upon the fifth class. Mr. Thompson seid that the board owed it as a simple courtesy to Mr. Driver to give an answer to the petition of 474 rate payers, which he bad forwarded to the board, over a month ago, asking that fifth classes be re-established in the public schools. He claimed that ratepayers could collect the fees wrongfully charged to pupils for tuition in the first form of the Collegiate Institute for the past six years, and such action would very likely be taken.

Mr. Godwin wanted to know what was to be done in regard to future teaching of domestic science, when the arrangement with the Y.W.C.A. was to cease.

Mr. Elliott stated that the Normal school to be established here would likely be ready for September, 1907. The management committee was seeking information with reference to the available for public school classes.

The committee did not want to put a domestic science department in the straw.

Mr. Thompson.

"What's the use of stirring up dirt?" asked Mr. Henderson, who declared that members of the board should certainly not be the first to create trouble in regard to the matter in question. No members of the board should invite ratepayers to take legal action against the body to which they belonged. Such an attitude was wrong. The speaker advised that the question be allowed to rost where it was.
