FASHION'S FORM.

Here's An Easily Made Dressing Saque.

Since most women fashion their own dressing saques and negligees, it is well to consider models that are satisfactory in effect. Such a one is shown in the illustration. The back is two-thirds fitted, and the front shirred into a short yoke, falling loose from that point. A broad sailor collar gives a simple but smart finish. One of the new French flannels or challis may be effectively used in this model, a ring-dot pattern in blue or cream ground being the one illustrated. Broad bands of blue taffeta silk outline the sailor collar and finish the belt and sleeves. The jacket is so well shaped that it holds its form unlined, and may be made with a seam simply notched, which will subtract materially from the labor.

In Training.

A member of the bar of Baltimore relates how a witness in a trial in that city once "got back" at the lawyer who had been endeavoring to "settle" the witness by a severe cross-examination.

At a certain point in the proceedings the witness suddenly interrupted the cross-examining lawyer by exclaiming: "Look here! You needn't think you kin rattle me by asking them questions."

"No?" was the sarcastic rejoinder.

"No, sirree!" came in emphatic tone from the refractory witness. "Your questions don't bother me at all, I've raised three sons and two grandsons, an' I've been in training a good many years."—Inter-Ocean.

Health Means Success.

It's impossible for a man or woman to be a business success without health. A strong body and an active mind go together. Wade's Iron Tonic gives both. Try them. In boxes 25c., at Wade's Drug Store. Money back if not satisfactory.

New Centrepieces.

Some of the new centrepieces are made of fine lawn, almost as delicate as very thin handkerchiefs. They are often a yard and a half square, and bordered with exquisite Valenciennes lace and inset with a circle of the same kind of lace.

DOES YOUR HEART ACHE?

DR. AGNEW'S CURE FOR THE HEART WILL STOP THE PAIN

Is there palpitation—Is there fluttering—Is your breath short—Is it hard to find your pulse sometimes—Do you have smothering spells—Do your feet and ankles swell—Do you have fainting turns—Do you have nightmares—Do you have pain in the left side, shoulder or arm—Ever experience great hunger and exhaustion—Do you have chilly sensations? Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has saved thousands of sufferers, and it can help and cure you; but you cannot afford to toy with heart troubles, so if you have any of the heart symptoms to-day then to-day is the day to put yourself in touch with a remedy—this great heart treatment that never fails.

"I was under treatment," says Mr. A. Lavers, of Collingwood, Ont., "with some of the best physicians in London (England) for what they diagnosed as incurable heart trouble. I resorted to various remedies, but to no purpose. As a drowning man grasps at a straw I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first bottle relieved me greatly, two bottles took away all traces of my heart trouble."

BOOM IN ENGLISH MUSICAL COMEDY.

Mantell Scores Saakespeare Hit in Baltimore—Viola Allen Will Revive Her Shakespeare Plays Next Season.

Robert Mantell has scored a big Shakespearean hit in Baltimore. Last Monday "The Gingerbread Man" opened a two weeks' run at the Chicago Grand.

The London Gaiety company plan to visit New York next fall with "The Spring Chicken."

Miss Viola Allen next season will revive "Twelfth Night," "A Winter's Tale" and "Cymbeline." A company headed by Miss Pilar Morin is touring the English provinces in "Leah Kleschna."

"Der Kilmeterfresser," will be presented in English next spring. It will be called "The Road Burner."

H. B. Irving and Constance Collier are about to produce for a season of matinees "The Sin of David," by Stephen Phillips.

The Shuberts are anxious to have Maxine Elliott join their galaxy of stars, but the risk of incurring syndicate displeasure holds the actress back.

J. K. Hackett, who has secured the western rights to "The Little Grey Lady," recently produced in New York, will send a company out in the spring at an early date.

It is likely that when Forbes Robertson fully recovers his health he will produce at the Scala theatre, London, a play founded on W. J. Locke's novel, "The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne."

"The Jury of Fate," by the author of "Leah Kleschna," has been shelved for a time, but is expected to appear after a short and disastrous run in London, and she will be succeeded by "A Gilded Fool," with Nat Goodwin in the leading part.

There is a boom in English musical comedy. Klaw & Erlanger will produce "The Orchid," as well as "The Spring Chicken," the Shuberts intend to put on "The Blue Moon," and to revive "Veronique."

"Judith," the new play which Mme. Bernhardt will produce on an elaborate scale, as soon as she returns to Paris in the spring, is by an American, Dr. Paruch of New York, who writes under the name of E. Benedict Demarmay.

"The Road Burner," a farce that has been running for three or four weeks at the Irving Place theatre, New York, will be translated, and presented by an English company next season, under the direction of Klaw and Erlanger.

Peter F. Dailey, in "The Press Agent," has brought his New York company to a close. The English company playing "Veronique," has sailed for home, but a piece will be presented later with an American company, and a United States instead of a British atmosphere.

At the Scala theatre, London, "The Pleasers," a society for encouraging budding dramatists, presented "The Firefly," a strong story of Russian life, by William Toynbee. The play has been declined by all the prominent London managers, yet it made a pronounced hit.

Henri de Vries, the Dutch actor, who made such a success in New York in "A Case of Arsenic" in which he played the seven parts himself, has made his first appearance in vaudeville, at the Colonial, New York. It is said he is drawing the largest salary ever paid any actor in a variety house.

Erie broke out among the scenery on the stage of the New Casino during the performance of "The Earl and the Girl," one evening last week. A panic was averted by the coolness of the players, especially Eddie Foy, who was also on the stage at the time of the big fire in Chicago.

Barrie's "Peter Pan," now running in New York, with Cecelia Loftus in the name part. The London Chronicle says of this talented young lady: "Miss Cecelia Loftus looking delightfully boyish, made a splendid Peter Pan, fresh and fine, with many a gentle tear in her voice, which brought the tears to our eyes."

"The Bishop's Carriage" has been withdrawn as Miss Mabel Tallalere, who is only sixteen, and who was playing the leading role, was found unable to handle the strongest scenes. Rather than substitute an older actress, Mr. Tyler, of Lieber & Co., is said to have disbanded the company.

The Australian manager, George Musgrove, is trying to obtain the American rights of the piece so that his wife, who made a hit in it in Australia, may play it in this country.

M. Sardou has just completed a new play—a comedy—which is as yet only in manuscript, but which will shortly be produced in Paris, and later, in an English dress, with Mr. Sardou hopes, Miss Ellis Jeffreys, in the character of the heroine. The new work is a reversal of the idea of the same author's masterpiece, "A Scrap of Paper," which he wrote forty years ago. Once again there is a missing "scrap," but this time the heroine in search of it seeks it in order to prove herself guilty long ago of a love affair. She wishes to prove the existence of this that she may demonstrate the loyalty of a later love.

Smallest in the World.

The smallest army in the world is that of Monaco, with seventy-five guards, seventy-five carabinieri and twenty officers. Next comes that of Luxembourg, with 135 gendarmes, 170 volunteers and 39 musicians. In the republic of San Marino, they can put in the field nine companies, comprising 950 men and 98 officers, commanded by a marshal. In Liberia the most striking feature is the proportion of officers to privates. There are 1,000 of the former and only 700 of the latter. None the less, the republic issues proclamations of neutrality when wars break out between the great powers of Europe.

PRETTY THEFTS IN PRISON.

Convicts Affect Kleptomania to Have Sentence Altered.

Kleptomania in prison are not common, but prisoners sentenced for a series of petty thefts will sometimes continue their practice in jail in order to lead the authorities to think they ought not to be treated like common felons, but removed to the criminal lunatic asylum. Wormwood Scrubbs prison was once very much troubled by an aggravated case of the kind.

The man had pleaded kleptomania at his trial, but all in vain, and five years was the sentence passed upon him. He had not been long in Wormwood Scrubbs when all sorts of unconsidered trifles began to disappear in the most mysterious manner. For a long time the identity of the thief was unsuspected. But one day a prisoner employed in the printing room lost a button off his trousers, and the thief, who worked in the same department, offered to let him have another. But it proved to be the identical button that had been lost, and thereupon the thief fell under suspicion, which was, of course, the object of his noble offer. On his cell being searched a most extraordinary collection of articles was found in his mattress. The list of items would fill half a column, but the most common things were buttons, nails, scraps of soap, rags and fragments of wood. At one fell swoop, indeed, everything that had been missed during months past were recovered.

The thief, instead of being sent to Broadmoor, was punished, but nevertheless he resumed his practice, and he continued his efforts to escape them until he was transferred to Portland in the usual course, when he suddenly and completely reformed.

THE FIGHT FOR YOUTH.

Struggle Against Age Isn't Worth Trouble.

I have very little regard for the fight against time which spreads itself on a strife with gray hairs and wrinkles. There used to be a picture published as an advertisement in which an elderly woman had one side of her face all ironed out, smoothly, while the other was wrinkled and worn. The wrinkled side was the more pleasing. As we grow older every line in the countenance should tell a story of loving deeds. We are making for our selves in youth the mark we shall wear to the very end. Every fretful, discontented, dissatisfied expression writes itself upon the face, so that the sweetest and ripest nature will have the rarest loveliness when they grow old. A woman is as old as she looks and as old as she feels. A sign of our increased health and vitality to-day is found in the fact that a woman of fifty looks about as old as a woman formerly looked at thirty-five, and many an active woman of eighty has the vigor that was formerly common at sixty. The mile stones need frighten nobody. Older people are no longer put in a corner, nor are they expected to hang the chimney corner. It is a woman's obligation to be charming to her latest day.

Farmers Need Birds.

German farmers are trying to induce the smaller birds to return to their old haunts about the fields, and for this purpose are setting out boxes and other artificial devices to serve the birds for homes. The farmers need the birds to destroy the insects, but also because the direct slaughter, but also because the old trees, in the decayed hollows of which they built their nests, the old cosses which they haunted, and both of which were prolific in insects, together with the stagnant pools which yielded them food in abundance, are all disappearing before the closer cultivation of the present time.

Going To Get Hit.

An Irishman was walking along a road alongside a links, when he was suddenly struck between the shoulders with a golf ball. The force of the blow knocked him down, and when he got up he observed a golfer running toward him. "Are you hurt?" queried the player. "Why didn't you get out of the way?" "And why should I get out of the way?" asked Pat. "I didn't think there was any assassin around here." "But I called 'fore,'" that is a sign for you to get out of the way." "Oh, it is, is it?" said Pat. "Well, then, when I say 'fore' it's a sign that you are going to get hit on the nose."

King John's Fishery.

A London syndicate has purchased the thirty years' lease of the Lax Weir at Corbally, in the Shannon, near Limerick, for £13,000. The Irish Times says. The fishing weir was used and named by the Danes when they occupied Limerick, and a charter exists of a date prior to Magna Charta by which King John granted this fishery to William de Broca. In the reign of Edward III, the fishery went to the Limerick corporation, who disposed of it about twenty years ago.

William Clare, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McKay, Smith's Falls, passed away on Saturday. The family have been sorely afflicted the past two months, three of their children having suffered from typhoid fever, the youngest being still quite ill.

Dr. E. G. Cooper, Calabogie, suffers from typhoid fever.

The Best Is Cheapest.

"Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)," is the purest and best form in which Ozone is put up. Each bottle of it contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King," the well-known tonic laxative, which should always be used with Ozone.

By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)," you get Ozone in its most efficient form, and you get ably twice as much of it for your money as of other brands. You also get the package of "Celery King" absolutely without charge for it.

No other brand of Ozone offers this advantage because no other firm can give you the "Celery King." That is the only way to procure the full value of your Ozone purchase.

"Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)," is fifty cents and one dollar at your druggist, and if he hasn't it, the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg.

WHAT HAS BEEN GAINED.

By the Recent Insurance Investigation.

Wall Street Journal.

People who are afraid of an investigation because it might disturb confidence and unsettle business by revealing unpleasant truths may study with profit the investigation of the Equitable, first by the Erick committee, second, by the insurance commissioner, third by the Armstrong committee, and fourth by the chartered accountants appointed by President Morton.

A saving in cost of administration of $1,200,000 a year.

Reduction in deposits in banks and trust companies from $36,000,000 to $11,000,000, this resulting in:

A gain in income from investments of $500,000.

The policyholders of the Equitable would seem to have every reason for rejoicing that the company was investigated.

What have those engaged in the insurance as a life business gained from the recent investigations?

A magnificent proof of the solvency of the companies, a fact that cannot fail to increase public confidence in insurance.

What have policyholders generally gained?

Better and more economical administration which will result in cheaper insurance, cheaper not necessarily by lower premiums, but by increased dividends. Better insurance loans and government supervision of insurance.

What has the world of business gained?

Higher standards for the performance of duty by trustees of other people's money.
