THE INQUEST HELD
MAY HAVE BEEN DROPPED FROM STEAMER.

There Were No Clues as to the Child's Parentage and No Marks of Identification in the Wreck—Used—The Verdict Rendered.

The inquest into the cause of the death of the infant found on the shore of Macdonald park, on Sunday evening, was held in the police court chambers, last evening, at seven o'clock. When George Sands ordered P.C. Napton to call the names of the jurors the following answered their names: Messrs. F. Murray, G. A. Mackie, H. Myers, R. M. Mills, J. Smith, W. Newland, J. Forrest, J. F. McDermott, and J. Marsh.

Thomas Bird the first witness said: "I was taking a walk on Sunday evening last about seven o'clock when I saw something glistening which attracted my attention. I called Bert Eby to ask if he could telephone to the police from the mill. Before doing this I had gone over and seen the infant. There were many children playing about. Eby said, 'No, the office was locked up.' I came down to the station then and notified the police."

Witness thought it had been dropped from some passing steamer. The wind was south-east that day. Dr. W. T. Connell conducted a post-mortem on the infant's body and went into detail as to the result of his findings. There were no marks of any injury or finger prints. The bridge of the nose was slightly flattened, but this would not have anything to do with the cause of death. The child had breathed freely and had lived after birth for probably up to at least one hour. The child had died from drowning or suffocation, but whether from drowning or suffocation was impossible to state.

The Board of Health. There was no meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, as a quorum of members did not attend. The chairman had gone to London to attend the general assembly. The medical health officer's report shows that during May there were nine cases of scarlet fever, three cases of diphtheria and three of typhoid fever.

All Saint's Chancel R.I.P. All Saint's chancel, or what remains of it, about which there has been such a commotion, has now become the property, by purchase, of the rector of St. Luke's church, who has engaged a carpenter to take it in pieces without delay, and convey the materials to St. Luke's church-plot.

Wade's Ice Cream Soda. We, perhaps, should give it a name of its own, it is so unlike much of the ice cream soda sold.

Injured The Artesian. John W. Ausley, foreman millwright at the M. T. company, met with a painful accident this morning. Some splinters penetrated his wrist, injuring the arteries. Dr. J. H. Bell dressed the wound.

Thin Hair. Yes! We had noticed that your hair was looking pretty thin, and that it lacked luster and life. But we didn't like to speak of it! Of course you know that Ayer's Hair Vigor is a regular hair-grower, makes the hair soft and smooth, gives it life and strength. This isn't the kind of hair that falls out! And, too, it keeps the scalp so clean and healthy.

THE QUEEN'S EPISODE.
Medical Faculty Not to Blame for Publication.

The medical faculty of Queen's have been accused of being responsible for the publication in the Whig of the trouble between themselves and the university trustees over the handling of the Ontario legislature grant for medical education at Queen's. In fairness to the medical faculty members, it may be stated that they had nothing whatever to do with the articles published. The information came from other sources. For the past six months it has been known that there were disagreements between the medical faculty and other university authorities over the matter in question. It has also been known that the members of the medical faculty for the purpose of the medical education of Queen's, as is proven by the manner in which the grant was made, viz., P.C. Napton to call the names of the jurors the following answered their names: Messrs. F. Murray, G. A. Mackie, H. Myers, R. M. Mills, J. Smith, W. Newland, J. Forrest, J. F. McDermott, and J. Marsh.

The matter is still unsettled, and the creation of the building cannot proceed till the question of a site is decided by passing into the service of the state Messrs. A. E. Shannon, T. J. Leahy, and W. Peters. Proceedings then being continued, J. F. McDermott was elected foreman and the jurors, duly sworn, viewed the remains after which the taking of evidence was commenced.

A FREAK SAILER
AND IT PROMISES TO BE FAST.

It Was Designed By F. W. Lake Who Has Applied for Patents—The Features of the Yacht.

A unique craft, a triple-jointed production, was successfully launched in the waters of the Rideau, Monday afternoon, by its designer-owner, F. W. Lake, 243 Colborne street. There is every reason to believe that Kington has produced a genius in creating an original idea in boat building. The boat differs from a catamaran in that it has an outrigger and is sectional. This freak is able to turn a couple of circles within its length.

The main hull is thirty feet long, twenty inches wide, and three feet perpendicular on the side. The outrigger is twenty-five feet long, fifteen inches wide. From the centre of the main hull a complete crescent, which is fifteen feet, the space between water. The boat proper and the outrigger can be controlled to close into a narrow passage of eight feet. The outrigger, in a sense detached, joined to the main hull by brass, and when the boat is being sailed can be handled at will by the man at the wheel. A stiff stay extends from the masthead, which is twenty-four feet from the main deck to the outrigger. Another stay runs from the masthead to the bowsprit. Both the main hull and outrigger are sectional, in three parts, so they can be formed into a complete crescent, and turn again.

The operation is by means of a mechanism in the centre section of the main hull. Just now as a perfecting job is needed, a large sprocket wheel is used for the steering gear in order to control the boat with ease and safety in a high wind. The centre section is made to hold nine persons, one can control the boat. An important point is that either hull can pitch, independent of each other, saving the strain on the hinges. The full amount of canvas carried is four hundred feet. The jib sail is arranged to set as a kite, it lifts on the bow and can be used to advantage before or against the wind. Mr. Lake's idea is that this craft will prove faster and safer than any other speeding canvas. He is confident that a speed of twenty miles can be accomplished. Mr. Lake has been out a year working on this novel boat. It is of the finest cypress wood, and valued at $900. Patents have been applied for.

Marine Notes. The fog on the lake this morning considerably delayed traffic. The steamer Kingston made her first trip of the season to-day. Schooner Bertie Kalkins cleared for Oswego, this morning, to load coal for Crawford. Swift's wharf; Steamer Picton, due down to-night. Rideau King, from Ottawa to-night.

O'Kill Street Sewer Extension. It is understood that the tenders for laying the O'Kill street sewer extension will be considered by the board of works at its meeting next week. Tenders had to be called for a second time as there was no response the first call, owing probably to local firms being very busy. It is to be hoped the extension will be laid just as soon as possible. In view of there being no city engineer at present, Prof. McPhail and A. K. Kirkpatrick, superintendent of the pipe for $300. However, applications from the board of works at its next meeting.

Abating The Nuisance. The coal tar separator which was erected by the city committee in order to stop the nuisance in the Queen street slip is working pretty well. Swift's wharf; Steamer Picton, due down to-night. Rideau King, from Ottawa to-night.

Extensions Under Way. Gas plant extensions, in the way of supply to new consumers, will be laid out at once. The car load of iron pipe the city committee has been authorized by the city council to buy, will keep the excavation gang at work till the tenders for larger amounts are called. This has now been proceeded a good length.

Talcum powder perfumed and bottled 10c. Gibson's Red Cross drug store. William Swain, piano tuner. Orders received at McAuley's book store.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.
Navy Paragraphs Picked Up By Reporters on Their Rounds.

Henry Cunningham, tuner from Chickering's, at McAuley's book store. A slight blaze occurred at the Kingston Hosiery Co.'s factory on Monday, but was quickly extinguished by the department of the mill. Don't forget, pure gum rubber goods are sold at Gibson's Red Cross drug store. Take no other.

Now being good seems not to pay. A fact which is quite sad. If the furthermore I wish to say. Neither of them seems sad. When the 14th Regiment reached the cricket field last night the band put the German musicians, who were on Barris street, completely out of business. Burth's horse radish can not be excelled; always pure and fresh. Large bottles, 10c. Ask your grocer for it.

Be faithful as the apricot. Be constant as the pine. Ask your reward will be a life. Where it is always June. The merchants about town are having lots of bother fathoming the new mode of taxation. In many instances the taxes on business places have been nearly doubled. Where the biggest kick originates, however, is from the numerous corner stores and shoemakers stands which are all made to pony up in the neighborhood of $5 each according to the size of the stock, etc.

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as oil eucalyptus, thymol, wild indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a new white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by all druggists. A fifth class in the public schools would only be duplicating work. The subjects taught in it are the same as in the first form in the Collegiate Institute, and the form must be maintained in the institute, whether there is a fifth class in the public school or not. The public must pay the cost, in both instances. Why duplicate work? Years ago the form was abolished in the public schools to save expense. Violet toilet ammonia is sold at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

"NICK" TIMMERMAN Tells The Tale of Inspection Results. "Well, officer, how do you find the yards this year?" queried the reporter, as Police Constable "Nick" Timmerman approached. "Some good, some bad," replied the humorist of the local force, who, with his faithful lieutenant, Police Constable Filson, is doing inspection duty, the former on the west side of Princess street, and the latter on the east side. Our informant went on to state that while work is being done in a fair state of cleanliness, many were frightfully in need of cleaning up. The greatest drawback in regard to these last was the tardiness of those responsible in amending the unsatisfactory conditions, and conforming to the health regulations. Unless some of those notified get a hustle on, a batch of defective work will appear before the magistrate some of these mornings. Judging from the present outlook, Dr. Bell, the medical health officer, will also soon have a little work to engross his attention.

PERMANENT WALKS Will Cover Half of Kingston in Another Year. Before the end of this year, Kingston will have about twenty-two miles of permanent walks. There are fifty-three miles of walks in this city, so that when next year's work is done, one-half of the walks will be of permanent variety. There will be three times as much concrete as asphalt. The crossings, too, are being pretty well changed to asphalt. Fifty or sixty more of these are yet to be laid this year.

Grateful And Comforting. Monetary Times. Kingston is increasing in population and wealth, and with the excellent railroad and boat services now in force new industries looking for a point at which to locate would do well to look over the ground there or communicate with the Board of Trade. Nor should the physical attractions of Kingston, or its historical interest, be forgotten. It is beautifully situated, having delightful surroundings, and the Board of Trade might well devote some attention to having illustrated folders distributed, which might attract summer visitors to the Limestone city.

Strong Partnership. When in need of liquid oxygen for the speedy removal of any internal germs, ask your druggist for the "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)". With each bottle is given free a package of "Celery King" a popular tonic laxative needed to cleanse the system after the stringent effect of the concentrated Ozone. We have the sole right to manufacture "Celery King" and thus are able to include with every bottle of "Solution of Ozone" a coupon for a free package of the famous laxative which is essential to the best results in the use of Ozone. Both products manufactured by the Public Drug company, Bridgeburg, Ont.

ASK FOR INSPECTOR TO LOOK AFTER LOADING OF VESSELS.

The City Council Petitions the Dominion Government—in the Interests of the Sailors to See That Vessels Are Not Over-Loaded.

This resolution was unanimously adopted by the city council at its meeting on Monday evening: Moved by Ald. Elliott and seconded by Ald. Bassant that the council do resolve that the practice of overloading lake steamers and sailing vessels has been largely on the increase for the past few years, with the result of wreck and loss of life for its result.

"And whereas, Kingston as one of the chief lake ports, with a large marine population, is keenly interested in the practical safety of its sailing vessels, and the possibility of the practice is due to the fact that there has never been adequate inspection or supervision of such steamers or vessels.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that this council respectfully petition the Dominion government to appoint an officer whose duty it shall be to inspect such steamers and vessels, and to supervise their equipment and loading." All the aldermen were agreed that it was most expedient that such an inspector should be appointed. Ald. Gaskin, who, for many years, was outside manager here for the Montreal Transportation company, stated that he held up both hands for the government appointing an inspector such as asked for by the resolution. In England, there are inspectors who see that vessels are only loaded to a certain depth. The law on that point in the old country is very strict. In Canada, he claimed that there should be a similar law, and inspectors to carry it out.

TO REMEMBER VETERANS Plan of Col. MacMillan to Encourage Patriotism. A movement, unique in its inception and noble in its object, is being inaugurated by Col. J. P. MacMillan to the memory of the men who have sacrificed their lives in the defence of the Dominion in the Fenian troubles of 1866, and later in South Africa during the recent war with the Boers. The colonel proposes to offer the pupils of the different schools of Ontario, as a reward to those excelling in regular attendance, application and compliance with the regulations, generally of the school discipline, an emblem specially designed under the supervision of the Fenian veterans, and the Fenian veterans, in commemoration of the events in question to be preserved by the winners as a souvenir, enhancing in appreciation of the sacrifice undergone by their ancestors, especially those of the Canadian Volunteers, who gave such evidence of undying patriotism in defence of the Dominion in the Fenian troubles of 1866, and later in South Africa during the recent war with the Boers.
