FLOGS NATIVES AS SLAVES. African Plantation Owner is Held for Trial.

Berlin, May 4 .- A sensational trial court, in which an owner of plantations at M.Bua, in German East Africa, named Mismahl, was charged with dangerously injuring many natives employed on his property. Testi-mony was given that Mismahl and his two brothers systematically flogged the natives. One in particular, named Mango, who had agreed to work for three months, was detained compulsorily at the expiration of that time and fled. A hunt was organized, and, on recapture, it is said, he was flogged with a hundred strokes of a heavy whip, Mismahl himself and his brothers holding the negro.
