Hamilton Woman Sues. Buffalo, Jan. 15 .- By an order of substitutions of attorneys, the case of Mrs. Alice E. Taylor, of No. 136 Lock street, Hamilton, Ont., against William P. Baker, of the Simmons-Baker company, of Niagara Falls, was reopened here by Justice White in the supreme courte Mrs. Taylor is suing Baker for $1,000 damages for the alleged hugging and kissing of her against her will. The case was originally on the Lockport calendar. Mrs. Taylor alleges that she borrowed money from Baker's company at one time and later her husband was badly injured. Baker went to her home to secure payment while the husband was in the hospital she claims, and it is alleged he kissed and hugged her.

A Cardinal In Methodist Church. Baltimore, Md., Jan. 15 .- Cardinal Gibbons occupied a seat on the platform of the Entaw Street Methodist Episcopal church, in which a public mass meeting was held under the auspices of the city committee of the prohibition party. The principal address was made by William H. Berry, state treasurer of Pennsylvania, who was elected on the reform ticket last November. When the committee found itself unable to secure a hall large enough for the meeting and was compelled to select the church, a member of the committee wrote to Cardinal Gibbons stating the case and asked if he wished to have his name withdrawn as one of the vice-presidents. In reply the cardinal wrote: "The holding of the civic meeting in a Protestant church does not excite any religious scruple in me," and announced his intention of attending the
