FOR THREE MONTHS PROBATION OF TEACHERS TO BE SO FIXED.

Two Collegiate Teachers Have Resigned—Religious Instruction in the Schools—The Increases in Salaries Still Under Review.

When the chairman called the board of education to order last evening there was barely a quorum, but before the meeting was far advanced several more of the trustees dropped in. Those present were: Chairman McKelvey, trustees Anglin, Elliott, Gordon, Haffner, Kelly, Lambert, Laturney, Marshall, McIntyre, Nickle, Thompson, and Wormwith.

The following communications were disposed of:

Miss Jessie Harold, enclosing doctor's certificate and asking that her resignation be accepted. Management.

Neil McCaig, Sr., caretaker of Frontenac school, asking for an increase of salary. Property.

Joseph Gould, caretaker of Central school, asking for an increase of salary. Property.

J. K. Galbraith, resigning his position on the collegiate staff. Management.

William Ward, of collegiate staff, stating that he can no longer continue at the present salary and resigning. Management.

J. G. Ettinger, asking for an increase of salary. Management.

Greenlee, principal of Central school, asking that his salary be increased from $800 to $1,000. Management.

Inspector Tilley, in his report, of the model schools stated that the students are being carefully trained and are evidently much interested in their work. They passed a very good examination. The instruction is of a practical nature and is quite within the grasp of the students. This should be very beneficial and is worthy of the highest commendation. Management.

From G. Y. Chown, offering to accept the board's terms for broken glass in old collegiate building. Finance.

Management Report.

John McIntyre presented the report of the management committee:

1. That Miss Jessie Harold's resignation, to date from November 1st, be accepted.

2. No action on the communication of Mr. Doan, secretary of the Ontario Educational Association, stating that the proceedings of that body for 1905 are now ready for distribution.

3. That Miss Elizabeth Gardner be appointed to the public school teaching staff under the rules and regulations of the board.

4. That the salary of Miss E. Willder, Orphans' Home teacher, be $25 per year in excess of that provided by the salary system, as her class includes the whole eight grades of the public school course.

5. That Edward Hanna be appointed to vacancy on the collegiate staff until the end of the term, at a salary of $17.80 per week. This is at the rate of $700 per year.

6. That a success to Mr. Falk be advertised for, the salary to be $800.

7. That when it is found necessary to employ teachers holding high school teachers' certificates as occasional in the public schools, owing to second-class teachers not being obtainable, they be paid $2 per day.

8. Your committee made enquiries concerning religious instruction in the public schools and learned from the inspector that the regulations in this respect are being carried out.

9. Inspector Kidd and the principals of the collegiate and the public schools made their annual reports on the teaching staff to your committee. Your committee recommended that all the members of the public school teaching staff receive the annual increase. The applications of members of the collegiate staff for increases are under consideration.

The clause regarding the resignation of Miss Harold provoked some discussion. W. F. Nickle moved that the clause be varied and that "owing to ill-health" be added. The mover insisted that unless good reasons were forthcoming teachers should be kept to their contracts.

J. G. Elliott regretted that Miss Harold was in ill-health. No member of the board wishes to keep a member of the staff in their employ under such circumstances. Had the reason for the resignation been forthcoming at the former meeting there was no doubt the question would have been settled satisfactorily. Then the amendment was put and lost. The amendment was adopted, but not before the year and days had been called for by the mover of the amendment. It resulted thus:

Yeas—Anglin, Godwin, Haffner, Lambert, Laturney, Marshall, Thompson, McIntyre, Wormwith.

Nays—Elliott, Nickle, Renton.

Clause 1 evoked some slight discussion, but was passed on the following words being added, "to take effect next year."

Clause 8, was the occasion of many questions of information. Inspector Kidd stated that concerning religious instructions in the school the teachers went much further than was called for by the statutory declaration. The International series was followed and there was further reading of scripture, learning of the apostles' creed, the ten commandments, Lord's prayer, golden rule, etc. This matter, he considered was well looked after by the teachers. The clause was then passed after some further discussion.

THE BIG BAZAAR WAS AN UNQUALIFIED AND GRATIFIED SUCCESS.

The High Tea Was Marvellously Successful—Decorations Very Pretty, and the School Children's Display Capital.

"An overwhelming success" is the very apt description given of the general hospital bazaar, with special reference to its high tea feature, by those who sat in the jam outside the door of Ontario hall on Thursday evening. In from the city hall the crowd rolled, and the two swept together in a seething mass of humanity. Individual movement was impossible, as the crowd moved so did its units, not otherwise.

Once inside the door there was a pretty sight, for the tables were decorated with much artistic taste, and the girls waiting had their pretty faces and pretty hair shown off by white frocks. It is hard to say which table had the most admirers. Queen's had the college colors twisted about among its silver and golden-globed lamps and the yellow chrysanthemums, with the light from yellow candles, made it brilliantly attractive. There was the delicate and restful green, exquisite ferns in the daintiest of silver fern pots for its distinguishing feature. Maude was very quiet and subdued, but very dainty. Over from these tables were the boys' tables with red, scarlet, fawn, red ribbons, silver lamps with red bowls upon one, and much handsome brass upon the other, they made it hard for even the pink with its general effect of rosiner, and the yellow table with its brightness, to make a lasting impression. But of the primary colors, red makes the strongest appeal. And attractive as were the tables, the manners of the girls, was likewise, and the cookery, well known for the housewives of Kingston.

Just here is the place to mention the carving, and the carvers, Col. McGill, Mr. McCann and Dr. Dalton, who for three mortal hours dissected turkey, beef, and ham, and chicken in the most skilled manner. During tea a monster gramophone roared the effect of the hundreds of voices talking at once, and was high appreciated by the juveniles at the party.

In the City Hall, the bazaar proper did a rushing business in all departments. To the right the tea booth, lathered off with white, with palms, things and other pretty green things to relieve the eye, and the way in quantities from the freezer to the purchasers. Next door the work-table was set under a booth which was particularly gay and artistic, with Japanese umbrellas, fans, dolls and so forth, and the fancy work thereon, was unusually dainty and useful.

Still further a booth made of lattices of scarlet and white, the hospital colors, with similar trailing over it, sheltered home-made pastries, jam, buns and cake, till buyers, anxious for the delicacies, bought then up. A turn brought into view a peanut roaster, in full jingle, and before the evening was over advanced the far-famed floor of the City Hall, was a mass of peanut shells, distributed over its waxen surface by the youth of our public schools.

For many reasons, the booth which attracted the largest number of spectators and buyers, was certainly the entire left side of the hall, it contained everything, almost that could appear within the precincts of a bazaar, bunting, plants, and flags, emblems, and all patriotic sentiments galore, and looked gay, and very much in keeping with the birthday of his most gracious majesty, Edward VII.

The entire display speaks much in deed for the self-denial and interest of both scholars and teachers in the sick and suffering of our big institution on Stuart street.

The centre of the hall was occupied by the candy booth, four-sided, and yet not sufficiently accessible for all who wanted to buy the very popular "side show" was attached to this booth, and consisted of a measuring machine, and a big scale, and under the energetic care of Joseph McCann and Miss Jessie Dickson, led to many a one of our Kingston youth the weight and measured the height especially the gentler sex refusing to remove hats even for the fun of learning exact measurements.

A small booth, but a successful one, hid behind its flag draped front, some of the very youthful ones found most fascinating, indeed. Little Miss Janet Leck and Miss Jessie Slater were almost hidden from view by the row upon row of little people crawling round the "fish-pond," which they had stocked.

And round and round, backwards and forwards, the crowd swayed, some eating sweets, some eating peanuts, all very happy and good-natured and of the quality, that must have cheered the hearts of the faithful toilers of the hospital, who had their disinterested efforts crowned with such entire success.

After the high tea, the City Hall, became the rendezvous for the crowd. A most entertaining programme was given. The members of the Y. W. C. A. gave a very "Bible Drill," deserving of much praise for the excellent way in which they went through their movements. Bouncing and tumbling, the gymnastic exercises of the physical class for their creditable work performed. Merry's Opera House orchestra ever a drawing card, very kindly gave their services in the good cause, free.

The bazaar will continue to-day. As a school holiday will celebrate when the school children will celebrate a half holiday by attending en masse.

Swallowed Fifty-Dollar Bill.

John Mulhall, known as "Rusty," only a short while out of Kingston Penitentiary, sold a horse and rig belonging to John McFarlane, which he stole from in front of the Express Hotel, at Deseronto, on October 23rd, and when arrested on Thanksgiving Day by Detective Newton, is said to have swallowed a fifty-dollar bill which he obtained for the rig. He was remanded in Toronto, on a charge of stealing a pair of blue jeans from C. Nurse. The two charges Tipton recovered the horse and rig, which had been sold for $70.

AT THE GRAND.

Sherlock Holmes In "The Sign of the Four."

The management has succeeded in securing Sherlock Holmes, in the "Sign of the Four," for Saturday, November 11th, matinee and night, which will be one of the best attractions offered this season. "The Sign of the Four" is a dramatization of A. Conan Doyle's novel of the same name, the original character, that of Sherlock Holmes, the great detective, and the story of the play, deals with his efforts to recover and restore to the rightful owner the stolen wealth of a murdered Rajah. The story is woven in a dramatic manner that holds the interest of the audience throughout. It is the best of the Doyle fiction, made into a melodrama of such virile strength and vital dramatic power, that the appeal is not confined to a "dramatic" but its universality will find thoroughly convinced and highly enthused audiences in any theatre.

"The Yankee Consul."

An event of unusual importance will be the coming engagement of the delightful musical satire, "The Yankee Consul," which will be the attraction at the Grand, on Tuesday, November 14th. During the phenomenal run of this brightest of all musical comedies in New York, press and public alike emphatically declared that it was the cleverest comedy that had been seen in a decade. Manager John P. Sloucum, under whose able direction the play will be seen in the larger cities of the season, has secured Miss Vera Michelena, a beautiful and talented young prima donna, and Reuben Fax, the noted comedian, as the stars, and has selected a supporting cast numbering seventy-five people, the largest ever sent out of town. The play's chorus has been especially selected, and nearly fifty pretty, graceful girls, gorgeously costumed, are included in the personnel. The stage settings are magnificent productions of the scenic artist, and the effects are costly. "The Yankee Consul" is the joint work of Henry M. Blossom and Alfred G. Robyns. The book and lyrics, which abound in light, delicious humor, are the result of Mr. Blossom's efforts, while Mr. Robyns is responsible for the bright, catchy, tuneful music with which the play abounds.

CALLS FOR REPARATION.

The Suspended Sentence Should Be Waived.

Kingston, Nov. 9.—(To the Editor): Some reparation should be made to the Hebrew, charged recently with counterfeiting or "bill raising." Subsequent events have proven him innocent. Following the precedent established by the British government in the Adolph Beck case, I would suggest that the magistrate give this man a certificate of acquittal, and refund the costs, if any, paid by him. I am not a lawyer, but write this simply in the interests of fair play. FIAT JUSTITIA.

Thinks It Ought Not To Be.

Sanger, Nov. 8.—(To the Editor): With regret I call attention to a practise bringing scandal and dishonor to our once fair settlement. The holding of a dance on Saturday night and continuing the actions until daylight Sunday morning. This is the usual mode of entertainment on Saturday nights and breaks, so far as an hour and time generally was concerned. The furniture, musical instruments and partitions were smashed, ladies terrorized and the lamps put out. Publicity will do the rest here and civilization—a service for which we will be thankful—surely this unchristian practice will cease under the searchlight. Yours respectfully, M. T. McDONALD.

Not Well Received.

Marysville, Nov. 9.—(To the Editor): While under the new ferry system the Wolfe Islanders feel their success in municipal ownership, they regret that matters are not being carried out as anticipated. For instance, a trip is made for the consideration of $7, the travelling public is disappointed. It is a return of the gripes of the old company—violations of trips. It can be conceived that while $7 would be a consideration to individual ownership, the line should be drawn around municipal ownership of the profits to be gained by a rate-paying population of five hundred. Last week the islanders were deprived of their regular mail, at least twenty people were disappointed in connection with transportation. We feel it is that the manager's efforts to make every dollar count, he loses sight of the fact that the accommodation of the people is superior to all efforts of gain.

It has been suggested that if Mr. Briedland doubt their statement he might determine what his present amounts to under municipal ownership as against the disappointment and neglect of mails to the Wolfe Islanders. RATEPAYER.

Queen's something wrong with the small boy who isn't the victim of a chronic case of hunger. Fresh Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, 25c. and 50c., at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

A bachelor says it is very exciting to kiss a girl and then find you didn't do it because she dodged. Kindly leave your name for the subscription list, for the English Concert company, and Marie Hall, at Uglow's.

The department store proprietor must expect a perfect jangle when he advertises a bargain sale in presences. Henry Cunningham, piano tuner from Chiekers. Orders received at McAuley's book store. Princess street.

The police court is still deserted; the desk and chairs will be getting dusty as there has been nothing doing since Monday.

The public school pupils had a half holiday to-day. They had almost a whole holiday, yesterday, in preparing for the bazaar. Little school work was done.

A gentleman's nice light box call lace boot. McPherson's make, regular $3.50, never sold for less, now $2.50. The Leckert shoe store.

The Junior Limestones will go to Gananogue to-morrow for a return match, in the junior O.R.F.U. series. Should the local team win it will result in a tie all around.

A Barrieffield writer says the population of Barrieffield is growing so numerous as some of the city aldermen seem to imply. It is not the Barrieffield people who have worn out the boardwalk around the barracks wall; it is the traffic to and from the city to the Royal Military College. But Barrieffield keeps in good repair about a mile of boardwalk over which hundreds from the city walk every day. Sunday especially, and to which the city never contributes one cent.
