DeA CORSETS

The Really Easy Corset

Most corsets are made as some man thinks they should — go by style, usually, but little care. Here's a corset made on a woman's ideas — with ease paramount. Modish to a degree, every corset that bears the "D & A" mark — well-made, whatever their price, every one; but above all easy — comfort and again comfort — that is the "D & A" supreme merit. Ask your favorite store to show you the "D & A" — no matter what make you think you like the best, look at this make.

Echo Lake News.

Echo Lake, June 12.—The heavy rains have made the roads very muddy and the sand hills are washed into deep gutters, and almost impassable. A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Titus Wagar, at Wagarville, on Sunday. The pastor of this place preached an eloquent sermon, taking her text from II Timothy ii, 19. There was a great crowd. A husband and five small children are left to mourn. Arthur Hayes had a bee raising his new house last week.

GRAND JURY REPORT

ON THE STATE OF OUR INSTITUTIONS.

County Jail in need of Reform—Protest Against Undesirable Immigrants—More Money Needed for Hospital.

This morning S. R. Bailey, foreman, presented the grand jury's report at the general sessions. This was accepted by his lordship, and the jury was discharged.

Grand jury report: The different institutions under county of Frontenac jurisdiction and patronage were visited. The officials were called, and every opportunity was given to examine the departments under their control.

In the jail are fourteen male prisoners, and one insane female; the latter has been in custody since April 23rd; we think she should be removed to the asylum. The jail warden, hostess, and the general sessions. This was accepted by his lordship, and the jury was discharged.

Kingston Penitentiary.

Interesting Facts Concerning That Institution.

From the last annual report the following information is gleaned concerning the Kingston penitentiary: The number of inmates is 448, the number received during the year being 134. The annual cost of maintaining the inmates is $145,447, but this can be reduced by a revenue of $42,000, making the cost per capita $200.

There is a special department maintained in the prison for female convicts and it is interesting to note that there is only seven in custody at the present time. On the point the warden very naturally made remarks. "The gradual but persistent increase in this class of prison population points to a time in the near future when the question of further maintenance of a full penitentiary establishment for female convicts will demand consideration. For this little family, of seven delinquents we at Kingston penitentiary are keeping up a prison establishment of thirty-two cells, with matron, assistant matron, kitchen, work room, wash rooms, etc. It would be infinitely better and cheaper to separate the women from the penitentiary. There are over thirty unoccupied cells but they are used for the women at present being used for male convicts."

Some years ago a suggestion was made to the department at Ottawa, that an arrangement might be made with the Ontario government for the care of these women at the Mercer reformatory. That institution has only between fifty and sixty inmates, although there is accommodation for three times the number.

The desirability of keeping youths under twenty-out of the penitentiary is emphasized by the inspector, who very rightly remarks, "This institution is adapted to those whose criminal habits have been formed, and whose characters are yet in the plastic or formative condition." As those under twenty years of age now constitute one-eighth of the prison population, the removal of the half dozen women would provide separate accommodation for young men under twenty, who could be placed under more distinctive reformatory influences.—J. J. Kelso, Toronto.
