The younger brother sank and was drowned, but the older managed to save himself, and at once gave the alarm. An attempt was made to resuscitate the body, but without success.

NIAGARA FRUIT CROP

IMMENSE YIELD OF PEACHES PROMISED.

Apples Also Said to Be Doing Well—Moisture Has Produced a Great Yield of Large Strawberries.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 27.—Other years have seen bountiful fruit and grain crops in the Niagara Peninsula, but by present indications this year will outdo all the rest. Peaches are looking exceptionally promising and the product to the acreage will perhaps exceed any previous year, fruit growers say. A big crop is now almost absolutely assured as the point of all danger is about past.

While peaches will be a good crop the yield of plums will be comparatively small, this being the off-year for plums. The Japanese variety are almost a complete failure, while the blue and all other varieties are very shy.

Peaches and apples will be a very good crop from present indications, and apples will be a great deal better than last year. Few apple trees, comparatively speaking, are left around here now because of the ravages of the San Jose scale.

Strawberries are an immense crop, mainly due to the wet weather of late, which also caused the fruit to grow to unusual size. The flavor is exceptionally fine, no better berries ever having been grown in the Niagara fruit belt than this year.

If the weather continues fairly moist the raspberries will also be abundant as they are full of promise just now. Dry, hot weather would shrivel up the fruit and prevent growth. Gooseberries, currants, etc., will be plentiful.

The farmers are in the midst of hay-cutting at present, and the yield per acre is very large, though a few weeks ago it looked as if the hay crop was going to be a complete failure, due to lack of rain. The abundant moisture of late has helped the hay along wonderfully.

The same thing applies to fall wheat. The straw is richer, rather an advantage than otherwise, farmers say, but the head is very heavy. The wet weather has also greatly benefited the spring crops. Corn, potatoes, tomatoes, etc., all look exceptionally well.

LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Not An Egg in the Waggon Broken.

A lively runaway down upper Earl street furnished considerable excitement this morning. Mr. Wartelsky, a merchant, of Colebrook, was driving into town with farm produce for Gillies and Co., Barry street, when the king bolt broke and the waggon tumbled down to the ground. The horses dashed off with the two front wheels. A little boy on the waggon was thrown off and hurt, but not seriously. The horses were caught, and little damage resulted. Strange to say not one of the eggs in the waggon were broken.
