The Prison System.

The political offices pension act England was passed in 1869. This act created three classes of pensions, First comes a pension of £2,000 per annum, To this an ex-minister is entitled who has seen four years' service in an ofice or not less than £5,000 a year, Next we have a pension of £1,200, To obtain this an ex-minister must have sacrved for five years in an fice of less than £5,000 and not less than £2,000 per annum.

Last comes the pension of £800 a year for an ex-minister whose salary during the five years' tenure of office was less than £2,000 and more than £1,000 a year.

he applies for one of these pensions, that without it he cannot maintain properly the dignity which naturally attaches itself to the position of ex-minister. If he becomes later much better off through a substantial addition to his fortune from any cause he is expected to resign his pension. Moreover, the pension falls into abeyance on an ex-minister's re-appoint ment to office.

This is somewhat different from the Canadian act, and somewhat better. The grading is necessary because the old land there are varying offices of varying salaries, whereas the Canadian pension applies only to the ex-members of the government whose salaries are alike, with one exception. The greatest difference lies in th fact that the pension is only paid to the one who represents that he can not maintain the dignity of his position without it, and its continuance depends upon his inability to rise above its need. Perhaps the only defence of the pen-

Chief Ryan, of Gananoque, Failed to Bring Them Back-Had Broken Into Cottages on Trement Park.

Gananoque, Jan. 16 .- It was on Frilay last that news came concerning the couple being on Leek Island. Chief Ryan sent an iceboat with a relief party there. The party found the smouldering remains of a fire, and the tracks of a boat across the channel from Leek to Grindstone. It then returned having learned this much, arriving here about noon, Saturday, and on Saturday evening Chief Ryan, with the party, proceeded to Grindstone Island, and found the couple lodging with a family anmed Guernsey Thurso. They refused to return Gananoque, however, and Chief Ryan after remaining all Saturday night and recovering the skiff, which was not Monroe's, but one which had been taken from Baker's cottage at Tremont Park, returned on Sunday, making an examination of Tremont Park and finding nearly every place had been broken into. Monroe's boat was secured at Baker's, and brought to town, Baker's boat being locked up at Grindstone by order of Chief Ryan. The examination at Tremont Park proved that, the couple had spent their time in the cottages there instead of on Leek Island. to which they went on Friday even ing. Chief Ryan describes the man as tall and slim, with fair complexion and with light moustache. He gave his name to the chief as DeWitte, and said he was English by birth, and that his father was a resident of Detroit and quite wealthy. Of his companion he would not talk. The people of Grindstone had a dance at Thurso or Saturday evening, after which a col lection of $4.50 was taken to send the couple to Clayton, where they have likely arrived ere this. The local authorities considered it was not advisable to have extradition papers got out for them.

On Sunday morning, Rev. Henry Gracey, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church preached on "The Press as a Public Educator," comparing it with the methods of tuition in our public school system of education for the young. His sermon was a very able effort and was much appreciated. Miss Jessie Wilson, B.A., sister of Mayor W. J. Wilson, presided at the organ in St. Andrew's church, morning and evening, giving excellent satisfaction.
