

Bovril the Kitchen Economist

When looking over your market accounts do you realize how much of what you pay for is wasted?

Often the bits that you usually throw out because you cannot serve them as they are, can be transformed into delicious, toothsome dishes with the help of a little BOVRIL. Here's a dainty Luncheon Dish from the remnants of roast mutton:

MUTTON FRITTERS. Finger-shaped slices of cooked mutton should be coated with a little salt and vinegar and left to drain. Then spread lightly with Bovril, cover with thick frying batter, and cook in deep fat. A little grated cheese put on the meat will further improve it. Drain well and serve very hot.

The Tidings From Various Points in Eastern Ontario—What People Are Doing And What They Are Saying.

Broken Leg Mending. Sharpton, Feb. 17.—The cheese meetings being all over the farmers are now making ready in anticipation of another great year for dairying. A freeman has hired with Mr. McGowan. The weather is so nice and sunny meridian many are inclined to think we may have an early spring. There being no sleighing makes the winter exceedingly dull. There is practically nothing doing in the wood or timber line. Some of our young men talk of going to Manitoba in the spring. There have been surprise parties at W. Hanley's, W. McQuay's, and W. Smith's. Visitors: Mrs. T. Wood, Dakota, and daughter Clara, of Vail, also W. Wood, Harrowsmith, at E. Taylor's. Little Douglas Bell, son of G. Bell, who broke his leg some time ago, is now on a fair way to recovery.

His Horse Drowned. Central, Feb. 16.—The roads are in excellent condition. The ice in the canal not safe to travel. Austin McDonald and David Crumley are hauling hay to the village. J. Quirey is training his colt. A number from here attended a party at R. Yott's. J. Spoor, agent, is canvassing this section. George Whitman, Marysville, had the misfortune to have his horse drowned in the canal on Monday last. R. McGregor is hauling his hay from C. Woodman's farm. St. Lawrence, to his farm near the village. A very few from here attended the party at the C.M.B.A. hall on Monday last. Visitors: Jennie Yott at P. Hogan's. Mr. and Mrs. L. McDonald spent Sunday at A. McDonald's. Samuel Hogan at S. McDonald's. Marysville, George O'Brien, St. Lawrence, and Thomas H. Hogan at Edward Payne's.

Janetown Jottings. Janetown, Feb. 19.—Miss Lillie Hogan, Gananoque, is guest of Miss Kate Purvis. Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Purvis, of Saskatchewan, N.W.T., and mother, Mrs. McCrimmon, East Quebec, spent last week at Walter Purvis'. Misses Bertha Powell, Escott and Nora Kincaid, here attending the box social and reporting last week. J. S. Smart Manufacturing company, Brockville, is furnishing the vats for J. C. Turner's new factory. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Summers spent Saturday and Sunday several of his parents in Brockville. Several from here attended the concert at Janetown, on Monday evening, and report an excellent time. Miss Gracie Mulvaugh was the guest of Elva Herbinson for a few days last week. We are sorry to hear that Master Willie Macdonald, on the sick list. W. W. Graham, Caintown, paid a fine of $10.00 on Tuesday evening last.

Marriage at Bongard's. Bongard's, Feb. 19.—A quiet home wedding, took place on Wednesday, Feb. 19th, at the home of James Bongard, when his daughter, Miss Elva, became the wife of J. A. Vandenberg, of Carman, Man. The happy couple took their departure on the afternoon train for their home in the west accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends. The infant daughter of William Bradley, brother of the bride, was baptized after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bongard visited Royal street, over Sunday. Miss G. Williams has returned after spending several days as guest of Miss B. Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. B. Harrison were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCormack, last week. Mr. Hubert Kingsley, has been visiting Mrs. Thomas Bongard. Miss S. Bradley has returned home after a sojourn of six months in New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wright of Sandhurst were in this vicinity last week. Miss McGee of "The Pines," has been the guest of Miss Ola McCormack. Parties are much in vogue just now. A number from this place attended an oyster supper given by the Foresters at the Foresters' hall, Waupoos, on Tuesday evening last. Mr. and Mrs. Allan Clapp have been guests at R. C. David's. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Williams, entertained a number of their friends on evening last week.

Many Parties Held. Westbrook, Feb. 19.—Owing to the snowstorm on Sunday, sleighing has been improved, and the merry jingle of the bells can be heard once more. A meeting was held in the cheese factory here on Friday afternoon, on the subject of the coming year. J. C. Fraser was appointed secretary, treasurer and salesman, and Robert Smith auditor. The people of this vicinity are making up for last winter's isolation, judging by the number of parties being held. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith entertained a few friends at their palatial residence Tuesday evening.

THE LADIES' BONGARD
Overheard in the Montreal Rink During a Match.
Montreal Standard.
"Isn't she sweet? Don't you like to see her jump? No, she's like—"
"St. John's!"
"She isn't one of the crack players, is she?"
"No, she doesn't play so well, but she looks nice, sweeping. And that's the—"
"Of course, Miss McGee hasn't she? But I don't like the way she handles the stone."
"And who's that?"
"Oh, Miss— of Kingston. They say she's quite a star, but I don't like those tall women in scalding jackets. Do you? Oh? Isn't that little girl in scarlet sweet? Do you know who she is? That's what I'd want if I could—bright red and an accordion-pleated skirt and black lamb trimmings—oh, hurrah! Did you see where her stone went? It was up to the very end of the rink, and banged right against the wood. She ought to get the prize, oughtn't she? What did you say?"
"I don't know, wondering why they didn't make more noise when she sent that stone up here. Why, you know, it shook the whole rink. She must be very strong."
"Oh, perhaps they're jealous. Or, no; it is a little heavy, you know. I don't care for that feather standing right up at the side—oh, what are they shouting about?"
"Why, that gawky-looking girl with the black hair, she's sneaked somebody's stone right out of the hole. She ought to be put off the team. Don't you think so? Do they have a referee in curling matches, or an umpire, or anything?"
"I don't know. They're all talking to her about it, anyway. I'd like to compliment the little girl in red. She must have practised a lot to be able to send a stone crashing against the wood like that. Why, it nearly made a hole in the ice. That reminds me of Paderewski. They say he has two or three notes every time he plays."
"I wouldn't want him to play on our piano, then."
"No; I. But it reminds me of the girl in red. Oh, look at Miss— She has lots of money, but that stone she's curling with is awfully shabby. Wouldn't you think she'd buy a new one for a thing like this? If I curled I'd curl with the best up with silver polish. One can't be particular about these things, I always think."

Did in Glenvale.
The funeral of Miss Annie M. Leonard, Glenvale, took place on Friday, Feb. 19th, at the residence of her father, John Leonard, Rev. W. K. Short conducted the services, and her remains were laid to rest in the Catholic Cemetery. From youth she was religiously disposed, making a public profession and uniting with the Methodist church at twelve years of age. For a time she engaged in public school teaching, but of late years her health has been precarious, owing to a affection of the heart. She had just returned from a visit to her mother, Mrs. Wartman, Nanapan, where she showed signs of illness. Nothing serious just then was anticipated, but in a few days she passed quickly away at the early age of thirty-three, deeply regretted by her relatives and a large circle of friends, who appreciated her worth and piety as well as her cheerful disposition.

The March Delinquent.
In the March number The Delinquent has fallen under the spell or romance which the marriage of the president's daughter has evoked, and presents as its leading feature an article on "The Brides of the White House," illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt, never before published. The fiction of the number includes a short story by Mary Stewart Cutting, a clever study of child life by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and the continuation of "The President of Quez," Heloise M. Widdow's interesting club story. Viola Allen, the popular young actress who recently married a southern millionaire, writes of Shakespeare's heroes from that point of view of one who has personated many of them with great success.

Capt. Taggart Off For Manila.
Columbus, O., Feb. 20.—The two companies of the 8th Infantry of the United States army, stationed at the Columbia barracks, under command of Capt. E. F. Taggart, started today for San Francisco, to sail thence for the Philippines, on March 5th. Large crowds were lined up along the streets through which the soldiers marched, from their army to the railroad station and several thousand people, sending the friends and relatives of the departing soldiers, were assembled at the station to speed them on their way. When asked what arrangements he had made in regard to his children, who are still in the possession of his former wife, Capt. Taggart said that he had left those matters in the hands of his attorneys and felt quite confident that they would make some satisfactory arrangement.

The Extended Popularity of

DIAMOND DYES

Induces Speculators to Introduce Weak and Worthless Imitations

DIAMOND DYES, true home helpers and money-savers for mothers and wives, are dear to every woman's heart.

Recently, speculators have gone in to the package dye trade with the view of gaining a share of the immense and ever-increasing trade held by the manufacturers of the DIAMOND DYES, but all such efforts will, as in the past, result in failures. The crude and worthless dyes brought out in opposition to the DIAMOND DYES, can never become popular, for the simple reason that they have not one good quality to boast of. The merchants of Canada who were induced to buy these adulterated package dyes now find their dead and worthless stock.
