The Play is Still Unclean.

Some months ago, "Mrs. Warren's Profession" was suppressed in New York. The playgoers of that city can stand a good deal that does not appeal to virtue, but they could not tolerate this production.

The judgment of the court is, however, lacking in element of consolidation. It is held that the defendants are not liable to criminal prosecution, under the code, and the judge, while not finding in its literature anything which could be designated as indecent, questioned the fitness of it.

Mr. Shaw, the author in England, regards the decision of the court as a vindication, and promises to revive the play.

It may be possible to reverse public opinion upon the play but it is not likely. It is branded as unclean, and nothing that has been said or done during the hearing of the case has tended to make it clean.

Etiquette of the Profession.

The question of vested rights again comes home in a very peculiar way in the Crichton case.

One of the speakers, a doctor, and, not now in practice, described the offense a little more explicitly when he said it "was not, because of his belief in any theory, nor for more advertising, but because of alleged fraud in advertising."

Council for the accused asked that the case go over until September or until the next annual meeting, so that he might have more time in which to prepare his defence.

Editorial Notes.

Quebec has the distinction of having the largest debt, as a city, in Canada. It is not to be envied.

The Jews are returning to Palestine, which is no man's land while ruled by the Turks. It is like going back to captivity.

The business tax in Quebec was made exacting because the province wanted revenue. But now that there has been another surplus business men will look for lighter taxes.

Does the license of a hotel cover the sale of cigarettes? It is held so in Peterboro, where there is a by-law against the handling of cigarettes by all who fail to put up $200 each.

Winston Churchill does not think much of the House of Lords, and by the same token the House of Lords does not think much of him. The compliment is therefore reciprocal.

W. J. Bryan will accept the democratic nomination for the presidency of the United States—if no one else wants it, and Hearst, who wants everything in sight, retires in his favor.

Senator Choquette objects to the new Sunday bill, because it will interfere with the Sunday horse races in Quebec. It is time something was done to improve the "customs" of the people.

The Toronto World hammered Mr. Aylesworth because he opposed public ownership, and, being correct, now hammers him because he has not done this. It is bound to be against him anyway.

The Toronto Telegram is moved to say that the report, which has caused the dismissal of Deputy Commissioner Bastedo, "So far as its terms have been disclosed by the Ontario government," is a pettyfogging, cowardly production.

The land owners are very much interested in the selection of a site for another attempt at the social elevation of the people, that he will write another novel, and in it deal with some industry whose conditions are even worse than those of the stock yards, and where the employees, and not his product, will receive attention.

A Terrible Doom.

SOME SYRIAN SWEARING.

Made An Item in Police Court To-Day.

In an endeavor to settle the disputes of our Assyrian citizens, Mayor Rowan, on the bench in police court, this morning, had Joseph Shatela bound over to keep the peace, and fined $3 and costs.

Defendant appeared on two charges, abusive language and disorderly conduct, said by Nicholas Rahal, T. J. Rigney appeared for complainant, and John Hassan as interpreter.

Defendant was not present when court opened and a warrant was about to be issued for him, when he swung into court. He explained he could not get a lawyer. Later John McIntyre, K.C., came in and said he would not set for defendant; he explained the previous differences between the two parties.

David Rahal, Nicholas Rahal and Alexander Elinson gave evidence of the abusive language. Defendant denied using any bad words; he said the Rahals were always bothering him. He was inclined to grow vehement and gesticulate wildly. Suddenly he burst into a torrent in his native tongue.

"There he is swearing," cried several witnesses for complainant. The interpreter admitted Shatela had done so.

Of the fine, $2.50 goes to Rahal to pay for the broken windows in his Brock street shop.

The mayor said to Shatela: "If these people bother you, as you say, you can seek redress in the courts; beware of taking the law in your own hands."

MISSION STUDY.

A School of This Type Now Proceeding.

Whitby, Ont., July 11.—The first summer school for mission study in international inter-denominational enterprise is now in full swing at the Ontario Ladies' College here.

This morning, Rev. R. J. Cronkite, straight from Lake Geneva, where one of these schools on the other side of the boundary is held, told of his experiences as a missionary in "The Orient. Last evening, at a popular gathering, which filled the beautiful concert hall, Rev. Osborne Troop, Montreal, began his series of brilliant Bible studies. Rev. Dr. Garman made a comparative resume of the world's great natural religions such as Shintoinism, Buddhism and Confucianism, in an absorbingly interesting address on the mission field in Japan, China and India.

A WANDERING BOY.

"Where is My Boy To-Night?"—Answer Home.

The secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. received word yesterday that the young lad from Onondia, N.Y., who while spending last Friday in town, got left, had arrived home safely. He had a strenuous trip. Though he left the Y.M.C.A. building at 6:30 o'clock he failed to catch his seven o'clock train and had to wait in town till the midnight. Instead of getting off at Gananoque, he was carried on to Rockport where he got a boatman to take him to Grindstone Island to join the Y.M.C.A. campers of whom he was one.
