IN THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE LAST EVENING.

Very Fine Musical Programme

The St. Patrick's concert, under the uspices of the Ancient Order of Hibrnians, an event long looked forward to with anticipation and held in the Grand Opera House Monday night, was a unique success, and despite the wildest and stormiest night of the winter, was largely attended

The programme opened with an overture, "Fantasia," played by a quintette Miss Mignon Telgmann, Miss Carmel Crowley, Miss Norma Telgmann, Oscar Telgmann and Mrs. H P. Smith. Their several numbers were truly musical treats, and ones which ully merited the repeated calls. The underlying theme of the evening was Ireland, everything breathed forth the hue of the Emerald Isle, from the stage setting in the green woods to the bunches of shamrocks worn by the performers and in the sweetly plaintive Irish melodies. Nicholas O'Connor rendered two ex-
