AFFAIRS OF THE CITY

A SPECIAL APPROPRIATION IS NEEDED.

For Tree Trimming—Question of Civic Salary Revision—City Council Meeting Monday Evening.

Monday evening's meeting of the city council will likely be the last before the long vacation. A special meeting, however, may be called if the board of works decides to recommend the appointment of a city engineer.

Until a large appropriation is made for extensive tree trimming, there will never be satisfaction. At present, trimming is done only in response to applications. One tree on a street may be trimmed at the request of a citizen, while others alongside, which may badly need trimming are left alone.

Any change from the system now in vogue would involve the expenditure of more money, because at least double the help would have to be engaged.

A mistaken idea seems to prevail, even among aldermen, as to the ownership of the trees. All trees on city property belong to the city. Citizens may plant trees on the streets in front of their properties, but if these are within the street line, then they become the property of the city.

Those planting trees which live a year are allowed twenty-five cents for each one, according to an old rule of the city council.

Ald. Rigney wants all the civic committee meetings to be held in the evening, so that more time may be given the various matters under discussion. Afternoon meetings, he holds to be inconvenient for many aldermen.

The board of works had a fine conference on Thursday evening, when it sat from half past seven till nearly eleven o'clock, discussing various matters of interest to the city, including Ald. Bassam's new and sure method for killing weeds.

There are other aldermen who favour afternoon meetings, preferring to slip away from business for an hour or so before six o'clock. They say it is all right for Ald. Rigney, a confirmed bachelor, to be found of evening sessions, but that their wives will not allow them to be out three or four nights in succession, even on civic business.

Nothing has yet been done by the committee appointed by the city council to report upon the civic salary question, and it looks as though each committee would do what has been done in the past—attend to its own business and let the matter rest.

The city clerk's salary this year will be increased by about $200, through which he is entitled by law, but has not been collecting. In the time of the late City Clerk Flanagan, marriage, birth and some other documentary fees went to him. The city solicitor wrote the finance committee that the city clerk was entitled to these now, and, therefore, hereafter he will collect them.

Passed Examinations. Miss Grace Connor, M.A., who has been attending Normal College, Hamilton, during the past year, has been successful in all her examinations, receiving certificates for both public and high school work; also a specialist in classics.

A Bright Musician. A Port Arthur paper pays a high compliment to little Miss Nellie George, who won one of the medals at the Virginia School of Music there. She is only twelve, and the item says she played brilliantly, and with skill, grown people might envy.

REPAIRS ARE REQUIRED

To Certain Concrete Walks in Victoria Ward.

Ald. Bassam is not without complaint as to the treatment accorded him by his fellow legislators on the board of works. At Thursday evening's meeting the alderman from Victoria ward moved that the cement walks on Union street and University avenue be repaired at once. He pointed out that in the latter case, especially, the engineer's department, had been repeatedly promising to repair it. For the past two years and yet nothing had been done. It was not only a disgrace to the city and a possible cause for damages against the city on account of accidents, but an injustice to the residents. They had no right to pay for what they did not receive, just because it was the city that had done the work. The alderman claimed that there would be further trouble if a move were not made at once and he would not be surprised if the people on University avenue refused to pay further assessments.

The chairman and Ald. Rigney claimed that it would be attended to as soon as the plant got out that way. It was too expensive to move the plant from one part of the city to another for small pieces of work.

Ald. Bassam again contended this was not a small piece of work, but that the whole walk was breaking out. He thought it unnecessary to move the whole plant for repairing. It also affected his dignity that the chairman of Victoria ward's requests did not meet with more respectful recognition instead of being lightly cast aside by his colleagues.

Ald. Rigney started in to elaborate the walks built in Victoria ward and compare them with the work done for the ward he represented. However, the city father from the western portion of the city soon had the marine man trimmed, and made him run into shelter by claiming to be the one who started the building of walks when no one was interested. He had come around with petitions and now to-day petitions were being brought in from all quarters, unsolicited. Ald. Bassam also wanted to know why it was going to take the plant two more years to reach the streets in question and the citizens had been told the work would be attended to at once and they never touched the matter. In fact, the alderman insisted on his motion being placed in the minutes. He further stated that he may carry the question into council if the citizens interested have not already done so.

EGGS GOING UP.

Small Fruit Scarce—Market News.

A fair morning and a fair market, alike a good combination for seller and buyer and business on the square, today, was had by the customers, who were especially busy. Eggs, none too plentiful, have advanced in tone to 19c. and 20c. a dozen. Butter remains 25c. a lb., but may carry the price of a five-cent advance before long owing to the high price of cheese. The milk flow is good, but the cheese factories are taking the Saturday night run and women prefer not to milk in the heat of the day. Chickens were offered in better sizes and at 65c. and 75c. a pair; year old fowl, $1 a pair.

Small Fruits were a new feature. Gooseberries sold at 8c. a quart box; currants, 5c. a quart, and a few strawberries at 15c. a box. Reports claim that the fruit market is very large quantities at 40c. and 50c. a peck, a decrease over a week ago of ten cents.

Meat prices remain steady, with no change.

Joseph Swilt has sold the magnificent apple orchard, advertised in the Real Estate Bulletin, under the caption, "The Opportunity of a Lifetime," which it certainly was. The property in question is situated in the most picturesque part of the Bay of Quinte, directly opposite the Lake-on-the-Mountain. Some years ago, $20,000 was refused for the property.

A. A. Godwin, Regina, Sask., is the fortunate buyer, and since the fact of the sale has been made, several disappointed ones, and the kind that never make a move until their opportunity is gone forever.

Tribute To A Principal.

The Cobourg Collegiate Institute board at its last meeting, presented an address to G. W. Mitchell, B.A., principal, who is coming to Queen's University as visiting professor of classics. The address bore testimony to Mr. Mitchell's unflinching industry, zeal and devotion to duty. It also spoke of his ability and shrewdness as administrator and financier, due credit to his being a Scotchman. The collegiate board regretted his departure, and recorded that if money could have kept him with them, they would have cheerfully paid him the largest sum the town treasury could afford.

The Selection Of Goods.

Protest, Brook street, has received another case of Scotch tweed and fancy worsted and serge, in all colors, for suiting, for his order work department. MAKE OF CHEESE

HAS WONDERFULLY IMPROVED IN FRONTENAC.

There is Call For Products Now—The Prices of the Present to Be Maintained if Not Increased.

Next week the cheese instructors for Eastern Ontario, syndicates throughout the province, will leave for a meeting in Montreal. They will practically be in charge of G. G. Pulow, of this city, and chief cheese instructor for this district of the province. There will also be delegations from many of the cheese boards. Beside other business of importance to the cheese-maker visits will be paid the leading exporters and their houses.

Speaking of the coming trip D. J. Mackinnon, of the city, buyer and local manager for the James Alexander company, limited, expressed regret that more from Kingston were not going.

"It is too bad," he said, "that the different salesmen of the Frontenac cheese board have not thought seriously of visiting Montreal. I firmly believe that you could not only be of personal interests, but also to the farmers of the community."

G. H. Robinson, instructor for Kingston syndicate will go to Montreal. "I have done you consider the make of cheese has been this year," the Whig reporter asked Mr. Mackinnon. "Exceptionally good," was his emphatic reply. "The make has not only been heavy but of a first-class quality. Pasture has been of the finest and the milk flow good, so that with comparatively good weather the cheese has turned out well. Especially do I commend the front factories who 'done well this year.'"

As he continued the conversation, this prominent buyer grew somewhat discontent, referring to six years back. Then Frontenac cheese had a far different grading on the market than to-day. He said that the Montreal exporters then refused Kingston cheese. "I thank, principally to the system of instructors and cheese makers of the Frontenac cheese board, a kindly sale."

"There is not another syndicate in the district that has made the pronounced strides in her cheese making as has Kingston," asserted Mr. Mackinnon. "What syndicate in Eastern Ontario makes in your opinion the best cheese?" was asked. "I must say the laurel wreath goes to Prince Edward," said Mr. Mackinnon. "There is a marked call in the old country markets for this cheese. And much of the praise for bringing the Prince Edward cheese to its present high standard lies with a Kingston boy, Dr. C. A. Pablow, for three years instructor for that syndicate."

To the question whether or not the farmer could expect good prices for the product for the rest of this season, Mr. Mackinnon replied in the affirmative. "I would not be surprised to see cheese go to 13c," he said, "if it goes down it will not likely go below 10c. and, then only for a week or two. Cheese in our markets for this year is in great demand in the old country markets and to some extent through the exposures in connected lands, the local-Canadian and United States—consumption is increasing. Of course, however, it is the European market which influences the prices."

A Six-Day Excursion.

THE BY-LAW FAILED

TO GET BEYOND A FIRST READING.

County Clerk Safe in His Position Till the End of the Year—Peddlers' By-Law Amended for Benefit of County Rate-payers.

The office amalgamation scheme discussion was continued when the county council met Friday afternoon. Councillor Sproule raised a question concerning the making out of pay sheets by the treasurer and where some differences arose. The clerk, he held, should make out the pay sheets. Mr. Purdy stated that he had made out the sheets on occasions when the clerk was not present at committee meetings, but he did so at the request of councillors who wished their money. What Councillor Sproule desired to point out was that he was opposed to a "one man power." If the treasurer acted also as clerk, there would be no check on the pay sheets as now. Councillor Pillar pointed out that the treasurer only did as he was requested by committees.

Councillor Stoney said that the amalgamation scheme would be a benefit in this way, in that the treasurer and clerk would have full knowledge of all committees called, and would be in full control and know just who to pay.

Councillor Drew moved for the second reading of the amalgamation by-law, but the warden ruled the motion out of order, holding that it could not be re-introduced at the present session. The warden's ruling was accepted without debate, and the by-law will have to be held over till the November session for another reading.

The peddlers' by-law was amended, by reducing the license fees to peddlers who are ratepayers of the county. The council adjourned till the third Tuesday in November.

No Reason For Warning.
