QUEEN'S CHAMPIONS OF THE COLLEGE UNION ONCE AGAIN.

Defeated McGill by 13 Goals to 3.—The Montreal Team Lacked the System and the Speed of Queen's.
 Queen's are again senior champions of the Canadian Intercollegiate Hockey Union. This honor depended upon last night's contest with McGill. The latter proved to be no match for Queen's, who gave them one of the worst drubbings ever administered to a hockey aggregation. McGill seems to have got down to the level of poor old Varsity, which has never yet won a hockey championship. Queen's tallied the unlucky score of thirteen to their opponents' three. It was a shame the way Queen's wiped out the Montreal team, which is composed of some fine individual players. Gilmour, the McGill captain, has played for two years with the champion Ottawa; Patrick is a noted Montreal forward; Lindsay, the goal-keeper, is an ex-Rat Portage player, and Raphael is no beginner.

 Queen's won by system and speed. Gilmour was no match for Richardson, who never played so hard before. Walsh was altogether too much for Patrick. Those two Queen's men out-shone all the others on the ice. There was little to choose between them. Richardson is a little faster, but Walsh makes up in clever stick handling. Crawford, the local St. George's junior, who sprang into senior company this winter, was more than the referee's check, Chambers, and though not feeling well, played no better game this season. He is going to be a star forward when he grows older and stronger. Dobson, on the wing, was a little outdone in the first half by Raphael, but in the second period he played stellar hockey. Sutherland is a better cover-point than Ross, and Macdonnell was more than Stevens' equal. Both Lindsay and Mills did exceptionally good work in goal. Lindsay saved McGill from a very much worse defeat. There were a number of hot shots sent at Mills, but they were all blocked. Nothing went off to even the teams. Raphael raised McGill's score to three, where it remained. Queen's added two more in the last few minutes, Richardson scoring both on passes from Dobson.

 Well on in the second half, the referee was going to take off Stevens for tripping, but Richardson, Queen's, requested that no more McGill men be penalized, a most unusual courtesy for a captain of a home team to extend to a visiting team.
 The scores were made as follows: Richardson, 5; Walsh, 4; Crawford, 3; Dobson, 1; Gilmour, 2; Raphael, 1. The players were ruled off the following number of times: Walsh, 2; Raphael, 2; Patrick, 2; Chambers, 1; As Quoc, 1; Macdonnell, 1 and a few who were so easily, it perhaps would be considered idle to say that the referee gave satisfaction. Anyway, he did, though a couple of his decisions with regard to penalties were questioned.
 The attendance of spectators was the largest that ever witnessed a match in the Kingston rink. Cats and small boys were perched on the rafters. There was great enthusiasm, and horns tooted incessantly. The number of tickets taken at the door was 1,685.
 The Canadian Intercollegiate Hockey Union was inaugurated in 1903. The championships have been won as follows: 1903, McGill; 1904, Queen's; 1905, McGill; 1906, Queen's.
 R.fero—Lou Burns, Varsity.

Regarding Success

Millionaires, we cannot all expect to be; we can, however, acquire a reasonable share of wealth if good judgment is used in our expenditures. Many people in their anxiety to become rich, throw discretion to the winds and risk their earnings in ventures which promise everything, but all too often give nothing in return. It is determined, systematic saving of small amounts that brings ultimate success.

as a captain. Nearly every time a McGill forward would make a rush to wards Queen's goal, he was pocketed by Queen's forwards and cover-point. The way Queen's defended their goal was a perfect system.

The Play In Brief.

It took Queen's about five minutes to open up the scoring. Richardson shot the first goal, on a pass from Dobson. He also put in the second on Crawford's pass. The third was scored by Crawford, who took Richardson's pass. McGill shot some good ones at Queen's goal, but all were turned aside. Once there was a sensational scramble in front of Queen's goal, with all the players involved, but the tension was relieved by Dobson, who emerged from the mix-up and went up the ice with the rubber. In another scramble, the Queen's goal-keeper was toppled over, and he in turn brought down a McGill man. A score by McGill looked likely, but the posts were cleared of danger. The fourth goal was scored by Richardson, who carried the puck up the ice himself and shot successfully. Half time: Queen's 4; McGill, 0.
 Queen's went at McGill in the second half with a vigor almost akin to viciousness. They skated the Montreal forwards off their feet, ripped up their defence, and added seven more goals in fifteen minutes. The seven were scored in this order: By Walsh on a pass by Richardson in front of the McGill goal; Walsh, on another pass by Richardson; Dobson, on a side shot; Crawford, twice, on passes from Richardson; Walsh, on pass of Richardson; Walsh, on a dash the full length of the ice, with the McGill forwards in hot pursuit, and very nearly scored.
 When Mills was ruled off, Macdonnell went in goal, and Walsh played point. McGill made an onslaught on the Queen's goal, and there was a general mix-up. Walsh got the puck and started up the ice, with the McGill forwards in hot pursuit, and very nearly scored.
 With the score so one-sided, the play lagged, and Queen's gave McGill a chance to do something. Gilmour put in the first for McGill, and a few minutes later added another. Ross, McGill's cover-point got hurt by a tumble, and had to retire. Crawford

BIG FIRE AT ASYLUM WORKSHOPS AND LAUNDRY DESTROYED.

Loss Will Amount to $10,000.—Blaze Originated in Laundry—City Fire Brigade Was Ordered Out by Mayor Mowat.

During Friday night fire occurred in one of the stone buildings at the rear of Rockwood Hospital, doing damage to the extent of eight or ten thousand dollars. When on his rounds, between 10:15 and 10:30 o'clock, last night, Night Watch Edward Mooney, discovered smoke issuing from the detached building, to the south of the main building, in which the laundry, outer shop, tailor's workshop and storeroom. The engineer was immediately notified and the whistle of alarm was blown. Attendants and officers were at once on the scene and the heroic work of saving the building and containing the fire to where it started, commenced. Within an hour of when the conflagration was discovered, a portion of the city fire brigade had arrived to give assistance, and Chief Elmer superintended operations. Flames and volumes of smoke poured from the windows and doors of the building. The fire apparently had its initiative in the lot of the laundry drying-room and here the fire was directed. The barring of the windows proved a great handicap to the fire ladders in the adjusting of the hose. Three streams of water from the ironing room gave way the partitions had been burned to cinders. In the upper story through the attic the flames had worked their way to the tailor's workshop. By three o'clock, this morning, after a terrific fight in the cold night, the fire was under control. The men were worn out with the intense cold, and fatigue; their water-soaked clothes freezing to them and chilling them to the bone. Fire ladders and all the employees of the building, including the officers, worked long and nobly.
 There was practically no danger of the main building catching fire had the fire gotten beyond control, as the exterior of the building is all stone and the roof slated.
 The damage by the ravages of the seething flames, which practically confined to the laundry, which is entirely gutted and nearly all the machinery a total wreck. The carpenter shop and tailor's workshop have suffered alone from the smoke and water. The storeroom at the north end of the building is unharmed. The cause of the fire is not known. At the time of the fire there was a large wash in the building which is lost. Though there were no serious accidents, several bad falls from the slippery roof of the building that occurred. John Scally, one of the most energetic of the fire fighters had a bad fall. While hitting the hose the smoke blinded him and his back was severely strained. He will be laid up for some time.
 The building was not insured, so that the government suffers a total loss.
 Many from the city went out, last night, and watched the conflagration.

Ordered Out By Mayor.

At half past ten o'clock the Kingston fire brigade received orders from Mayor Mowat to give aid to the asylum, an appeal for help having been telephoned by the superintendent of Rockwood to his worship. The Chatham engine and nine firemen, under Chief Elmer, at once proceeded to the scene of the fire, nearly three miles distant. About 1,200 feet of hose was taken along. Two streams were laid from the engine which pumped from the lake shore, and two from the main building. There is pretty good fire protection at the asylum in the way of hydrants, and a big fire could be handled with a couple of engines.
 Within four streams of the brigade and four streams of the city, pouring into the burning buildings, were barred, and under control. As the flames did not arrive till an hour after the fire broke out, the buildings were a mass of flames, but when the extra streams were applied, the blaze was confined to the interior. The windows on the various buildings were barred, and it was difficult work for the firemen to get the hose in. They had to stand on their ladders and push the hose through the bars, which, being hot, burned their hands severely. The brigade did not arrive back at their stations until five o'clock this morning. Two of the callmen also performed their services. No doubt the Ontario firemen will fully remember the services of the firemen in a substantial way. Fighting a fire through a cold night is not an en-

THE FIRE COMMITTEE FIREMEN WANT BENEVOLENT FUND.

The City Council to Be Asked to Inaugurate One—The Powers of the Chief—Question Raised as to More Street Lights.

The fire light committee had a session yesterday afternoon. Members present were Aids, Ross (chairman), Nickle, Millan, Bassam, Carson and Angrove.
 The chairman read a petition, which would be presented to the council on Monday evening. It was from the firemen, asking there a firemen's benevolent fund be established here as in other cities the city to pay in the fund $100 a year, each fireman to contribute yearly one per cent of his wages; all donations from fires to go into the fund. Provision would be made for paying men on sick leave, and on retirement, and also for payment in case of death.
 Eight tenders were received for the proposed accident insurance of $1,000 on the life of each fireman. As the committee was not decided upon what scheme the council should decide to adopt, the tenders were held over till next meeting.
 A communication was received from J. J. Behan, secretary of the separate school board, promising all assistance to the committee in carrying out a scheme of fire protection improvements to the city schools.
 There was some discussion on petitions for street lights, which had not been dealt with by last year's committee. Aid, Millan wanted to know if any more lights were to be added this year. Cataragi ward wanted a few. Aid, Bassam said he wanted ten for Victoria ward. The chairman was of opinion that more lights would be put up this year. The committee had yet to consider that question. On motion of Aid, Nickle, the petitions were filed until the committee decided as to what funds were available.
 This motion of Aid, Nickle was adopted, after some discussion on the request of Chief Elmer, in his report, for more power in regulating the brigade: That the chief's attention be drawn to the terms of the by-law governing his appointment, which covers all that he asks for. The by-law gives the chief more power than he is aware of.

Remarkably Low Amount.

The corporation labor pay list for the past fortnight amounted to $113, of which $71 is chargeable to the board of works. At present some tree trimming is being done in connection with the electric wires, and the pay list is therefore $24 larger than it otherwise would have been. Since the beginning of the year, the work on the streets has cost the board of works only about $190, a remarkably low sum for wintry weather.

Examine The Cells.

The medical health officer and sanitary inspector would do well to have a look through the police station there, provided by some persons for female prisoners, and these blankets, it is said, have not been washed in six years. The police were opposed to them being put out at all. In the interests of health, the place should be thoroughly examined.
