The Young Men's Votes. The Belleville Intelligencer is decidedly in the wrong in saying that the abolition of the manhood franchise act was suggested by the liberal press. The Stratford Beacon did not discuss the question until long after it had been under consideration in the press, beginning with the Hamilton Spectator.

Not in the liberal press in favour of the abolition of the act. The Brockville Recorder, opposed the proposal and adduced many reasons why the law should remain as it is. The Whig opposed the change, on the ground that the clerks in stores, the mechanics in shops, and the students had as much right to vote as the farmers' sons.

By the way the conservative press is very much mixed upon the question. The Spectator, while willing that the "bums and floaters" should be cut off desired to see the young men generally held as electors.

The Telegram would disfranchise the students. Why? "Because they have the right to vote in other districts and should vote at home." The Telegram is out in its premises and out in its conclusions.

Not being at home when the general election occurred in January, 1905, how could the students be registered and given votes? How can they get votes in any year except in the place where they are attending the college?

Murder Of The Jews. Many stories of Russian atrocities have come to this country, by messenger from the scenes of bloodshed, and by letters, and it is only now that the secret of them has become apparent.

A writer in the London Spectator has shed light upon the subject, and according to him the violence of the Russian people is the legitimate outcome of their unparalleled treatment. The Jews are not at liberty in Russia to enter any avenue of usefulness that may be open to them. Being denied admission to the learned professions they have confined their attention to trade, and have reaped the reward of their labors.

The proportion of very rich men among them is not so large, but the Jew, because he is marked, becomes a conspicuous object, whether he is rich or poor. The qualities that mark the Hebrew—the qualities of thrift, of industry, of success—invite attack whether he is a man of trade, a student, or a religiousist. Even the peasant abhors him, when he buys a crop in advance of the harvest and profits by the venture. He takes all the risk, but the peasant does not see it, and believing that he is being cheated, is mad enough to kill.

Thus there has been a general and intense antipathy towards the Jews, and it finds expression upon little provocations. The whole nation has recently been disturbed. The people have been excited to revolution and have fallen unreasonably upon an unpopular class. When one reads then, about the slaughter of the Jews in Russia he realizes that they are not offending in any particular way, that they are not disloyal to the crown, not opposed to moral or national reforms, not in any way resisting the popular will or will. They are simply the victims of a blind and rabid prejudice which has been nurtured for centuries and finds an occasion for bitter expiation at a time when the masses are violent and murderous in spirit. There has to be blood-letting for effect, and the Jews are singled out for the sacrifice.

Shameful Misuse Of Wealth. When some years ago a Kingston teacher advocated Sunday concerts he was regarded with more or less disfavour. Some people, with narrow and contracted views, thought he was not properly endowed for the leadership of the young. Yet the man had a fine, if not a correct, conception of the wants of the people, and was perhaps living only a little in advance of his time. Music, good music, has been found to have both a refining and comforting influence, and in New York at this time there is a movement which aims to give the poor the largest possible benefit.

"Success" is to be credited with a suggestion which has been cheerfully acted upon. In America the churches are ordinarily valued at over two thousand million dollars. They represent the contributions and even the sacrifices of the people. This money otherwise invested at five per cent, would bring a return of $250,000,000 a day. The conclusion followed that more use should be made of the

A DECIDED CHANGE FROM THE ICE TO THE SPREAD TABLE.

The Queen's Hockeyists Had a Real Good Time Last Night as the Guests of Prof. William Nicol. The members of Queen's Hockey Club had a decided change, last night, from the strenuous life of training which they have been undergoing for the past couple of months. At his home on Clergy street West the honorary president of the organization, Prof. W. Nicol, tendered the boys a complimentary banquet, and the praises of the occasion furnished the sole topic of conversation around the college hall today. It is just this interest taken by the president in university athletics which goes a long way toward cheering the players closer to the goal of victory in a hard series of contests and toward bringing out all that is never lacking in sport, Queen's has the honorary president to those who sets a brilliant example to those who may come after. Certainly Professor Nicol is a most ardent admirer of college athletics and a more enthusiastic and church supporter of Queen's team it would be hard to find. Especially has he endeavored himself to the hockey players by his constant encouragement and advice, and last evening's spread was the culmination of his efforts on their behalf.

As regards the banquet itself, words cannot do justice to the menu, but those seated around the festive board endeavored to show their appreciation thereof and with markedly good results. At the head of the table was seated Professor Nicol with Captain Richardson on his right and President Baker on his left. At the opposite end were Dr. "Jock" Harty, the team's coach, and W. H. MacInnes. Gathered in the intervening spaces were all the hockey players, who have been trying to win championships for Queen's this winter.

At the conclusion of the repeat speech-making was in order. "The King," "Queen's," "College Athletics," "The Honorary President," "The Coach of the Team," and other toasts were drunk with much heartiness, and speeches brimful of wit and humor were given by most of those present. Songs by Prof. Nicol, Prof. Baker, and Mr. Holbrook, also followed, the evening. At a seasonable hour, the happy gathering broke up with the best of wishes for success in Friday evening's contest, and thoughts of a happy evening, which will always remain green in the memory of those privileged to be present.

GERMAN-AMERICAN TARIFF

Doubtful if Any Arrangement Can Be Reached. Berlin, Feb. 6.—Inquiries made at the foreign office regarding the German-American tariff question, elicited the information that this government is very pessimistic, even doubting that it will be possible to get a provision arrangement from the United States which Germany will accept.

Germany is anxious to avoid a tariff war, and will go to great lengths in making concessions, which will render a temporary arrangement possible, till a treaty can be negotiated. It is evident, that the foreign office regards the suggestions hitherto made by the United States as unsatisfactory.

A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

Comes 9,000 Miles for Her Abandoned Child. London, Feb. 6.—Among the passengers from Liverpool for Canada on Saturday, was a woman who had traveled 9,000 miles for her child. The story is in the nature of a romance. Eighteen months ago, while living in Scarborough, she became destitute and left her child on the doorstep. The child was picked up and adopted by a farmer. The mother was arrested. Her sad story reached a British Columbia miner, who offered to marry the woman and send the money for her passage to her child in Britain, but after all these months came back for her child.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 6.—Frank Bednosky was restrained from beginning divorce proceedings when his wife signed an agreement to behave herself for ninety-nine years. The pair were brought together by James McQuade, Bednosky's attorney, after discussing the situation, the husband agreed to drop proceedings if his wife signed an agreement he dictated. She signed. It is as follows: "Now, this 13th day of January in the year of our Lord, 1906, I, Mrs. Felicia Bednosky, do hereby agree to withdraw all charges and cease against my husband, Frank Bednosky, and I also agree to keep quiet and not disturb him in his sleep or when he is awake, or annoy him, by incurring or starting lawsuits while in an angry mood. And further, I swear that I will love and obey my husband and cherish my home for a period of ninety years."

A NEW STEAMER Will Be Built at the Toronto Works.

The Marine Review reports that the Richelieu (Ontario) Navigation Company, Montreal, has let the contract for a twin-screw passenger steamer for the St. Lawrence Rapids line, to be 240 ft. over all, 41 ft. beam at main deck, 43 ft. beam over wales, and 6 ft. draught. She will have ninety-four staterooms, four parlors and two bathrooms. Her speed will be eighteen miles an hour. The promenade deck will have forward a larger observation space for passengers, and behind this a cabin for sheltering passengers in stormy weather. The space then in the stern will be devoted almost entirely to stateroom accommodation. The hurricane deck will be entirely open, with staterooms, and will be used as an observation room when running the rapids. The space then in the stern will be extended to the stern and be covered with a light awning roof. The steamer is expected to go into service during the coming season. She will be built by the Canadian Shipbuilding Company, Toronto. The Richelieu line is arranging also for a sister boat to the magnificent Montreal, for the Quebec route, and for another steamer for the Hamilton line.

An Event Of Fifty Years Ago.

Fifty years ago last week the big storehouse of D. and A. Shaw, was burned, together with a block or more of the surrounding buildings. The storehouse was situated where the C.P.R. ticket office now stands, and considerable business was done there. It was not insured. Owing to the stillness of the night, and the exertions of the firemen, the blaze was confined to the one block. Several vessels in the harbor had narrow escapes from destruction. Old inhabitants, who remember the big fire, state that nearly every man in town had free tobacco during the next month—the result of wholesale stealing during the fire at the storehouse.

But in seeking a cure loss of time and needless suffering will be caused if the right remedy is overlooked. The remedy that can always be depended upon to give quick relief and to cure in a short time is Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. It cures all rheumatic and neuralgic affections. It has been so long used and so thoroughly tested that no doubt whatever remains of its value. Take no alleged substitute, there isn't any. Price 50c. Sold only at Wade's drug store. CATARRH, FOUL BREATH

If There is a Constant Dropping of Mucous, if Your Breath is Foul, Hearing Poor—Its Catarrh. Fortunately there is a remedy, Catarrhose, which quickly cures all forms of Catarrh. It cures by Nature's method without the use of drugs or stomach dosing. You simply inhale its pleasant scented vapor into the nose, throat and lungs. It is anti-septic and kills germs, heats sore spots, relieves inflammation, stops coughing and drives every trace of the disease from the system. It is quite impossible for Catarrh to exist if Catarrhose is inhaled a few times daily. It at once destroys the germ of the disease and prevents it from returning. Thousands are annually cured by Catarrhose, and no matter how stubborn the case, we guarantee a permanent cure if Catarrhose is used according to directions. Among those recently cured by Catarrhose is Mrs. J. H. Brown, of Tempe, N.S., who says, "I used Catarrhose Inhaler five minutes every hour. The soothing, medicated air spread through the air passages of the throat, and touched the sore spots other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhose went just where it was needed. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that any cough, cold or catarrh can be quickly cured by Catarrhose."

How Red Rose Tea is Grown

TEA is a native plant of Northern India. Transplanted to Ceylon it lost much of its strength and richness, but gained in fragrance and delicacy. That is why Ceylon tea is not a strong tea. That is why I blend Indian and Ceylon teas together—that is how the strength and richness, fragrance and delicacy of Red Rose Tea are secured—that is why Red Rose Tea has that "rich fruity flavor."
