LATE WILLIAM KIRBY

ONE OF CANADA'S GIFTED WRITERS.

His Poems and Novels Have a Permanent Place in Literature —Sketch of His Notable Career.

William Kirby, F.R.S.C., poet and novelist, and one of the most gifted of Canadian writers, who died Saturday at Niagara-on-the-Lake, was born October 13th, 1817, at Kingston-upon-Hull, England, and was a representative of the old Yorkshire family, of Kirby, of Kirby Wiske, a branch of which were Virginia loyalists, who returned to England at the American revolution. Maternally he was descended from the Watsons of Kingston-upon-Hull. In 1832 he came to Canada with his parents, but a portion of his education was received in Cincinnati, Ohio, under Alexander Kinmont, a distinguished Scottish scholar. Here he gained a knowledge of Latin, by means of which in later years he was able to delve into the classic and to acquire an extensive knowledge of languages, as his acquaintanceship with seven different tongues showed.

In 1839 he journeyed with his rifle, several classical books, and wardrobe back to Canada, staying for some time in Niagara. He then made his way back to Montreal and Quebec. While in the ancient capital he paid a visit to points of historic interest, and among other things that caught his eye was the tablet of Le Chien d'Or on the facade of the old Philibert house. Returning to Montreal, he decided to come to Upper Canada, and he settled in Niagara. For twenty years after 1853 he edited the Niagara Mail. It was during this period in 1859, that he issued one of the first poems of any length published in Upper Canada. It was entitled "The U.E., a Story of Upper Canada."

"Concluding his journalistic work after this apprenticeship," writes Frank Yeigh, in an article on "Canada's Oldest Living Novelists" in the Globe of February 25th, 1905, "Mr. Kirby turned his attention almost exclusively to literary work, producing in succession a series of volumes that yet stand high in our native literature, and in recognition of which he was chosen by the Marquis of Lorne as one of the twenty-one original members of the English literature section of the Royal Society of Canada.

"Mr. Kirby's literary fame chiefly rests, however, upon his Canadian historical romance, "Le Chien d'Or.' After the book was written it had a strange history. When the manuscript was sent to England it lay for two years or more in a Toronto baggage room, all trace of it having for the time been lost. When the book was afterwards published in Montreal the author received nothing for it, nor for any of the score of pirated editions or French translations that have marked its life since that time. In recent years a Boston publishing house, with a degree of conscience in marked contrast to former thefts by other publishers, has produced a fine edition of the novel, and voluntarily pays the author a royalty on all copies sold. In this connection it is a satisfaction to observe that 'Le Chien d'Or' occupies a prominent place on the book counters of Montreal and Quebec, and that it has a steady sale. From its long lease of life the book may almost be considered a classic."

Speaking further, Mr. Yeigh says that Mr. Kirby's Idylls form a unique series of volumes, "Dead Sea Roses" describes Fort George, "The Hungry Year" tells of the United Empire Loyalist movement, "Stony Creek" is a vivid description in blank verse of that important action in the war of 1812. Other subjects thus treated in verse are: "The Queen's Birthday," "Spina Christi," "The Bells of Kirby Wiske," "The Lord's Supper in the Wilderness," and "The Harvest Moon."

Several dramatic works were also produced by him, while his contributions of papers to historical and archaeological societies have been many and valuable.

YOU CAN'T HUG.

Jack's New Waltz is Dreamy, But There's No Tight Clasp.

New York, June 25.—Dreamy waltzes with the woman held in dignified positions, the man's right hand resting lightly at the waist line, while the tips of his left fingers just touch the palm of his partner's right hand, were selected yesterday by the United Professional Teachers of Dancing in America to replace the angular hugging postures now assumed in ballrooms, at a session of the convention held in the Forst Academy, 1,536 Third avenue.

Determined to do away with angle-like attitudes and substitute curves in Rhich it will be impossible to take a hugging position without openly squeezing one's partner, these masters of the terpischorean art have decided to force the public to adopt the six new dances, all combinations of the graceful minuet and the slow, dignified waltz step, or to be out of style in their way of dancing.

One of the dreamiest and slowest of the new waltzes is called Dreamland, and was composed by J. Hackett, of Hamilton, Ont. It is dedicated to Hugh A. Thompson, brother of the man who wrote the song "On the Pier at Dreamland," and is danced to the music of this ballad.

Ideal Schottische, a waltz combination with a schottische sidestep, was composed by Joseph Dawson, and his fifteen-year-old daughter, of Philadelphia, Pa. It is really the work of the young woman, who, catching the idea of her father, perfected the dance, and with him as a partner she showed the assembled masters the beauties of their joint work during the meeting called for the examination of new steps.

The Oakland, a combination of waltz and the old style minuet, composed by Mrs. E. Honn, of Oakland, Cal., and named after her native town, won applause from all of the teachers because it offers opportunities for training pupils to take graceful positions and gives no chance for romping or the detested angular attitudes that the association is fighting.

Another new one that will doubtless be popular with the young is the Military Glide waltz, created by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber, of Utica, N.Y.

Souvenir Selling Stopped.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 26.—The souvenir counters, knick-knack stands and refreshment stalls, in which visitors have generally become forcibly interested on their visits to the great cataract, put in a quiet Sunday, at the behest of the Lord's Day Alliance and the attorney-general department. In this city seekers who have their stands near the transportation lines all keep open on Sunday because they find it the most profitable of the seven days in the week. Once in a season, however, proprietors are swooped upon and warned that they will be prosecuted if they continue in their commercialism over the Sabbath. Sunday, the staff of Provincial Officer Mains paid official visits all along the frontier from Clippewa to Queenston, and as a result business was shut down for at least one Sunday in the season.

New Society Paper.

London, June 25.—The first number of a new society weekly, The Throne, appeared last week. It is a luxurious production, and it can be obtained by subscription only. Its motto seems to be: "For society women by society women." It has a bewildering galaxy of women editors, two of whom look after one page. The portraits of twenty-seven of these editresses appear in the first number, with a note saying that it was impossible to include all in time for this edition. The twenty-seven include a couple of princesses and a duchess. The rest are countesses and other brands of peeresses, with a few honorables and plain madams. The contributors are of like social distinctions. It cannot be said that the quality of the matter is so high as that of the editresses and contributors.

Sausage Makers Warned.

New York, June 26.—Within the last two weeks, it is learned, about fifty manufacturers of sausage have been called before the board of health and warned that they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law if they do not at once comply with the provisions of the sanitary code and label their product with a description of any preservative used.

An Owen Sound Rumor.

Owen Sound, June 26.—Through some unaccountable agency there is rife throughout the town an allegation that the members of the council accepted bribes from the company to which was awarded the contract for improvements to the municipal electric light plant, involving the expenditure of about $30,000. The report is not credited.

Fine Selection Of Goods.

Prevost, Brock street, has received another case of Scotch tweed and fancy worsted and serge, in all colors, for suiting, for his order work department. They are without doubt the finest patterns and quality he has ever had in his store. They were bought under value. A suit of them made to order will be sold under the usual value.

A Shower Of Green Frogs.

Alton, Ill., June 26.—A heavy rain storm, accompanied by a gale, swept over Alton yesterday, and a deluge of small green frogs was precipitated. The frogs fell so plentifully that thousands were hopping around the street. Pedestrians and vehicles crushed them by hundreds, so thickly were the streets strewn.

Thanked Strathcona.

London, June 26.—Presiding at the annual meeting of the Royal Military Benevolent Fund, Lord Strathcona expressed himself as impressed by the benevolent character of the work performed, and was accorded a vote of thanks and re-elected to the directorate.

President Gompers is planning an exhibition to be held in Chicago next fall to demonstrate the growth of the labor union movement, and the superiority of union-made goods.

A PESTIFEROUS GERM.

Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule, do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp and it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shrivelled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it, but today dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

DRAG IN PREMIER

To Testify for Women Suffragists in Police Court.

London, June 25.—The women suffragists are trying to drag Premier Campbell-Bannerman, president of the board of trade, David Lloyd-George, and chancellor of the exchequer, Asquith to the police court, on Wednesday the 27th, in order to testify in their behalf when the adjourned hearing comes up of the case against Miss Billington, Miss Kenney and three other leaders of the militant woman suffragists who were arrested in Cavendish Square, June 21st, for creating a disturbance outside of Mr. Asquith's house.

Mrs. Parkhurst, another suffragist, applied to a magistrate for summonses against the officials mentioned, stating that Mr. Asquith would be in a position to explain to the court why the suffragists invaded Cavendish square, while the premier and Mr. Lloyd-George could testify in regard to the speeches in which they advised the women to take the course they had adopted.

The magistrate declined to compel the attendance of Mr. Asquith, but promised to grant summonses for Premier Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Lloyd-George, if the applicant produced evidence that the women had acted at their instigation.

Lactated Food

For Baby in Hot Weather

Baby's health, growth and life depend upon its food and dieting during the hot weather. Stale, diluted and diseased cow's milk, means death for the little one. Poor, scanty and unhealthy breast milk depresses baby's vitality and strength. All these foods are producers of deadly cholera infantum, dysentry and diarrhoea.

During the hot weather, wise mothers feed their babies on health-giving LACTATED FOOD which increases vitality, flesh, bone and muscle. Thousands of our best physicians daily recommend the use of LACTATED FOOD. Try it, dear mother, if you are anxious about your baby's welfare and growth. Ask your druggist for it; one trial will convince you of its worth.
