The Crozier Changed.

The handsome crozier borne before Mehbishop Gauthier, as a sign of his archiepiscopal office, is being altered. It has hitherto been a double cross, but the archbishop found, when in Rome, that this was an error, and has had the upper bar removed. The dou-ble cross is used by the metropolitan of the Greek church, but the archbishops of the Roman and Anglican communions carry the single cross. The silver crozier, given to the late Archbishop Lewis, is now in possession of Archbishop Bond, of Montreal.

UNDERWRITERS' DEMANDS

Again Bring Up Municipal Insurance Question.

To comply with the demands which the underwriters intend to make upon the city with regard to increased fire protection, would cost probably $50, 000. The installation of the extra main they ask would mean the laying of a large amount of pipe on every second block down-town. The object of the main would be to give greater water supply, not power. Then the underwriters will ask that another engine and fully double the quantity of hose be added to the fire department. To supply the additional water, an additional nump would have to be added to the waterworks.

The citizens do not take kindly to the underwriters' demands. No matter what improvements are made in the fire department, the underwriters never have any concessions for Kingston in regard to lower rates. No matter how improved the fire service, and how low the fire loss here, this city is 'soaked' for the losses elsewhere. I further improvements are to be made, the city council should see to it that come concessions are got in return. Perhaps this additional demand of the inderwriters will cause the council to nore seriously consider the question of municipal insurance which could easily be adopted in a city like Kingston, whose buildings are pretty safe from any large conflagration. The fire loss here in the past ten years has been decidedly small—the smallest on record of Canadian cities and towns.
