LIONS RAID A TOWN IN CENTRAL AFRICA AND KILL ELEVEN NATIVES!

They Demolished Huts, and Put Population to Flight—Toasts and Other Live Stock Killed—Some Escape to River.

London, May 16.—A despatch from Blantyre, British Central Africa, states that a herd of hungry lions attacked the town of Choromo, British Central Africa, and not only killed eleven natives, but put the rest of the population to flight and demolished many of the huts.

Between fifteen and twenty lions made the raid at dusk. They first attacked two natives on the outskirts of the town. One of the natives escaped, and while the body of his companion was being torn to pieces he ran to the government building.

The watchman on duty refused to believe his story, and while the frightened native was protesting the lions dashed into the main street.

Three watchmen were struck down before they could raise their rifles, and the native who had previously escaped was likewise killed.

A fourth watchman, who fled to an inner room, was pursued by two of the brutes, and torn to pieces.

A child was seized in front of one of the huts, and when the frantic mother attempted to rescue it, she was likewise attacked and eaten. Three other natives were killed and eaten.

The lions killed a large number of goats and other live stock, and afterwards ransacked some of the huts, in which the inmates had barricaded themselves.

A large number of natives, who managed to escape from the town, got into their canoes, and paddled to the middle of the River Shire, where they spent the night.

They could distinctly hear the shouts of the besieged.

Choromo is situated near the Elephant Marsh game reserve, where fifty elephants lived last year.

A CHEQUERED LIFE. Herr Otto Had a Real Lot of Experience.

Vienna, May 17.—Since the death a few days ago in this city of Herr Otto, some highly interesting facts have come to light, which show that the deceased had lived a remarkably chequered life. Once a poorly paid bookseller's clerk, he was induced, against his principles, to invest in a lottery ticket at the instance of his landlady, who assured him that she had dreamed so vividly of a certain number that it was bound to win.

And, true enough, the number drew a prize of considerable magnitude. With his winnings, Herr Otto bought some premium bonds, one of which gained the following year another big prize.

He was a comparatively well-to-do man, yet contrived to live in his old bare room for which he voluntarily paid double rent. About three years afterwards, Herr Otto was persuaded to sink most of his capital in an invention which started with every promise, but another, cheaper invention followed almost immediately in its wake. The business failed, and Herr Otto was ruined. Again the fickle jade smiled upon him. He invented himself a small but useful machine which brought him a large revenue. Once more he risked his capital in a venture, but it failed also, and for years he lived in great poverty. One day, when writing his reminiscences, he came across an old, forgotten premium bond. The next day he offered it for sale to a broker, who informed him that the number had come out two years ago with a prize of about $50,000.

Herr Otto, who had reached a great age, was saved from the poorhouse. He died a bachelor and left his entire fortune to his landlady.

Elgin Episodes. Elgin, May 15.—The death of George Cheney on the 10th, removed one of the old landmarks of this vicinity. For over sixty years he had resided at Cheney's Corners, and for many years ran a blacksmith shop there.

He has been too feeble for that business, and was at the time of his death in the employ of the government stage line between Elgin and the B. W. and N. railway station. It will be carried on by his grandson, G. H. Howard, in the future. His wife was Melissa Topping, and predeceased him twenty-four years. He was seventy-eight years of age, and leaves to mourn his loss, one son, Washington Cheney, and Mrs. Thompson Howard, who so kindly watched over his declining years. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved ones, Mrs. R. S. Murphy, Brockville, is visiting friends here for a few days. Miss Elizabeth Johnson, Seely's Bay, is in town. Mrs. Robert Davison, Smith's Falls, arrived to be present at the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Della Davison, on the 16th, to Frederick J. Stanton. The concert in the town hall, given by the Singleton Pierce orchestra, and the Portland Glee Club, was a decided success. The proceeds are for the benefit of St. Paul's church.

Pleasant Valley Notes. Pleasant Valley, May 15.—G. Hughes lost a valuable horse last week. J. A. Hughes sprained his ankle severely and is not yet able to be out. R. Irish's; Miss Violet Ashley, visiting friends here; Mr. and Mrs. O. Keer and Master S. Peters, at E. Hughes'. Dame rumor says there are two or three weddings on the tapis.

PLAN PROPOSED To Have Whole Army in the Field.

Washington, D.C., May 17.—The army officers are making arrangements for some important tests to take place in the period of mobilization of the entire force of cavalry, infantry and light artillery at seven camps of concentration in different parts of the country this summer.

The militia, so far as possible, will take part in the encampment and operations. The subsistence officers intend to apply practically the means of cooking in the field, including the use of the fireless cooker and the kitchen cart, together with the employment of the emergency ration, which has now come to be called the "iron ration" in official literature by the adoption of a German phrase by the general staff.

The army signal officers are also engaged in planning extensive and important experiments which include the use of the latest methods of field telegraph and telephone and the new system of visual signalling. There will also be tests with the system of signalling by fireworks by day, as well as by night. It is hoped that there will be opportunity at Plattsburg, N.Y., for the trial of the new military balloon, recently purchased in France. The army quartermasters have no special novelty to be tested, unless it is the marching shoe and the new, shorter leggings. The new features of the uniform will be tested and closely observed by the experts in the field. The medical officers will probably be able to try the new first aid packet and apply the methods of field hospital work which have been adopted since the war with Spain. The principal work in the way of trying new material, however, will devolve on signal officers and commissaries, who are understood to be several European governments have asked for the privilege of sending military observers to watch the mobilization experiments.

No Company Would Insure Her Indigestion and Debility Had Brought Her So Near Death. Bileans Have Now Cured Her.

"A year ago no insurance company would grant me a policy, I was so near death; yet you see how well and strong Bileans has now made me."

So said Mrs. E. Scott, of Army Terrace, Newport, when interviewed by a "Newport Advertiser" reporter. Her experience proved unmistakably the power of Bileans in cases where indigestion has wrecked the system, and debility has crept in with almost fatal effect. Continuing her story, she said:

"Just before I began to take Bileans I was so reduced by digestive troubles that I both looked and felt like a woman whose days were numbered."

"My illness began with feelings of fullness after meals, followed by belching. Then I began to have pain after food, and got so bad that eating caused actual agony. I went to a doctor, but could not keep on with him, as I could not afford the expense of a long run of doctor's bills. Finding myself getting worse, I next tried a number of medicines recommended by friends, but none did me any good."

"I was at my worst in this respect and so pained at the heart sometimes that I was obliged to cease my work, when a married friend told me that Bileans had done her husband so much good they wouldn't be without them in the house. She persuaded me to try it, and I did so, and in a very little time I found they were doing me a lot of good. I persevered with them, and one by one the fluttering sensations at the heart, the wind, the pain after food, and all the other symptoms of indigestion were driven from my system, and I was cured. I am now well and strong and an utter stranger to 'wind' and indigestion."

Bileans tone up the whole digestive system, and stimulate it to normal action. That is how they cure such serious cases of digestive disorder as the above. They also cure liver troubles, flatulence, female ailments, constipation, piles, anaemia, headache, unpleasant sensations of fullness after food, pimples, and other symptoms of blood impurity, biliousness, sick headache, bad breath, spring debility, etc. They act as a general tonic, improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. For all purposes to which a household remedy is put Bileans will be found of excellent service.

Bileans are obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or direct from the Bilean Co., Colborne St., Toronto, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

STRATHCONA ADAPTED

For the Establishment of a Canning Factory.

Strathcona, May 16.—The cement works have about all been removed to Marlbank. It is said the Napane Canning company are looking for a location to extend their works. It is also rumored that the company from across the line are looking for a place to start a canning factory. No better place could be found than Strathcona. Beside the river, there are two never-failing springs, Lasher's which supplied the cement works' two reservoirs; the other on the Wilson farm. There are tenement houses ready for us. This is a thickly settled locality, and any number of hands could be employed. The land seems perfectly adapted to vegetables, and small fruits. In 1883 900 bushels of berries were raised on the Madden farm here. Last year Mr. Lasher, one of the largest fruit growers, had a tremendous crop. He has no trouble in securing sufficient help to harvest them. Many would go in for cultivating fruit if sure of a market. Every farmer throughout this section has an orchard.

George Haycock has been at West Lake, Prince Edward for the past week, at the bedside of his aged father, who is slowly sinking. Miss Shirley Fox had a slight stroke of paralysis on Saturday last. She is somewhat better at present. Mrs. Harrington was taken with hemorrhage of the stomach Tuesday.
