TWO ANNIVERSARIES

THE 107TH YEAR IN ST. ANDREW'S HISTORY.

Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Toronto, Was the Preacher—Principal Gordon Preached on Christian Union in Brock Street Methodist.

Yesterday, the 107th year in the history of St. Andrew's church was observed by special services, at which Rev. Dr. Milligan, of old St. Andrew's church, Toronto, was the preacher. There were large congregations morning and evening.

At the evening service Dr. Milligan's text was Luke xix, 34: "The Lord hath need of him"—the answer the disciples gave when asked why they took the colt of an ass to their Master. The colt symbolized the mission of Christ. Instead of entering Jerusalem on a prancing steed, He comes on a colt, because he is meek and lowly. Man was thus to learn the character of Christ's kingship. The use of the colt teaches also that there is nothing useless or low. Man is wasteful, but God is thrifty and economical. God makes nothing in vain.

In these days, said Dr. Milligan, in a reference to revivals, we magnify what bulks. We go in for crowds. We think God is not an artist unless He uses a big brush, just as Elijah thought. God has a plan, and He makes the lower creatures do what we cannot. If He can make so much out of a lower animal, how much more serviceable should we be. The preacher said that the world had suffered more by men thinking too little of theinselves than it had by men over-rating themselves. Too many sold themselves for a mess of pottage, and did not give to the world what they owed it. Whatever one does should be done to the glory of God. Christ came to teach us to honor all men and all things God made.

"I don't believe in special services in the sense of revivals. We had them in Toronto, where they stampeded the people, got them to go forward and counted converts by the head. That is Mount Carmel (where Elijah thought to see God in the thunder and the earthquake)—and not the still small voice."

In conclusion, Dr. Milligan spoke of St. Andrew's anniversary. A peculiar feeling came over him when he visited Kingston, in which he lived in his youth. It was a feeling of sadness, for so many he knew in the older days were here no more, and as the years went on he longed for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still.

Brock Street Church.

Brock Street Methodist church celebrated its twenty-eighth anniversary, on Sunday, and at the morning service Principal Gordon delivered a plainly simple, yet eloquent sermon on "Christian Union," taking for his text St. John xvii, 20: "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe in me through their word." A very large congregation was present, despite the somewhat stormy weather conditions.

Principal Gordon confined his remarks to the efforts of the Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists towards uniting as one body. He thought that the division in the Protestant churches at present was from the fact that some Christians held that certain truths or liberties must be more fully employed. His opinion was that in separating from the Church of England the Methodists thought they must have scriptural liberties and emphasize certain truths, so with the Congregationalists. He felt that those enjoying these truths and religious liberties could now unite and enjoy them as one. The Presbyterians and Congregationalists have about the same doctrine, except the Congregationalists think one congregation should rule within itself, whereas the Presbyterians have the presbyteries. He declared the Methodists and the Presbyterians were drawing together as each acquires a nearer and fuller grasp of the truth. Hymns are a factor; a common property and a common inspiration. In the missionary field, fellow-workers, brought together, see the good in each other. Reference was made to the conference of the three churches, when all the ministers seemed ready and willing to unite as one, so by a united effort a wider blessing may be secured and these churches might render more abundant service to God.

Rev. W. H. Sparling, B.A., president of the Montreal conference, and pastor of Queen street church, was the preacher in the evening. The choir rendered effective service all day.

GAMBLING WITH DEATH.

What Many of Us Are Doing Three Times a Day.

For everything we get something is taken away. Every act pulls two ways. Some men in power dole out their souls for it. They can't have soul and power at the same time.

And so, in this quick-living age, most of us can't have energy and health at the same time. One or the other must be lost, and it is usually health.

We know we are doing wrong and would like to reform, but we have a morbid fear of being laughed at if we aim to live and eat according to conscience and good sense.

Some of us break away for awhile and enslave ourselves to a diet. We read about the hardy Scotsman being fed on porridge and oatcake, making soldiers of muscle and dash, and how Caesar's army was fed on corn. But the diet doesn't last long. We quickly swing back into the great line, eating and drinking to fulness like the rest, eating anything and everything, at any time, and any way we find it. We say "what is a stomach for if it isn't to obey the palate."

But there is really no one rule applicable to everybody's stomach. What one man may eat another may not.

But the dyspeptic should remember that the death list has a dark shadow hovering over it with a long bony finger to "died of heart disease." Physicians will tell us that there are few cases of heart disease that do not come from a stomach derangement.

At every meal we may be brewing for ourselves a terrible case of dyspepsia. It may come upon us after breakfast to-morrow morning, or after that oyster supper to-morrow night.

Acute indigestion means that you have even chances for death or life. That's the gamble you are taking. That precious gastric juice decides, as a rule, whether you continue to live or not.

Therefore, if you feel your food lies like a "lump of lead" on your stomach, beware! Your gastric juice is weak. It can't dispose of the food in time to prevent fermentation. Take something that will do it effectively, and at once. Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most powerful tablets in the world for the relief of all kinds of stomach trouble, nausea, indigestion, the worst cases of dyspepsia, fermentation, bloaty feeling, sourness, heartburn and brash.

One grain of an ingredient of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. Your stomach needs a rest at once. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will relieve your stomach of more than two-thirds of the work it has to do, digesting perfectly whatever food there is in your stomach.

You can't do your work well, or be cheerful, or have energy or vim or ambition, when your stomach is bad. Make yourself feel good after a hearty meal, feel good all over, clear your mind and make you enjoy life, by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Give your stomach a rest, so it can right itself, then you need fear nothing. You can get these tablets anywhere for 50c. a package.

Youths In Police Court.

Three youths figured in the police court for trespassing on the M. T. company's barges. These young lads, two aged seventeen and one more tender in years, twelve, have with other comrades, (who managed to make good their escape, when the capture was made on Saturday), for some time past, been using the cabin of one of the boats, and the company's fuel, spending their spare time in friendly games of cards. They visited the club once too often. "Five dollars and costs each," said Magistrate Farrell, this morning, to the two older culprits. The younger boy was dismissed with a warning.

At The First Sneeze.

When you sneeze, shiver or have the dry sensation in the nostrils that usually marks the beginning of a cold, begin taking Wade's Laxative Cold Cure Tablets at once and you will have no cold. You will save a couple of weeks' discomfort as well as the danger that accompanies all colds. In boxes, 25c. Sold only at Wade's Drug Store. Money back if not satisfactory.

Repairs To Hay Scales.

Temporary repairs are being made to the haymarket scales, to do the business while the rush is on. This morning twenty-five loads of hay and straw came to the city to be weighed. The scales can be made to do the work until the tenders for the new ones are put into the city property committee. It is the intention to build a side office to the new scales, similar to the wood and coal offices about the city, and thus do away with the huge barn-like structure of the past.

To Have A New Council.

Owing to some irregularity or informality the candidates elected at the late municipal elections in South Marysburgh all resigned. A new election has been ordered, to take place to-day. The candidates are: For reeve, David J. Love and Walter Striker; for councillors, Robert Brown, Albert Collier, Peter Collier, Samuel S. Farrington and John McCaw.

Great Bargains All Month.

Look at Prevost's window 35 Brock street, for a fine display of new imported tweed suiting. Suits made to order for $15, guaranteed a first-class fit. They are really worth $20 a suit. Now is your time to leave your order, and save money.

Buy Burtch's horse radish at your grocery; ready for use. Pure and fresh, 10c. a bottle.

WITH THE FAYS.

The Attendance Keeps to Top-Notch.

At the Saturday matinee and again at the evening performance of the Fays, large audiences were in evidence. The specialties which had been on the boards for the entire week were given. Mrs. Fay's answers to the questions written by her audience proved as unique as usual and though more inclined to be of a personal nature, were a source of amusement and entertainment. "The building of Kingston's new normal school will be started late in the summer," asserted Mrs. Fay to a question along that line. "Your two brothers will be successful ranchers," and the questioner admitted her brothers intended going to the North West. Mrs. Fay had her usual faint after the "Thaumaturgy" act and the curtain rolled down.

The Sporting Deacon.

Marks Bros. open on Tuesday night with the farce comedy, "The Sporting Deacon." It is a hummer. The specialties are certainly a feature with the company.

One ladies' ticket, given free for Tuesday night only, with every 25c. ticket purchased before seven o'clock.

Close Of St. Mary's Bazaar.

The St. Mary's bazaar, held in the city hall all last week, was a decided success. His worship, Mayor Mowat, was present at the close on Saturday evening. In an eloquent speech he congratulated all connected with the affair. The spacious hall was crowded to its utmost capacity every night during the week. The congregation feels proud over the great success that attended the bazaar.

The tickets that claimed the prizes were No. 13,048, held by Miss M. Davis, of Belleville, who won the gold watch; No. 12,563, held by Mrs. O'Connor, Allandale, won the dictionary; No. 13,166, held by Francis Gleeson, Napanee, the works of Shakespeare, and No. 5,161, held by Miss Nellie G. Scanlon, of Westport, the album.

Saturday Curling.

Kingston came out four points ahead in the curling match with Rockwood in the Dr. Clarke tankard series, on Saturday night. Rockwood still leads by fifteen, with one game to play.

Kingston rink, No. 1—E. J. Reid, L. L. Henderson, W. B. Dalton; J. B. Walkem, skip—22.

Rockwood rink, No. 1—C. F. Smith, W. R. Dick, T. McCammon; W. Carr, skip—16.

Kingston, rink, No. 2—A. Palmer, F. Lyons, T. Slater; A. Strachan, skip—18.

Rockwood rink, No. 2—R. J. Lawless, W. Potter, W. Fenwick; J. Davison, skip—17.

Saturday Midnight Fire.

Just before midnight, Saturday, fire was discovered in the rear portion of the Ontario Powder company's office on Brock street and the fire brigade was telephoned for. The blaze was in a frame extension used as a storeroom, and had caught from the furnace which was directly underneath. Before the fire was extinguished it had given the floor and walls a good scorching. The office portion of the building was unharmed. The loss will be $150, which is covered by insurance.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

ADDRESS BY JOHN Z. WHITE CHICAGO.

Before Queen's Alma Mater Society, on Saturday Evening—Nothing Should Interfere With the Right of Man to Work.

Forcible and persuasive, with an underlying pungent vein, John Z. White, Chicago, displayed all the attributes of a talented and clever speaker in his address to the Alma Mater Society, of Queen's in Old Convocation hall on Saturday evening. Mr. White devotes his time to moral and economic righteousness and is touring Canada on the lecture platform. A large male audience greeted him, Saturday night, when he dealt, clearly, with "The Right To Work." He remarked that his subject was a matter, at present, engaging many on the other side. He said that fact that trade unions do forcibly prevent many who would work, was an interference which civilized society would not tolerate. No one may properly be allowed to interfere with another. He thought the law interfered in the same manner as do unions. This being the case could one support the trade unions? Is it not a fundamental rule that he who enters the court must approach the bar with clean hands. To his mind it had been shown that throughout the world's history we must do right to keep from doing wrong; whereas, the other side of the question is to be content with the position in which God has placed us.

In connection with this, by way of illustration, a rich little episode was related. An old German, who had as not yet mastered the English language, after losing his wife by death, was asked: "Was she reconciled?" Quickly came the reply, "Reconciled? Mine Got! she had to be!"

To bear out his assertion that progress is never brought about save by change, Mr. White cited the fact of the African negroes being in the same state of civilization to-day as centuries ago, because of no changes made in their life. He thought we should never be content with anything; we should be patient under adversity, but not content. He declared there was a fundamental contradiction in the law, generally, not speaking of the statutes, etc. By illustration: Suppose the law gives a man a dollar which he did not earn, then it must have been taken from some one else. You cannot give privileges to one, without taking from another. He urged equality—no right to be claimed which is not extended.

The speaker thought it a vital question, as to who ought to become the owner of the thing produced by labor, and answered, "the one who produces." That is only the basis of English justice. Reference was made to the mechanics' lien law, where a man, not getting his pay can place a lien on his employer's property so it cannot be sold without paying him.

Said Mr. White: "You cannot buy labor—but you can buy and sell the product of labor." He remarked that it, seemingly, was becoming fashionable not to do the work, but the worker.

It was agreed that we could show a trades' union to be tyrannical, but he thought the union could justly retaliate where it found tyranny. He thought there could be no ground for complaint, with the establishment of a fair field.

We must work to have bread—everyone needs food, clothing and shelter to live. One man, however, may work and make the bread, while another eats it. Some one must work that these things can be produced, together with the labor of men and the natural elements, called land. All possess labor, but not all land and as the right of self-preservation is primary, underlying all civilization, what shall happen to those not owning land? They must work to secure it. The product of human toil is divided into two, those owning land, and those who do the work. He said all social reformers have recognized that situation, in seeing the individual ownership of land and advocating common ownership. He thought private property more necessary, to produce the best expenditure of effort, and if this is essential have not all the right to work? The speaker declared that if we had the right to work, it came from God and no one had the right to interfere, therefore it was wrong to drive a man from work.

Speaking in relation to single tax, he asserted there was nothing to tax but the wealth of the producer. All taxes finally rest on ground rent or taxes. Nature returns wealth for labor. We buy land now, to try and get rent from it. The government must have revenue, and to get that the taxes are put on land. In Chicago three-quarters of the land is vacant, preventing production. The speaker suggested that each city be given the right to levy taxes for its local revenue, then labor will prosper. Instead of the seller seeking the buyer, he thought it would be vice versa. If you want air you merely breathe, but if you want land how different! The landlord says every time something else is taxed a dollar goes in his pocket; here lies the explanation of the tariff tax. So far as taxes are laid for revenue they cannot be laid any place but in the land. Everyone is quite willing for an unjust taxation, providing they are not touched.

In conclusion, Mr. White thought the only argument against his position was that we have always thought in another way and to alter the habit of thought is hard work and hard work is disagreeable. This effort to grasp the new industrial industry and take the tax off industry and put it on land is to destroy the value of land. If our right trespasses on your property, then there is no moral right.

On the subject "Righteousness Exalteth a Nation," John Z. White, Chicago, gave a splendid address to a large congregation at the Sunday evening service in Sydenham Street Methodist church. He referred to the Babylonians' ideal, superceded by the Mosiac, and thought Christ's law of love was higher than the Mosiac. He said the second commandment was Christ's answer to all people who thought human brotherhood was impossible in man's every-day relations. He denounced men who held the utilities of the world for their own benefit, rather than to satisfy human needs. Slavery had vanished in response to the people's desire, and he thought war and human greed would cease when the people so wished.

Wednesday night the Sons of England are holding a social and dance in their hall. A good time is assured for those attending.

One of the Toronto Old Boys, when on the excursion to Kingston last July, lost on the train or in the city, a buch of keys. Will the finder kindly communicate with the Whig?

The city property committee was called to meet at three o'clock this afternoon, to take action on the tenders for rebuilding the scale house on market No. 2. James Daley, lessee, was to appear before it.

Meetings of the waterworks' committee and board of health were called for this afternoon. The latter was to further consider the case of the milk vendor whose license has been temporarily withheld.

The special revival services of Brock Street Methodist church will begin on Sunday next. Rev. Dr. Eby will be assisted by Rev. Walter Russell, B.A., Toronto. The morning service will be held in the church, and the afternoon and evening meetings in the Grand Opera House.

Two tramps, pleased to name their homes as Brockville, were the occupants of the downy beds in the police station last night. These two members of the Canadian Association of Railroad Track Walkers, gave it as their determination to continue their constitutional until Oshawa was reached, where they hoped to get work.

"Three Swallows."

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey, famous for over a century. Of highest standard of purity. Distillers to His Majesty the King.

Threatens To Cite Him.

A member of the board of health stated to-day, that he would cite a certain milk vendor to appear before the police magistrate for disposing of milk when the board had withdrawn his license temporarily. It seems that the vendor has not been distributing milk from his own cows since Saturday, but secured milk from farmers with which to supply his customers. This is contrary to law, as his license to supply milk is for the present withdrawn.

The Old Boys.

The meeting of the Kingston Home Old Boys' Association will be held on Monday evening next, concurrently with the sitting of the city council, and everyone who wants the city to hold up its head cheerily and is not a knocker or a looker-out-for-No. 1 only will be welcomed.

TO KEEP IT ALIVE

THE FARMERS' ASSOCIATION OF FRONTENAC.

The Election of Officers—Protests Made Against Increased Duty, Salary Grab and Pension Appropriations.

The Frontenac branch of the Farmers' Association, held a meeting in the Court House on Saturday afternoon, with President J. A. Wilmot in the chair. There was only a small attendance. For some time now this organization has been most inactive and the president expressed the hope that the farmers would revive interest and manifest liveliness in the society. Speaking of the tariff commission which met in Peterboro which Mr. Lett and Mr. Wilmot attended, D. D. Rogers thought it spoke hard of Kingston, that this commission had never met east of Kingston. The Farmers' Association is quite devoid of politics but he thought it should be an active society so it would be able to voice the opinions of farmers when a live question to them comes up.

E. A. Milton, Pittsburg, wanted to know if it was the real intention to carry on this association. He said there were only twenty members who believed in working in the interests of the farming community, and they had to fight hard to even keep the association alive. The farmers would say they were in accord with this society's work, but nothing was done.

R. H. Fair, Glenburnie, felt the Frontenac farmers ought to have a society of this kind. He thought the tariff of this country worthy of much consideration so the farmers should not be oppressed. He thought the association should be kept alive, but in better running order than lately.

Warden Thomas Sproule thought it deplorable that Frontenac could not support an organization of this kind. He thought there was something more important to the farmer than politics.

The following officers for 1906 were re-elected: J. A. Wilmot, president; Thomas Sproule, vice-president; William Pillar, secretary-treasurer. It was suggested that the president and Mr. Rogers be recouped for their trip to Peterboro in the interests of the society, but these two gentlemen refused to take anything because of the slim financial condition of the society. The following was adopted:

"That, whereas, the farmers of the county have felt keenly the burden of taxation imposed upon them by reason of the excessive duty on raw material—the machinery used in making their manufactured products, we most unanimously protest against; any increase of duty on the same, but if any change it must be a lowering rather than an increase; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the chairman of the tariff commission and our representative, Mr. Avery."

The association also emphatically condemned the unstatesmanlike legislation of the increased indemnity and pension clause.

R. J. Crothers, Northport, secretary of the Farmers' Association, Prince Edward County, spoke in regard to the labor question, which he thought could be ably handled by the present association. "Do the Frontenac farmers require laborers? How are they to be got here, and how paid?" inquired the speaker. During his seventeen years' experience with Irish, English and Scotch laborers he declared he had found that they are the best farm laborers on earth. Last year he brought out 600 farm laborers, to be settled in Prince Edward and Hastings county, and of that number only eighteen proved useless. His method of bringing out emigrants is to have an agent in London, Eng., Glasgow, Scot., and Belfast, Ire., and he works, alone in Canada. He considered a fair wage to an inexperienced man to be $100 a year, board and washing. He declared there will never be a successful farmer who allows his employers to dictate to him while he is the pay master. The married laborer gets $200 a year; a free house, a quart of milk a day for nine months, but boards himself. He said he could get for any farmer the labor free, if they wanted it. Out of the 35,000 emigrants which came to Canada last year, 30,000 were English. It is costing the government a large sum to bring these people here and the question is, "Is Ontario getting her share." He had been told by his English agents that the wages offered here are no premium over that offered in the British Isles. In closing he said he could place about thirty men in this district, and several made applications.

A Customs Seizure.

Yesterday a resident of this city hired a horse and cutter from a livery and went to Cape Vincent to bring over some effects. On the way back, he did not report to Customs Officer Geoghegan at Point Alexander, Wolfe Island, but drove ahead. He was pursued, and the horse and cutter and contents seized and brought to the city. This morning, the man made explanations to the collector of customs, who in view of certain circumstances, accepted the apologies of the citizen who said he had no intention of evading the customs requirements. The matter was settled.
