It Should Be Staughtered.

The Ontario legislature has yet be fore it several bills of doubtful quality. and bills the passage of which would certainly not be in the public interest. Perhaps the most obnoxious is the bill respecting nurses. It proposes to chairman of the provincial railway legalize an association of graduate nurses, whose council will be appointed by the government, and consist of four physicians and eleven nurses, These will have a mission to perform and so far as the Whig can understand it, this will be to collect the yearly fee of $3 which each practising nurse is expected to pay.

All who have graduated from some hospital or training school before the passage of the bill will be eligible for membership in the association-if the council of fifteen be satisfied with their moral character and qualifications. But they must apply for membership in order to practice, and they must pay the annual fee and receive now to install an electrical plant at
