and when I had taken two boxes, the rash was entirely gone, the swelling in the face and hands was gone, the pain in the back had left me, and I was quite well again, and my complexion is clearer than it has been for years. I want to thank "Fruit-a-tives" for this great cure—as before I used this medicine I had used many kinds of salves and took quantities of medicines but these did me no good. But "Fruit-a-tives" at once seemed to do me good—and they entirely took away the fearful rash.

I WILL CURE YOU FIRST THEN YOU PAY ME

The physician who has not sufficient confidence in his ability to cure his patients first, and receive his pay afterwards, is not the man to inspire confidence in those who are in search of honest treatment.

My acceptance of a case for treatment is equivalent to a cure, because I never accept incurable cases. I am satisfied to receive the patient, money for the value I have given the patient, but I expect to prove my worth and show positive and satisfactory results before I ask for the fee.

PHYSICAL DEBILITY

The Latest Method Treatment is a heaven-sent boon to nervous sufferers. There are scores and hundreds of persons suffering from nervous disorder resulting from overwork, hurry, worry, haste, and anxiety, white pine, and constant nervousness.

JUST TWO YEARS AGO

IRROUOIS THEATRE BURNT IN CHICAGO.

Day Being Commemorated—Flags Are at Half Mast, and Special Memorial Services Being Held—The Graves Decorated.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 30.—Two years ago to-day the Iroquois theatre was destroyed by fire and nearly six hundred lives, mostly women and children were lost in the holocaust.

The fire at the Iroquois theatre was the most appalling disaster that ever visited this city and will long be remembered by hundreds of families who lost one or more of their members in the catastrophe.

The fire originated on the stage of the theatre during the matinee performance of December 30th, 1903, at a time when every part of the house was crowded with its usual holiday crowds of women and children.

FLYING IN A YEAR

Has About Completed a Real Flying Machine.

New York, Dec. 30.—"The simplest mode of locomotion is soaring in the air, and it can be done with the least effort," said John P. Holland, the genius of submarine fame, in discussing his experiments with flying machines.

"Within twelve months people will be flying in the air," he continued, "and it will become the most popular method of locomotion, because it is perfectly safe."

"My flight without the use of an engine or propeller is perfectly practicable," he said. "I have proved that the principle is all right. The general public haven't succeeded in aerial navigation so far as that they haven't observed effectively the mechanism of flight in nature, and some so-called authorities who fancy they understand perfectly the mechanism of nature declare that human flight forever will be impossible, thus discouraging persons who might make the attempt and possibly succeed."

"It doesn't require genius or study or an adventurer to discover this device, but simple observation of nature and it is surprising to me that no one is flying to-day."

"I have started to build four machines during the past twelve years, and when near the completion of each I have discovered an imperfection and destroyed the machine. I didn't destroy the last machine, but I got the improvements made, and I am now building the entire original idea of flying machines."

Mr. Holland said the machine that he was working on now was not as large as his predecessors. It has two sets of wings that measure sixteen feet from tip to tip. One of the wings is for the arms and the other for the legs. He says that it is not necessary to work both hands and feet at the same time unless extraordinary speed is desired.

HE USED TEN WORDS

And Made An Oil King Very Mad.

A few years ago a prominent oil producer of Pittsburgh was putting down what is known as a "wildcat," that is, a well in a territory that had never been tested for oil.

He was keeping the fact a profound secret, in order that, in case he got a good well, he might without difficulty secure all the leases he desired in the vicinity. He was on the ground himself, watching with great interest the indications. Everything pointed to success.

Two days before the well was expected to "come in" he was unfortunately called home. Anxious about the result, he arranged with his contractor to telegraph him as soon as the drill reached the sand.

"I can see 'tain't no good 'ceptin' the oil," he told the driller that the sentence "Fine trees grow tall" would mean "The mine's a dud" and seemed to understand the matter and promised to do as he was ordered.

The mingled satisfaction and vexation of the producer may be imagined when, two days later, he received the following telegram:

"Fine trees grow tall. She's spitting clean over the derrick."

Left His Mark. There is a story in the Tatler which adds fresh laurels to the Bertillon system.

A vicar has his ripe fruit stolen, the only clue to the culprit being a fingerprint left on an unripe peach. He had a photographic enlargement made.

Thread of Gold.

Remember that, valuable as is the gift of speech, silence is often more valuable.

Do not expect too much from others but remember that all have some ill-nature, whose occasional outcroppings we must expect and that we must be courteous and forgive as we often desire forbearance and forgiveness ourselves.

Never retort a sharp or angry word. It is the second word that makes the quarrel.

Learn to say kind and pleasant things whenever the opportunity offers.

Little self-denials, little honesties, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favorite temptations—these are the silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out brightly in the pattern of life.

Revenge By Robbery.

A year ago a rich Swiss lady named Greechi had all her jewels, valued at many hundreds of pounds, stolen from her villa at Lugano, and the police failed to trace the thieves. A few days ago some workmen were repairing the roof of an empty house, and came across a heavy wooden box addressed to the chief of the local police.

On the box being opened all the stolen jewels were found in it, together with a short note written in a feminine hand:

"In stealing the jewels," the note ran, "I had no intention of enriching myself, but in taking revenge on Mme. Greechi, whom I hate, I hope I have succeeded."

No Demand For Bees.

Warkenton Telescope. A curious thing happened out at Malcolm recently. Daniel Sullivan had 100 hives of bees, but having decided upon moving away, he put them up at auction sale.

But the best bid was $1.25 per hive. Not being willing to sell them at such a price as this, he was forced to the alternative of killing them off, for the sake of the honey and wax, which together were worth four or five dollars per hive.

The bee business would seem by this circumstance to be rather at a discount in this part of the country.
