WAS HUGE SUCCESS EXCEL-LING PREVIOUS YEARS.

Ottawa Collegians Much Impressed - Medicals Lead, Arts Following, and Science Rear-The Fireworks Formed a Great Feature.

Saturday evening's annual parade of Queen's students was a huge success, and far excelled, in every respect, all former attempts. It was viewed by a record number of citizens, and everyone who was able, came out to see the fun. The Ottawa University contingent, who were in the city with the football team, were decidedly impressed with the showing made by the local students, and claimed the parade eclipsed anything ever attempted by the other Canadian universities.

By about eight o'clock, Grand Marshall Finlayson, mounted on his trusty steed, had the parade well organized, and the march commenced, The route followed was down Union to Clergy, over Clergy to Princess, to King, to Barrie to the university. Me dicine led this year, then came arts, and lastly science. The 14th Regiment P.W.O.R. bugle band headed the parade. The final year medicals drove in hacks. The junior year also drove, and boasted of a float representing that popular song, " Neath the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," which was played with much discord by a real German band. The second year in medicine were out in force, as well, and were garbed in ghostly attire. The arts men were there, too, and upheld the honor of their faculty, despite the fact that their float followed the example of that belonging to the seniors in medicine, and took fire before the parade began. As for science, they are always to the fore, and though last, were by no means least. Their showing this year was quite on a par with that of former occasions,

Passing down Princess street the spectacle was probably at its best particularly when viewed from a di tance. The torches and fire works luminated the highway, and the sky diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible was ablaze with rockets. The behavior of the boys was beyond criticism, too, and citizens and students alike en joyed the annual parade of 1905. At its conclusion the different years sere Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Neither Team At Fault The difficulty over a referee and umpire at the R. M. C.-Queen's game, on Saturday, is not the fault of either team. Manager Laidlaw, of Queen's, following the rules, telegraphed President McCollum of the L.C.R.F.U., to end officials for both games here. That gentleman failed to do so, how ever, and overlooked the intermediate coutest with the disappointing results

Mr. Jerome whose "Three Men in a Boat" hy been translated into every language, attained his success only after series of discouragements. He could not get any one to look at his manuscript, Publisher after publisher told him it was rubbish-vet when it was brought out over one hundred thoutertainer. His readings of his own creations are unique and most diverting. Mr. Jerome comes under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.
