A NORMAL SCHOOL GOVERNMENT PROMISED ONE FOR KINGSTON.
So D. M. McIntyre Declared He Was Authorized to State—A Strong Delegation to See the Government.
That the aim of Kingston is to exert every possible energy in influencing the provincial government in establishing a normal school was keenly evident at the large and representative meeting of citizens held in the Board of Education rooms, Tuesday evening. Among those present were: Messrs. Edw. J. B. Pense, D. M. McIntyre, Mayor Mowat, Principal Gordon, Rev. D. Laing, H. A. Calvin, D. D. Rogers, Lieut.-Col. Taylor, Police Magistrate Farrell, Prof. Shortt, Prof. Knight, Prof. Dyde, Principal Ellis, Inspector Kidd, John McIntyre, Ald. Gaskin, Ald. Givens, Ald. R. F. Elliott, Ald. Ross, Ald. Rigney, Dr. Ryan, H. W. Richardson, J. H. Metcalfe, John Henson, R. J. McKelvey, Dr. Edwards, Trustees H. Mack, J. D. Thompson, A. W. McLean, Thomas Lambert, J. Macgillivray, Dr. Anglin, P. Hafner, J. G. Elliott, A. W. McLean, I. E. Martin, J. Laturney.
Letters of regret were read from Bishop Miller, Hon. William Hart, M.P., R. T. Walker and others, all promising help in securing the desired school.

In opening Chairman Kelly said for the trustees of the Board of Education it was a pleasure to give an account of their stewardship. They feel they have been criticised adversely in the matter at hand. It had been said in the press that the grits were the most energetic towards pushing this scheme. He could not see that there were any "grits" on the Board of Education; that politics were not entered into. He said the normal school at Ottawa was opened thirty-one years ago and the opinion of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie then was that they should be established at Ottawa, Kingston and London. Dr. Ryerson frequently said one would be here. As citizens we should unite and get a normal school for the city. It is said a grant is to be made to Queen's and if with that we can get the school it will occasion a great industrial boom.
D. M. McIntyre, said it was only right that the board should have done as it had to advance the educational facilities of the city. He had special views of finding out what the government intended to do, and he was authorized to give the information to the electors of Kingston during the recent campaign that a normal school will be built here, but he chose not to say it. Perhaps it would have paid him if he had done so. In 1873 it was promised that Kingston should have a normal school and the lot was reserved, on which is now Victoria school and the Collegiate Institute. He hoped Kingston would get it now.

Moved by Donald McIntyre, seconded by Alderman Givens: That this meeting of citizens of Kingston heartily endorse the policy of the Whitney administration which aims to elevate the standard of the public schools of the province especially in the rural districts and approve as a means to that end the proposed establishment of additional normal schools for the training of teachers and beg leave respectfully to submit for the consideration of the provincial government the exceptional advantages offered by this city as the site for one of said schools, both by reason of its being the acknowledged educational centre of Eastern Ontario and by reason of its geographical position and accessibility from all parts of the province by rail and water, and strongly urge upon the government the claims of the city in the premises.
In seconding the motion, Ald. Givens remarked he had no recollection of three or four being any politics in the Board of Education. As it was the intention of the Whitney government to establish these schools, he thought Kingston should have one. He was glad the premier's policy was being carried out, especially with regard to the rural schools. He thought Ontario schools were far from the best system of education. They fell far behind Germany, parts of the United States and Scotland. The rural schools should be combined. Four small schools could be combined into one proper, graded, school with three teachers. When a pupil reaches the fourth grade the break comes such a big one, in jumping to the high school, that he leaves school. A fifth grade should be established in his first year without paying any fees. He strongly endorsed the effort to get a normal school. The resolution was adopted.
Edw. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., remarked that he was sorry that politics had come into the present situation. He did not think that the house would be prejudiced because of the recent little political outburst. He acknowledged that the government has been good to Kingston. Kingston was the right place for a normal school, as there is an atmosphere here that would be of great influence to the teachers. He advised not to go to Toronto as a Kingston delegation only, but to enlist the district, councils, etc., to help with the influence. Kingston is now the natural centre for Eastern Ontario. He thought the fact that the school of science has been so successful would prove of much help in establishing the new school. He moved the following resolution:
Moved by Mr. Pense, seconded by Dr. Ryan, Whereas, Kingston is so propagandistically situated as to be easily accessible for teachers in training from a large district in Eastern Ontario, and has facilities for the accommodation of a large number of students—which there might be difficulty in obtaining in the smaller places—and as it is the local public schools are now capable of affording facilities for practice and observation work for teachers in training, and as it is the most important educational centre of Eastern Ontario, therefore he it resolved that in the opinion of this meeting, those advantages should be called to the attention of the government for their information in the selection of the locality in which the school for Eastern Ontario will be situated.

Dr. Ryan thought the establishment of a normal school a good idea. He said Kingston's value was that it is the centre of university life, which will have an influence on the teacher's life. In his opinion everyone should sink all differences in a case like this to advance for a common good. The doctor also discussed the teachers and the country lack of appreciation of their work.
Principal Gordon echoed what had been already said. He understood, Hon. Mr. Hanna had said that Kingston was to have a normal school, therefore Kingston must have her interest forcibly impressed at once. Mr. Pense was wise in suggesting getting the influence of the districts. To his mind the arguments could be entered into so that the university and school life could be somewhat affiliated and the influence very helpful upon the teachers. He understood that the normal school would come in contact with the university and would have their outlook broadened, such as they could have in a school elsewhere. He thought Kingston's claims are so urgent and excellent that there seemed nothing to do but present them to the government.
Inspector Kidd said the scheme regarding the normal schools had been merely outlined. The intention is to have normal schools, to accommodate 200 each. The models would be continued until the normals are ready. From the surrounding counties those likely to come to Kingston number over 200.
Col. E. Taylor remarked that the object of the meeting had his sympathy. Police Magistrate Farrell, as secretary of Queen's alumni, would bring the matter to the attention of all district magistrates to aid in the question. The motion carried.
Capt. Gaskin thought it of prime importance that a large deputation be sent to Toronto; "the larger the deputation the more it looks like something," he said. "If you want a pull with a government, send the men with the delegates pay their own way."
J. H. Metcalfe dwelt on the claims of Kingston as urgent and evident. He thought there was no doubt Kingston would get the school, and it was waste of time to talk.
J. D. Thompson, speaking relative to each one of the deputation paying their own way, thought it was not for the benefit of a few, but for the many, therefore, if money can be raised for political means it surely can be raised for city benefit.
John McIntyre thought it abundantly clear that we would have to make a strong case to the government. He urged combined civic and university forces in the matter.
Dr. Edwards said the city was not alone interested, but also the county of Frontenac and county of Lennox and Addington. They should co-operate.
Prof. Dyde thought the deputation should proceed from the district not alone as a civic body.
Mayor Mowat moved, that Chairman Kelly, H. W. Richardson, E. Ryan, John Gaskin, and John McIntyre draft a deputation of city and county men to wait upon the government.
J. G. Elliott was of the opinion that if we send men to do our business we should pay their expenses.
H. A. Calvin heartily concurred in what had been previously said.
D. D. Rogers said his interest was always warmly on educational lines. He said the time would come when ladies' college would also be here. In the rural districts he promised to raise his voice, wherever possible, on behalf of the normal school.
The committee was approved and authorized to proceed to name the deputation. It was also moved by Dr. Ryan, seconded by Ald. R. F. Elliott, and carried, that J. M. Farrell, Mayor Mowat, and T. J. Rigney and Francis King, be a committee to invite the aid of the graduates and alumni of Queen's, in securing the location of the normal school in Kingston.
The following is the deputation to go to Toronto: Chairman Kelly, Captain Gaskin, H. W. Richardson, Dr. Ryan, John McIntyre, Principal Gordon, D. M. McIntyre, J. H. Metcalfe, H. A. Calvin, Dr. Anglin, L. L. Henderson, Ald. Rigney, Dr. Spankie, Jas. Minnie, G. E. Kidd, Dr. Edwards, Captain Donnelly, John Sowards, E. King, Prof. Cappon, Col. Taylor, warden of county of Frontenac, warden county of Leeds, George Taylor, M.P., warden of Lennox.

KINGSTON TO GET ONE.
If the Ontario government fulfils its promise, Kingston will get a normal school. D. M. McIntyre, at a public meeting, last night, said that during the late bye-election he learned the mind of the government. He understood that the school would be located in Kingston. He said not so stated as he had not seen it as a fit time to declare the government's intention while an election was on, as it might have been construed into a bribe.

Mrs. Fay was remarkably successful in her reading of the thoughts of her audience and in her answers to questions. Not one miss was made. For instance, blindfolded and draped on the stage, she enumerated and answered the questions on the list indicated exactly where the persons were sitting. She told J. B. Walker that the question he had written and held in his hand was: "Where was I on the night of February 5th, 1906?" "You were in a corner," was the reply. "It was not in Kingston but in 'Portsmouth,'" came the rest of the answer, and the local master of the high court admitted its exactness.
Ex-Mayor McFarlane was told that he had lost a fountain pen, which was correct. The pen was in the theatre; it had been found on Princess street and the finder was in the audience and was advised by Mrs. Fay to return the pen to its rightful owner.
McMann admitted that Mrs. Fay read his question correctly when she said he was wondering if some investment he had made in Cuba would turn out all right. The reply was that it would, but a year would elapse before anything would be realized upon it. Kingston will have a summer hotel in 1905, and not before, "You are right that matter was dealt with by Mrs. Fay. The hotels used in the meantime will be make-shifts."
Who will be mayor of Kingston next year? was the question which Mrs. Fay read in the thoughts of another. "Who will be mayor next year?" she repeated. "All I can see is that Mr. Mowat will be again mayor." This reply brought forth applause.
A member of the Whig editorial staff was next to the last to have his troubled thoughts read. "You are wondering if Kingston will get a normal school," Mrs. Fay said, and the correctness of her reading was acknowledged. "Of course Kingston will get a normal school," she replied. The last prediction of Mrs. Fay was that Whitney would be the next premier of Ontario.
The performance is excellent in every way. Those assisting the Fays are the Royal Sisters—Blasians, whose native dances are delightfully done. Phil. Staats, is a first class monologue entertainer, and A. P. Rostow, another Russian, an equilibrist, gives a very fine exhibition.

NIGHT OF WONDERS
MRS. FAY MYSTIFIES HER AUDIENCE.
Thoughts of Prominent People Read and Answered—Predicted That Mayor Mowat Will Be Re-Elected Next Year.
Only standing room could be got at the Grand Opera House after eight o'clock last evening for the Fay performance of things mysterious. The statement of an eastern newspaper that the whole performance is a fraud is not accepted by 999 out of every thousand who witness it. In Mrs. Fay's occult demonstrations, showing the observance of matter to mind, the people no doubt wonder why a handkerchief is made to dance on the stage in full view of the audience, while draperies are used to conceal the movements of bells, stringed instruments, etc. The "conjuratrice" has not yet been put upon the stage that has fathomed the mystery of Mrs. Fay and Alibi-Humdrum. It would be too bad to solve them anyway, because the people would then know too much. The mid-air levitation of "Orlando" by John T. Fay is more satisfactory and mysterious given than by others who have presented that feature in this city.

The mayor is ready at any time to explain. Through his office, it was learned, last Monday, passed by the police commissioners.

PLACED IN PERIL
In Going to the Rescue of Drowning Batterymen.
The batteryman who was rescued on the evening of Jan. 7th, last, when two of his comrades were drowned in the harbor opposite the malt house, was Driver McNeil. On the request of Deputy Warden O'Leary, of the penitentiary, the city council will recommend J. Russell Forster, who saved McNeil, to the Royal Humane Society for recognition. Forster, when the three batterymen were captured, Mr. Forster and his wife were near at hand in a twelve-foot boat of canoe model. In approaching the men, Forster put his wife and himself in peril, but his little boat was being capsized, but succeeded in getting McNeil ashore by the latter gripping the bow of the little craft. Twice McNeil lost his hold, but was pulled back, and finally landed, exhausted, only for Mr. Forster's prompt action that the third batteryman would have been drowned.

See Ben Greer To-Night.
With the richest of costumes absolutely correct, with the stage set in Elizabethan fashion, and the admirable quality of the acting of his cast, Ben Greer's company, which numbers some forty competent artists, Ben Greer has created an impression that has been unequalled by any other producer of Shakespeare in this country. Speaking of the Rev. Talbot Smith, a well-known magazine writer in the United States, said:
"The effect upon the audience was unbounded. They sat like children listening to the tale, charmed, even fascinated, by the imagination was immeasurable. Every man or woman had to stand on his own merits. There were no lights to illumine or to obscure, no music to beguile the auditor's attention, no scenery to catch the wandering eye, and thereby distract the mind. As a matter of fact no individual actor was ever watched as the audience watched the members of Ben Greer's company. They are as shapely and graceful in movement as ever trod the stage, with voices, fine gestures, poses, movements." See them to-night at Grant hall in "Macbeth."
Cooke's Church Concert.
A most enjoyable concert was held last evening in Cooke's church school room, under the auspices of the choir. The following ladies and gentlemen participated in the programme: Messrs. Salisbury, Smith, Gage, Stanton, Nelson, Somerville, Newman and Lemmon, Mrs. A. D. Nelson, Misses Walker, Rasever, Purdy, Bureau, Pearson, M. Pugh, L. Pugh, E. Reid, and Master Ray Marchand, whose singing was beautifully sweet and clear. The decorations were well arranged by John Orr.
Attend The Meeting.
It is to be hoped that a large number of citizens will respond to the call of the mayor and attend the public meeting this evening. There are two important civic matters to be discussed, viz: the new hotel project and the city boys' reunion. Both concern the city very closely, and it is the duty, as well as the privilege, of every public spirited citizen to take part in the meeting. Let us, then, be up and doing.

A YEAR IN CENTRAL FOR KEEPING DISORDERLY HOUSE.
It Was a Sore Spot Morally and a Menace to the Community—A Lad to Be Thrashed for Thievery.
The scoop net of the law took a wide range during the past twenty-four hours to produce the several cases at the police court this morning. During last night the police had rounded up many a foul bird out of a cage of ill-repute. Elgin Hogie, keeper of this house, on Upper Brook street, and his several friends, occupied the attention of the magistrate for some time. The evidence pointed to the fact that Hogie's house was bad to the core and that midnight proceedings there, on Tuesday, were disgraceful.
In summing up, Magistrate Farrell said to the prisoner:
"I have a doubt if you are the keeper of the house complained of, frequented day and night, at all hours, by men and women. It has gained the character of what it is. Your house is not only a sore spot, morally, but has been a danger to the neighborhood. This has been all brought about by your inordinate desire for liquor. I sentence you to one year in Central prison."
James Crozier, also came under the hammer of the law. He said he was merely the housekeeper, and did not associate with the crowd at the house. Nevertheless, evidence pointed to the fact that he was quite as big a toad in the puddle as any of the quartette. His share was $10 and costs or one month.
William Bird was also included in this disgraceful carousal, and was fined $20 and costs or two months in jail.
Agnes Kelly, the woman in the case, was remanded until February 16th.
Thomas Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a cheap watch from a Princess street second-hand dealer. W. F. Nickle appeared for the prisoner. The magistrate discharged the wayward youth, as it was understood he was to receive a thrashing.
Herbert Courtney charged Robert Jamieson, a batteryman, with abusive language. After several witnesses had been examined and told of the episode which occurred on Sunday night, the case was adjourned till Thursday morning.

SYDENHAM CARNIVAL.
Quite a good time was enjoyed at the Sydenham carnival on February 8th. "Major" Blesley had the ice in excellent shape, on his Imperial rink, and spared no effort to give everybody good time. A good number turned out in fancy costumes. Good prizes had been offered and were won as follows: Ladies, first, Beatrice Grant; second, Gertrude Laidley; third, Miss Ethel Moore. Girls, Alven Towell, Boys, first, Chris. Astley; second, Harry Lettice; third, Wallace Spafford. In the boys' race, G. J. Harvey won. The judges were Rev. Mr. Astley and Moses Spafford. This carnival is but the beginning and another on a much larger scale will occur towards the end of the month.
Miles Parrott, Queen street, removed to the General Hospital, last week, is sinking rapidly.

DYSPEPSIA-PROOF.
How Any Meal Can Be Thoroughly Enjoyed by Any Stomach.
Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their antagonists turn out to be the searchlight, and the proof of merit will lie in being able to stand the flash.
It was only in this way that Mr. White ever knew that dyspepsia was one of Mr. Black's worst enemies. Sitting face to face at a two-by-four table, he handed his afflicted friend the bill of fare:
Oyster Cocktail with Sauter Olives.
Boston Clam Chowder.
Strained Gumbo.
Sirloin Steak with Mushrooms.
Roast Beef Hash.
Boiled O Tongue with Sauterkraut.
Lobster à la Newburg.
Baked Pork and Beans.
Combination Crab Salad.
Hot Mince Pie.
Mr. White ordered a "little of each." Mr. Dyspepsia Black, ordered crackers and a glass of milk. "I had such a big breakfast this morning," he said, "that I'll just take a bite to keep my company." But Mr. White could not be deceived. "Mr. Black, why don't you stand the gleam. Mr. Black, why don't you say you'll always have and be done with it? You'll dyspepsia have that hungry look anyhow as long as you have dyspepsia. Now listen. My stomach at one time. But now I can eat anything, at any time. For instance, this clam chowder or sirloin steak or even the lobster would be just as welcome to my stomach as your crackers and milk. You don't realize how this dyspepsia business is robbing you of your spirit of your energy and ability to think quickly. You can't help notice it. You haven't the cheer and sociability you had three months ago. Now I'll tell you what to do." and therewith the cheerful Mr. White took a vial from his pocket, and extracted wee tablet. There, before, is a tablet that contains an incredible one grain of which does 3,000 grains of food. For even the worst dyspeptic it's the only thing that really gives relief. The reason is it relieves the stomach. The reason is it relieves the stomach and stimulates the gastric juice. I can't get along without them. They are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them anywhere on earth for 50c. a package. Yes, it is true. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets absolutely stop heartburn, nausea, indigestion, dyspepsia of the worst type, sour stomach, bloating, and all eruptions and irritation and freshen your system, and invigorate the stomach. They cheer you up, and make you feel all the good there is in your food. You will forget you ever had a stomach to worry you.
