, "Irishmen and the English Army; Some Reasons Why No True Irishman Can Join the Army of England." In its opening passages the

New Shell Not Effective.

New York, Oct. 20 .- The army ordnance experts have just concluded series of experiments with a new shell filied with an anaesthetic, which, the inventor believed, was destined to rol war of a great deal of its terrors. According to his plen the enemy was to be bombarded with such shells which, upon exploding, would release a powerful anaesthetic in the form of gas. He was confident, that the anaesthetic would be powerful to put a whole regiment to sleep and make it posto capture the soldiers without killing or wounding them. The experiments, however, did not bear out the correctness of the inventor's theory. The tests were made on the Sandy Hook probing grounds. The test resulted in a flat failure. The gas did not even put a single rabbit

CASUALTIES OF PEACE.

That peace hath its victories more glorlous than war is a truth more freely uttered than appreciated, and, while the casualty list in the struggle the glory of victory, it shows that risks and the demands on courage crease as the struggle becomes more intense. During the month of Aug last, according to statistics published in The Labor Gazette, there were 292 industrial accidents in Canada, resulting in ,78 deaths and many cases of serious fnjury. Agriculture, which feels the introduction of machinery in many ways, leads all the occupations with 46 accidents. Of these only 9 were fatal, as compared with 28 fatalities in July and 18 in August of the previous year. But of teh other accidents of August last 25 were classed as serious. While agriculture leads in the number accid niv, the railway service the greatest number of fatalities in any one industry. In addition to this death list 23 employes were severely injured. Railway fatalities have come to be regarded with equanimity, as they are the inevitable results of our economy of time and money, and our disregard of human life. While we are eager to 75C. make one track carry the traffic of two. while every minute of idleness in track, in rolling stock, or in employes is grudgingly counted, while the nerves of men in important positions are The garrison is divided into two strained to the endurance point, there will be a continuous record of casualties. Of the fatal accidents two engineers and one fireman were killed in collisions, and three brakemen were killed by falling between cars.

In navigation there were eleven fadrowned, four were killed by explosions on steamboats, and two were killsels on which they were employed. Two disasters to fishing vessels resulted in the loss of five lives. The building but of these only four resulted fatally They were nearly all attributed to falls A comparatively new source of danger is revealed by the list of accidents in metal-working trades. Three electrical workers were killed by coming in contact with live wires and one by the cave-in of a conduit. Mining claimed five victims, and there were in addition five cases of serious injury. The strict enforcement of the law requiring the reporting of all industrial accidents, as well as the investigation of all cases beneficial effect in impressing the need of those responsible for the safety of There is no remedy for that disregard the neglect of simple precautions. While needless risks are taken there will be needless accidents occasionally.

But the record can be minimized by careful surveillance and the enforcement of all preventive measures that No Crime to Kiss In Quebec. A singular case of litigation has just

The case arose out of an action entered by P. Brien, a grocer, to recover $300 damages from a commercial traveler named Lajeunesse. In the statement of claim it was set forth that on January 4 last Mrs. Brien was serving in the store when in walked Lajeunesse, and without invitation or provocation immediately leaned over the counter and kissed the lady twice. Mrs. Brien was greatly shocked, and as a result was unable to serve in the store for some time, at great inconvenience to her usband.
