Had We Been Satisfied

To take the first kind of Whitewear that we could get our hands on 'tis likely we could have offered a White Sale in December.

But we were not satisfied to accept anything that could be had at once. We had our customers' interests in mind and simply ordered the latest styles, paying particular attention to the quality of the cotton, and then asked that they be rushed to us with all speed.

And soon we'll be able to make a display of all the handsome and beautiful articles that we planned for your satisfaction. The assortment will represent the choice product of three of the best makers in the country, and to a large extent be exclusive to this store.

Remember, we started planning for this last September, and for your own good interest and satisfactory purchase, we say curb your impatience until next week, when we will have a showing of the newest Whitewear, and best of all with an extremely fine quality of cotton, which will more than repay you for the delay.
