DLAW & SON --ack Habutai

Amongst all the hosts of black silks for every purpose the genuine Habutais enjoy greatest popularity and prominence. They seem in ev ery way most serviceable. They lend themselves admirably to any use. They are uncrushable. They are wash silks-in the truest sense of that word "wash." And, last but not least, they are moderate in cost. Two very excellent examples of all these statements are the pieces we'll offer to-morrow, each full 27 inches wide, at 49 and 65c.
