A WARM SUBJECT

There's nothing in the world we're so much interested in as Coal at this time of the year. It may sound queer to speak of coal buying and selling as a science, but that's what we've made it. Two important discoveries we have made are that complete satisfaction to our customers pays best, and that the way to win business is to deserve it.

At our coal yards, and every customer may rest assured of obtaining his money's worth, whether he buys a ton or a carload. It isn't merely a matter of full weight—quality of coal counts as well. But we claim to give full weight of high grade coal, and our list of patrons contains the names of many who will back our assertions.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the food? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, salt skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

Preserving Land Marks.

The government does wisely in taking steps to improve Tete de Pont barracks and Fort Henry. The reasons for the proposed abandonment of these places was never apparent to the people. The barracks are old, and they need an overhauling, but a much smaller sum than the cost of new building will make them all that can be desired.

Tete de Pont is rich in memories of regiments which figured in the wars of Great Britain and which will be remembered. The fort was, too, the habitation of royal artillery, which had an honored place in the records of the nation.

Suppose the barracks and fort are not perfect in some respects, what the government would have, if now projected, the fact remains that they can, with a reasonable expenditure, be made very serviceable, and the preservation of the fort, as a historic landmark, will find approval on every hand.

If a location is desired out of the city the fort is preferable to Lake Ontario Park, and there is no comparison between them for comfort, for convenience, for an outlook peculiarly attractive and a relationship with military college which is simply unique.

Taxing The Railways.

Michigan has won a notable triumph in the success of its law for the taxation of railways. This state has led in the enforcement of the Pingree idea—that the companies which enjoy great privileges or great franchises, should contribute generously to the public revenue.

The tax is a very high one, under the law which was passed a couple of years ago, and the companies, (including the Grand Trunk, which owns or operates seven lines), combined for an appeal to the highest court in the land.

The state has won the day, and now the railway corporations realize—as Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson said in London at the annual meeting of the Grand Trunk—that they will have to face the tax in the future, and pay the arrears, which amount to an enormous sum.

What the Grand Trunk's share is has not been stated. A shareholder at the London meeting sought to find out from the president what the liability is by asking, is it £100,000? Sir Charles did not deny it, neither did he admit it.

Michigan is in luck. So also is every other state that is lured by the idea of under-entangling the taxing of the railways. Ontario has the benefit of the experience and the effect of it will be seen in the legislation which Hon. Mr. Hanna has in hand.

The Muck Rake.

President Roosevelt had his reasons for referring so much to the man and the muck rake. There is such a thing as stirring up too much material. A scraping and a cleaning are very necessary sometimes, and when one is at it there is nothing like making a complete job of it.

But the president says one may be so intent upon the ground or the muck as to lose sight of other objects, and he may lose in ambitions that are lofty and elevating in their character. It all depends upon what the occupations or engagements of the individual.

Lawson, of Boston, used a muck rake in the early development of the insurance scandals. He was cursed and abused, but he kept on with his work and it led to some of the discoveries which a legislative committee recorded a little later.

Ida Tarbell and Attorney-General Hadley, of Iowa, used the muck rake to advantage on the Standard oil case, and they succeeded in making a stench which the people readily recognized and abominated.

The president himself handled the muck rake when he exposed some of the iniquities of the railway companies and trusts, and looking into the faces of certain senators on Saturday, talked of evils that needed correction.

The muck rake is the helping implement of the man who is on cleaning bent, and if he be true to his mission he will stop at nothing short of thoroughness in the task he has assigned himself.

The Ottawa Citizen wants to know why Mr. Smith, M.P.P., suffered especially by information handed out by the commerce department. Because an English importer made a special fuss in his case. It is safe to say he will not ship the wrong brand of apples again.

Obstructing The President.

There will be something doing in Washington soon unless the United States senate changes its attitude towards the president. It is hard to understand why it is, but the fact is that the senate is antagonizing the idol of the people, and it will not be surprising if, some of these days, he announces that he will test the popularity of his policy by appealing to the people for another term.

He announced when elected the president that he would not seek the honor again. Practically he had served them a full term, having succeeded Mr. McKinley when that gentleman fell in the opening of his second term. But Mr. Roosevelt had no reason to expect the treatment he is now receiving, and at the hands of his political friends. The republicans rule in the senate, and the republicans are responsible for all the contrariness of spirit which is at once an offence and a vexation to the president.

He is helpless. His cabinet represents his personal choice of administrators. He has no standing in the popular chambers. He cannot dictate legislation. He can suggest it, and a political party which recognizes how fairly the president reflects public sentiment should ordinarily be anxious to cooperate with him and forward his plans.

It is not the ideal position of a strong man to have ideas and to mark time while others who have the power of initiation are indifferent if not hostile in their mood. Mr. Roosevelt is having an experience which may be worth much to the nation ere his reign has closed.

A Man Of Action.

Announcement is made that a member of the council, on his own account, has under consideration the organization of the civic official staff, with a view to its efficiency.

He may be inspired towards action by the delay which has occurred in the work of a special committee which was named at the beginning of the year. This committee was suggested by the desire that there should be a careful review of the duties of the officials and their rewards, and for the purpose of securing such a readjustment and revision as the circumstances demanded.

The city now employs many men in the administration of its affairs. In addition to those who have to do, as formerly, with the conduct of its business, with the levying and collecting of rates, with the direction of justice, with the care and maintenance of the highways, with the trusts that fall to municipal legislators, there are the great public utilities and the responsibilities which they entail.

The business men who are apt and progressive consult all manner of authorities in order to manage their enterprises with the utmost success. They introduce system wherever possible, and the information now offered in certain publications suggests reforms of the most important character. In these publications there are ideas for civic corporations, and the discussion of them is quite in order.

Has the special committee of the council considered any plans looking to a reorganization of the civic staff? The salary question is only an incident of the greater one, namely, that of distributing the work of the city so that each man will be doing that for which he has a special fitness, and the people's business will be arranged with the care which the individual or private corporation is expected to display.

The alderman who is now looking into the matter, may stimulate the special committee into action, and if he does this, or surpasses it in practical service, he will be doing the city a favour.

Editorial Notes.

GANANOQUE BUDGET.

Farmer Had Hands Jammed—Old Building Burned.

Gananoque, April 19.—Joseph Cadue, of Howe Island, had both his hands badly jammed in coming from the island to the main shore yesterday morning at Welsh's ferry. There were two teams on board and the horses were crowding. Ladue in his efforts to keep them from crowding off the boat received his injuries. He had his wounds dressed by a doctor.

About eleven o'clock last evening the alarm of fire was sounded from box 14, the scene of the place being an old building some times used as ice house in the rear of W. G. Mathew's residence. During the afternoon some brush had been set on fire in clearing up the place and sparks from it are supposed to have been the cause. The firemen were on hand promptly, and presented the spread of the flames any farther.

G. W. Lendrum passed away at the residence of his son in Montreal on Monday, April 16th, in the seventy-ninth year of his age, surviving his wife by just about six weeks. The remains were brought here today, and the funeral took place yesterday afternoon at Christ church, thence to Willow Bank cemetery. Rev. J. T. Serroux officiated.

The license commissioners for this district met in the town hall Monday afternoon. The renewals of licenses could not be made as the inspection had not been completed. The request for license by W. W. Lloyd for Morton was considered and sent to the department for decision. The meeting was adjourned till Friday to meet in the village of Morton.

Rev. Joseph Cornell delivered a lecture Tuesday evening in Bethel church his subject being "California." The social at the Gananoque East parlourage was well attended last evening. The proceeds will be used to fence in the parlourage property.

The main streets of the town have just been scraped and cleaned up and now look quite respectable.

Stephen Dorey, of Victoria avenue, spent Easter with relatives in Toronto, returning home last evening. W. Davison, of Brockville, is spending a week with friends in town.

Miss Elsie Britton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Britton, Main street, who has of late been attending conservatory of music at Ottawa, is spending her Easter vacation at home. Arthur Rogers, accountant of the Bank of Toronto, Omemee, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Rogers, Stone street.

Harry H. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker, King street, left during the past week for Orillia where he has taken a position with the Canadian Express company.

Miss Sarah Cross, King street, who has been spending a few days with friends and relatives at Wilslead, returned home yesterday. W. N. Bullock, Sr., who has been spending the last few weeks with friends and relatives here, left for his home in Estevan Alberta last evening.

Miss Maud Cornell, of Harrowsmith, is spending her vacation at the Gananoque East parlourage, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cornell.

Miss Rachel Whitmore, nurse at Rockwood asylum, Kingston, spent the day with her mother, Mrs. Whitmore, Garden street.

Whitney A Humbug.

Whitney threatened to abolish the success of his scheme when he got into power but he did not do it. He abetted against the numbered ballot, but clings to it until he had been shamed into doing something, and now he says its days are numbered.

FERROL

(Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus)

At G. W. Mahood's

TO-MORROW, FRIDAY, APRIL 20th

From 9 a.m. Until Samples Are Exhausted

THIS CERTIFICATE

Properly filled out and signed, entitles the holder to one large-sized bottle of FERROL (Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus) if presented Friday, April 20th, at the drug store of G. W. Mahood, from 9 a.m. until samples are exhausted.

Name of Patient _____

Address _____

Disease _____

The bearer of this certificate hereby solemnly agrees to give this medicine a thorough and faithful trial and to report to the druggist named above, within three weeks, the improved condition of his health that is almost absolutely certain to follow.

This is a successful combination of the well-known valuable remedies, Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus. The formula is no secret and our analysis showed the presence and amount of constituents as described. The preparation is a good one and of distinct therapeutic value. The association of an easily assimilable oil in a fine state of division with a phosphatic salt of iron which does not disturb the digestive functions and which is easily tolerated, determines its success as a food and tonic in wasting diseases. Copied from the London Lancet.

What the London Lancet recommends as a food and a tonic in all wasting diseases must have a very special quality. No higher endorsement is possible. The results following the use of FERROL for the past ten years have proved that this endorsement is well deserved.
