Herpicle is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb, and by destroying the microbe one's hair is bound to grow luxuriantly. Herpicle is the only hair remedy, that claims to, and really does, destroy the dandruff germ.

HAND SHATTERED

By Giant Firecracker—To Lay Corner Stone.

Ottawa, June 25.—While celebrating St. Jean Baptiste day, yesterday, Caliste Brooker, aged thirty-three, of Gatineau Point, had his right hand shattered to pieces by an explosion of giant fire crackers. He threw the crackers down, and as they did not explode, immediately, he thought the fuse had burned out. Stooping he picked it up, and the explosion followed.

Lieut. Governor Mortimer Clark, of Ontario, will lay the corner stone of the New Presbyterian church here at seven o'clock Thursday night. He is coming to Ottawa to assist at convocation of the Ladies' College and will also honor the Stewart congregation.

Office And Its Rewards.

Can you imagine a community in which the political pull is absent, and in which men are called to public office because of their peculiar fitness for the duties of it? Yet it is alleged to prevail in Australia, that land of advanced ideas in the administration of public affairs. The statement is made on the strength of Henkle Heaton's article in the Nineteenth Century and for the information of all classes in the mother land.

The question of patronage has been making trouble for the people of England as well as Canada. The favours that may be disposed of by the government constitute the chief incentive on the part of some people towards active political service, and when their party succeeds to power they claim their reward. The clamour for office in Ontario, since the Whitney government has taken over the control of public business, is generally understood. It has led to some scandals. It will lead to others, for the heels will not be turned down.

The Bannerman government has no doubt had its troubles, for the office hunter is not confined to Canada or the United States. Hence Heaton's reference to the experience of Australia. "There," said he, "the patronage evil was rampant some years ago. It is unknown there now." Mr. Heaton writes:

"Instead of allowing public servants to prescribe the amount of salary each is to receive, to budget ministers for appointments, and to threaten conscientious members with defeat at elections, each state parliament has transferred the appointment, control, and remuneration of civil servants to an independent tribunal, constituted for the purpose, called 'The Public Service Board.' The board is composed of three members, irremovable, like our high court judges, except by the vote of both houses. It inquires into the qualifications of applicants, determines the nature of the examinations held for the higher classes, regulates the remuneration for each class, recommends all appointments and promotions, and hears all appeals and complaints."

We (the conservatives) seem to be gaining ground in Nova Scotia. In yesterday's elections we captured three seats from the enemy, and will face the great government in the legislature all of us strong. It is of course, encouraging, but Nova Scotia will have to move faster than that if it desires to keep up with the conservative procession.

Make The Audit Exacting.

Wentworth county, through its council, has been giving another lesson on the necessity of doing the public business in a proper manner. A special audit has been made of its books, and the revelation has startled the council. When they sent men to the council it was with the expectation that they knew what their duty was, or that they would study the situation and proceed with all the care and prudence which the circumstances called for. They failed in their commission, and goodness only knows what their excuse will be.

The facts are these: That at least two of the wardens, according to the Hamilton Spectator, left the superintendent of roads orders on the treasury in blank, and that these, as used by the official aforesaid, represent the only vouchers there are for most of the money spent in Wentworth in the last two years. The superintendent simply filled out the blank orders already signed by the warden, and without furnishing the slightest evidence that it was to be expended in the interest of the county, went to the treasurer, got the money, and so far as the accounts go, that was the last of it. The amount of money thus received by the superintendent was about $70,000.

"In other words," says the Spectator, "the men entrusted by the ratepayers of Wentworth with the duty of keeping guard over the public money, simply allowed the road superintendent to take when he felt inclined to take, and leaving nothing to show for that purpose it was taken but the signature of the warden, who, when he signed the blank orders, had not the slightest idea of what money was to be paid for, or if it ever got past the superintendent."

More remarkable still is there was no audit of the accounts, and the men who were guilty of this unbusiness-like work—the whole council and not the wardens—are distressed for a reasonable and acceptable defence.

The Ontario government has an auditor whose duty it is to help any county into the adoption of an efficient audit system. He is called on at times to tell a council where it is financially. His labour is not as effectual as it should be. A reform in municipal methods can only set in when every county is compelled to adopt modern business methods, and Crookedness In Business.

The most business of the United States is not the only one which is receiving attention. The desire of the people is for pure food, generally, and the result is an examination of fruits, confectionery, canned goods, patent medicines, and liquors. The public analysts have been busy, and they have made some remarkable discoveries.

Just as the meat packers have been accused of doctoring their products so as to improve them in looks and flavor, by the use of paints, extracts and dyes, so the cannery men have been resorting to all manner of deceptions, some of them of the most deplorable kind.

Incidentally a reference was made to the patent medicines for which there is an ever-increasing demand. "There is," said a member of congress, discussing the subject, "a poison adapted to every age, sex and condition. Men who would scorn a toddy and cannot be persuaded by a pleasing compound of mint and other things, honestly and frankly presented, will surrender to 'biters' that are recommended for the stomach's sake. If one may believe what he sees in the portrait gallery of the newspapers, those members of congress who have not been restored by somebody's celery compound have been rejuvenated by another concoction which seems to be the favorite congressional drink. (Laughter.) I happen to know that it is also a favorite prescription in certain prohibition sections. The fact that it makes men drunk, quickly, violently and sometimes viciously, has not hurt its standing as a family medicine."

The agitation for pure food, in solid or liquid form, may not be long continued, but for the time being it is causing many exposures and many reforms. The frauds of the packers are simply shocking. There is, according to one authority, less adulteration than formerly, but more "misbranding, cheating, and swindling by means of imitation foods, and the evil needs immediate legislation." As a result of the laws which congress is passing some craftiness in business will have an end, and it has had its swing long enough.

Editorial Notes.

The express rates will be revised by the railway commission. The business will stand it.

Is there any pure food? The enquiry is suggested by what is going on in the American side. The most attractive goods are the most dangerous to health.

Wentworth will appreciate the audit system hereafter. If some of the councillors had to pay for their mismanagement they would not be punished so severely.

The Crown Life and Continental Life have not been helped by the insurance commissioners. The extravagance of one and the stock transactions of the other are not to their advantage.

Hearst, the socialist, wants the workmen to go into politics, and in that way direct and control passing legislation. The workmen would be as well to give Hearst the cold shoulder.

Do you understand the bitter and personal attack on Mr. Aylesworth? He is understood to be a sensitive man, and the idea is to blackguard him out of office. The scheme will hardly succeed.
