DOWNING TAMMANY NO LONGER WILL ITS INFLUENCE DOMINATE ELECTIONS

McClelland Dismisses McAdoo—The President and Bob Fitzsimmons—A Wealthy Thief is Caught—Holiday Reminiscences.

Special Correspondence Letter, No. 1494. New York, Jan. 5.—The holiday season is past and now, although it may seem a little mercenary, we sit quietly down to count the cost.

Political circles were startled this week when it was known that Mayor McClelland had given Police Commissioner McAdoo his conge, and had offered the place to Gen. Bingham, who immediately accepted, and no mourning was shown for the loss of the position at the squelcher of Commissioner McAdoo.

Nothing so demoralizes an infant and enslaves the parents as to take a cross or wakaful baby from the bed and lay him on the floor during the night. The baby cries because it is not well—generally because its stomach is sour, its little bowels congested and its skin hot and feverish.

Miserable Nights. Nothing so demoralizes an infant and enslaves the parents as to take a cross or wakaful baby from the bed and lay him on the floor during the night.

The closing week of nineteen hundred and five has been one of the liveliest in my memory. The streets and the stores have been thronged from early morning till dewy eve.

Devil's Punch Bowl. The preservation of Hindhead, with the weird beauty of the Devil's Punch-bowl, is, indeed, something to be thankful for.

Curing Rheumatism. The cure of rheumatism has been difficult, and takes time even yet when allowed to become chronic.

Cured of Drunkenness. How a Montreal lady cured her husband of drunkenness with a secret home remedy.

"I want to tell you that tante's medicine cured my husband's drunkenness. I was a drunkard for many years, and now I am a sober man."

An Old Ceremony. Ever since the twelfth century it has been the custom of Newcastle-under-Lyne, England, publicly to proclaim a new mayor from the market cross.

Drummond lost another of its old residents on Saturday last in the demise of Francis Lambert, at the residence of his son in law.

that stood at the curb, a footman in livery closed the carriage door and jumped up beside the driver, a crack of the whip, and the splendid roans dashed forward to the lady's rich home in the Balwick of our four hundred, and so ends one of the most startling events of the holiday week.

At Partridge Lane Chapel a Mr. Root preached in the morning, and a Mr. Crow in the evening of the same day. The arrangement, which, of course, was not intentional, was made by a Mr. Cuckoo, who was secretary of the Sunday school, in which Messrs. Finch, Martin, Swallow and Bird were teachers.

Some years ago the pastor of a London church was named Pigg, and two of his deacons were Messrs. Hog-flesh and Bacon.

It was fitting that the memorial statue of Millais should have been placed at the Tate gallery, for the painter himself took a prominent part in the negotiations that preceded the erection of the stately building on Millbank.

The American woman lives for what she calls a good time. Her interest is not man nor what is noblest in man—paternity. Her ambition is to study spiritualism, then Buddhism, then wireless telegraphy, and then the novels of Marie Corelli.

Men who want to find empires do not want the higher development of woman.

Has Live Topics. In the Technical World Magazine, Alton D. Adams points out vast opportunities for developing water power along the St. Lawrence river, much in excess of that furnished by Niagara Falls. Isaac N. Powell, chief clerk of election commissioners, Chicago, contributes experiences in the use of voting machines in elections and is firm in his conviction that, sooner or later, the paper ballot must be abandoned—the sooner the better for the honesty of the election. In North Carolina a private tea plantation has proved, commercially, extremely profitable. With pen and camera, Freeman Tilden tells the story of the farm.

Clergymen's Strange Taste. Many strange dishes were eaten by Dean Buckland, the English clergyman and geologist. At his dinner parties, which were attended by leaders of science and literature, the menus were often of a most eccentric character. On one occasion pickled horse tongue was greatly relished by the guests until they were told what they had eaten. Alligator was served up as a rare delicacy and puppies occasionally and mice frequently. At other times hedgehogs, tortoises, potted ostrich, and sometimes rats, frogs, and snails were prepared for the deflection of favored guests.
