

Been Dyeing To-day

Haven't you often heard your neighbor say this, and then seen her blackened up a pair of blue, red or black hands, dyed to the nail-ends on to stay for a day or two?

Tell her not to do it any more. For there's DY-O-LA

Of all the colors of this splendid dye, only two (green and purple), ever stain the hands or kettle. With these, you can use a little more care.

Another pleasing thing about DY-O-LA—one package gives you all pure or mixed goods; wool, cotton, silk, etc., perfectly.

Your druggist has it. Package 10c.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR.

All Come From Dandruff, Which is Caused by a Germ.

Split hair, hard hair, lusterless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a meanly little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into thudral scales and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causing the several diseased conditions of the hair till it finally falls out.

Told in the Twilight

A pretty tea, and a most successful one was that given by Mrs. Henry Merrick, on Wednesday, for her daughter, Mrs. John Bromley, the bride. Miss Gwyneth Merrick and Miss Hazel Browne, two small maidens, in pretty frocks, met the guests at the foot of the stairs, and ushered them to the dressing-rooms. Coming down to the drawing-room they were met by Mrs. Merrick, who looked extremely well in golden-brown chiffon tulle, with chenille trimmings, and touches of old rose and lace. The tall and graceful young bride looked very well in biscuit-colored silk, with white ruchings of champagne lace, and deep yoke of heavy embroidery. With this was worn the groom's gift, a necklace of gold, with pearls pendant and a very bridal bouquet of lovely white roses was carried. The bride-like effect was carried out in the masses of perfect white carnations, with much smilax intertwined, which filled the rooms. The tea room was done in green and white, green shades being upon the candles, green tulle forming the central arrangement of the table, with white carnations, maiden hair fern and smilax in a large vase, rising from it. Over the coffee and tea were Mrs. R. V. Rogers and Mrs. R. W. Garrett. Miss Winnie Moore cutting green and white ice cream. Miss Lucy Merrick wearing blue-silk columns, with lace and chiffon led the band of girls who dispensed refreshments, and a very able aide was the bride's cousin, Miss Brough, of Brockville, who wore blue silk crepe de chine, with lace and pearls. Other grown-up assistants were: Mrs. George Ellis, Miss Emily Sears and Miss Mabel Dalton, and younger helpers were some of Miss Marjory Merrick's friends, Miss Hilda Kent and Miss Madeline Higgins. A list of the guests noticed were: Mrs. Laid, Mrs. R. E. Kent, Mrs. W. H. Macnee, Mrs. Noel Kent, Miss Lillian Kent, Mrs. E. J. B. Pense, Mrs. D. Gordon, Mrs. W. B. Dalton, Mrs. James Third, Mrs. W. Skinner, Mrs. R. Waldron, Sr., the Misses Waldron, Mrs. R. K. Kilborn, Mrs. W. G. Anglin, Mrs. R. Easton Burns, Mrs. J. S. Turner, Mrs. A. Mrs. Dignan

Mrs. Dignan, president of the Women's Art Association of Canada, who has been in town this week, has been telling us that we do not half appreciate the work of the art association in Kingston, and especially the work which Miss Machar has done. Miss Dignan thinks Miss Machar, with her knowledge and culture in art is an ideal leader. Her friendly criticism is a little undervalued. As to not realizing the labour of officers and members of the local branch of the W.A.A., what work is there that is truly realized by any who are not immediately engaged in it? And as to the lack of art culture and art interest, these things come in time, Kingston moves slowly, and she is very patient and reserved. Outsiders are not told all that she knows, or all that she cares for, and in her there is a far larger impulse towards the best in life, than casual observers may see.
