

"IT SAVED MY LIFE"

PRaise FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Mrs. Willson Tells How She Tried Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound Just in Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willson, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Finkham:

Dear Mrs. Finkham— "I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years, and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monthly periods had ceased, and I was suffering with fainting spells, headache, backache and burning pains, and I was so weak I could hardly get up. As a last resort, I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, I became regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day.

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of an organ, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes. For twenty-five years Mrs. Finkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Finkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Have the County's Affairs Been Gravely Mismmanaged?

Kingston, July 12.—(To the Editor): As a ratepayer of the county of Frontenac I have been taking considerable interest in the action of the county council, and of the varied and curious methods of procedure adopted by it lately. The city of Toronto has investigated its council and in spite of general denial by the gentlemen composing that body, Judge Winchester has found certain matters which have gravely affected the interests of that city, and the honor of the members of that body and some of its officials, in fact, graft seems to have been rampant.

Now, Mr. Editor, I think that it would be well for the ratepayers of this county to ask an investigation into the handling of the affairs of this county, when you consider that within the last couple of years we have had the extraordinary conduct of the members of the county council when in session, followed by a letter published by the clerk, if that letter represents the action of the county, have been gravely mismmanaged and the honor of some of the members of the council has been attacked. It is now for the members of that board to vindicate their own honor, either that, or resign. If what the clerk says is true, the sooner the members of the council are dismissed the better.

Would it not be well to enquire into the contracts that have been made in the past few years, whether the money has been rightly spent or not, and whether or not there has been any graft in connection with the various contracts such as has been proven in Toronto.—H. GRIMSHAW.

William Swain, piano tuner. Orders received at McAuley's book store.

AN ELECTOR OR NOT?

KNOTTY QUESTION WAS ASKED THIS MORNING.

The Arguments Pro and Con.— Judge Price Heard the Case in Chambers—Messrs. McIntyre and W. A. Givens the Counsel.

A motion to disqualify County Councillors W. W. Pringle, of Arden, and W. D. Black, of Parham, was heard by Judge Price in chambers at eleven o'clock Friday morning. The motion was made by County Clerk Edwards, who was represented by D. A. Givens. For the two county councillors, John McIntyre, K.U., and D. M. McIntyre, appeared. The case arose out of the action of a section of the county council last week trying to disqualify the county clerk by amalgamating the offices of clerk and treasurer.

The claim against Councillor Pringle was that he had forfeited his seat in the council by reason of having an interest in a contract for the supplying of lumber to the corporation of the county of Frontenac.

Mr. McIntyre, K.U., had some preliminary objections to offer. By section 221, R.S.O. it was necessary for the relator to state specifically what interest he had as an elector of the municipality, which Councillor Pringle represented. The county clerk in his affidavit simply stated that he was an elector of the county. This was not sufficient to make the motion good. The relator must be an elector of the municipality which Mr. Pringle represents, viz., division No. 6, which includes the townships of Barrie, Clarendon and Miller, Kennebec, and North and South Canoto. Dr. Edwards is an elector in Kingsville township, but not in the townships comprising No. 6 division, and hence Mr. McIntyre claimed he could not attack Mr. Pringle's qualification.

Judge Price—"Has not every elector of the county an interest in the purity of the county council and its administration of the affairs of the county?"

Mr. McIntyre—"No, your honor, that's not the question. In this case he must be an elector of the municipality."

Mr. Givens held that Dr. Edwards had quite sufficient interest in the election to give him the right to be the relator. No. 6 division was not a municipality. It had not been incorporated as such. The act stated that he held meant "any" municipality, which would be the relator. Mr. Givens held that any twenty voter could be relator.

D. M. McIntyre pointed out that there was no such thing as a municipal election for the municipality of the county of Frontenac. He held that if Dr. Edwards couldn't show that he is an elector in Councillor Pringle's division he could not be relator in this case.

Judge Price said that he held to the view expressed by Mr. McIntyre, that the relator must be a voter in the municipality represented by the councillor in question. However, he would hear the evidence.

Dr. Edwards was the first witness, and produced a bill for repairs to Cross Lake bridge. It contained an item of $18.15 for lumber supplied by W. W. Pringle, and was passed by the county council.

Crossed by Mr. McIntyre, County Clerk Edwards said he had no vote in Councillor Pringle's division. Cross Lake bridge was in Kennebec township. The bill was from the reeve of that township.

Councillor Sproule testified that the bill was handed to him by Councillor Pringle at the last regular session of the council. The lumber was purchased by Councillor Pringle. He made a verbal contract with him to supply it. The work of fixing the bridge was supervised by the reeve of Kennebec. To Mr. McIntyre, witness said he didn't know if the bill was paid. If not the money was in the county treasurer's office. The bridge witness said was no longer a township bridge. The cost of maintaining the bridge was shared by township and county.

Mr. McIntyre stated that the order made by Judge Price was never registered, so that the Cross Lake bridge is not yet a county bridge, but still a township bridge.

County Treasurer Purdy stated that he had authority to pay the account, but the money had not been called for.

Reeve Miller, of Kennebec, testified that in past years the township had maintained the bridge. Since March, the county had not done so, on condition that the township pay twenty-five per cent. of the repairs. The custom out there was to give orders for lumber to Mr. Pringle, who is agent for Thomson & Avery. That was done in this case. The reason Mr. Pringle's name was put on the account instead of Thomson & Avery's was because he certifies to the lumber being supplied. It was done merely for convenience, Reeve Miller said that he himself made the arrangement with Mr. Pringle for the lumber.

Witness said he, as reeve, had signed the agreement between Kennebec and the county regarding the future repair of the bridge. Clerk Edwards remarked that this agreement was registered.

Mr. McIntyre stated that a dozen such agreements would not make the bridge a county bridge. It is the duty of a judge or a reeve to see that the order made had not been registered, and thus, Cross Lake bridge was still a township bridge.

Judge Price agreed with Mr. McIntyre. The order must be registered and on after the date of registration the bridge would become a county bridge, not before.

Mr. McIntyre held that no contract with the county had been made out, and, therefore, the motion, must be dismissed, with this honor agreed.

Mr. McIntyre asked that he be dismissed with costs. He held that it was a very improper case for Mr. McIntyre to be relator in this case. His position was that of a confidential officer of the county. In a similar case, where a county clerk had succeeded, he was not allowed costs.

The judge said that no contract had been proven between Councillor Pringle and the county. When, in a case where a clerk had been successful, a county clerk had been refused costs, he could not do otherwise than allow suit in this case. He would dismiss the motion, with costs, fixing $20 as the counsel fee, but not allowing witness fees.

Dr. Edwards decided to drop his motion against Councillor Black.

In remarking upon the Pringle case, the judge said there were many irregularities done by council members. He knew of enough illegal acts to unseat the whole county council.

County Clerk Edwards said he was well aware before hand of the risk he ran in regard to costs, should he either succeed or fail. He didn't get a voter in division 6 to take the proceedings, because of the personal matters involved.

Judge Price stated that in view of the present situation of county council affairs he would like to have dismissed the motion without costs, but had to follow a recognized precedent in cases of the kind where a county clerk took the proceedings.

STOPPED AT BREWERY.

The Horse Made a Rapid Run to It.

This hot weather may give to many men the desire for a cool, refreshing drink, other than water, and many might long to be near the brewery. But who ever thinks of a horse as being animal supposedly endowed with only brute sense, breaking from custody and dashing towards the place where the amber beverage with the deep froth is manufactured wholesale. Of such a master mind is a horse owned by the Dominion Express company, however, and he seized the first opportunity that occurred, yesterday afternoon, to follow the express to the third factory. While delivering some parcels just above the Windsor hotel, on Princess street, the express driver left his horse beside the curb without tying it. A passing auto frightened the animal and it started down street on the trot. When close to the corner of Wellington street, a temporary halt was called. An old gentleman from the country saw the approaching runaway and drew up alongside the walk and then jumped out of his rig. What he should have done was to cross the street, for he had plenty of time. In the collision the collision the horse was molished and the shafts of the express wagon broken. The horse then turned down Wellington street and continued in its wild career until it caught sight of a brewery; then it stopped. Yet people will wonder why?

How To Be Popular.

If you are a woman, and wish to be popular with women, never tell them the truth. Tell them something pleasant. If they will think you are charming, and will desire to meet you again.

The woman who hides her intelligence under guileless questions will find herself admired and sought by men, but despised and avoided by women.

A woman who is popular with men is rarely liked by women. She is generally a clever actress, and her sisters-women see through her.

When a woman finds all else fails in her efforts to attract and hold a man, she appeals to his strength. Unless he is strong, that generally fetters him.

As long as men have faults women will condone them; and as long as women condone them, men will have faults—and longer.

A man does not admire a brilliant and witty woman unless he is more brilliant and can match her wit and go her one better. If she is brilliant and witty and beautiful, more men will admire her if she hides her talents behind her beauty. If she is merely beautiful, all men will admire her.

FALSE THEORIES

Lead to Worthless or Harmful Remedies.

Stimulating the scalp may allay the itching of the dandruff, but that does not cure the scalp. The disease won't yield to quinine or capsaicin nor alcohol, because it is caused by a germ or parasite. To cure dandruff, the germ must be destroyed. Until recently there was no hair preparation or dandruff cure, or hair restorer on the market that would kill that infectious germ that dries up the scalp in little scales, called dandruff, and absorbs the vitality of the hair, causing falling hair, and finally baldness. Newbro's Herpicide is the only really scientific preparation to cure dandruff, prevent falling hair and baldness. Sold by leading druggists. TOWNS GROWING.

They're Springing Up in Quick Order Out in Nevada.

Less than two years ago, a prospector lost his way on the desert, near the California line, in Nye county. Famine with thirst, he became delirious. At length he fell in the hot sands and lay unable to move until death came to his relief. On the spot where that man's body was found, is now the town of Bullfrog. A water works plant costing $50,000 supplies an abundance of water. There are hotels with baths in many rooms, and residences equipped with all the modern paraphernalia that make for comfort, and through them flows in abundance the precious liquid for lack of which a poor prospector perished only a few months ago on this very spot. Electric lights illumine streets where only the stars of heaven looked down on the death of the lonely miner, and within the radius of a very few miles there are now about 15,000 people. That is the way Nevada is growing.

WILL SAVE HER SON

THIS DETERMINATION OF MRS. THAW.

Ready to Sacrifice Millions to Prevent the Courts Inflicting the Death Penalty—Trial Fixed for October.

New York, July 13.—It was definitely decided that Harry Kendall Thaw will be placed on trial, on October 1st, in the murder of Stanford White, and that no commission to consider his sanity will be asked for by the defence. Mr. Jerome himself will conduct the prosecution.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the prisoner, is due, on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, to-morrow, and a wireless message from her put Harry Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit Thaw in a happy frame of mind. It is understood that the mother declared that she would sacrifice all the Thaw millions, if necessary, to save her son.

PASTE FOR ROYALTY.

Blazing Gems Themselves Are Really Stored in Vault.

The visitor to the Tower of London who is permitted to inspect the crown jewels seldom knows that a large proportion of the blazing gems are merely paste, and that although the tower might be considered a safe enough place, most of the famous stones are in reality stored in the vaults of the King's bankers, their places being taken by cleverly executed counterfeiters in paste. The Koh-i-noor is never on exhibition, and some of the other stones are represented by proxy, though the famous ruby worn by his helmet, by Henry when he invaded France, and which now blazes in the centre of the Maltese Cross in the crown made for Queen Victoria, is shown.

It was the early custom to provide an ornate but inexpensive crown for the queen consort, and though these circlets blaze with jewels, none of them are real. When Victoria was to be crowned queen regnant it was realized that it would never do to offer her paste, and a new crown was provided for which stones were taken from the earlier masculine crowns.

With the exception of the queen's crown and some few stones in other badges of royalty, the entire display is of paste, and yet shows the original stones, even the imperial crown never having boasted real jewels.

Oddly enough, many of these paste jewels attract more appreciative comment than the few crowns set with genuine stones, and the sightseer goes on his way rejoicing or envious, a voter in division 6 to take the proceedings.

Intrinsically the entire display is not worth more than a quarter of a million dollars.

"PAINTING THE TOWN RED."

Origin of This and Similar Phrases.

Cleveland, Ohio. In various forms, such as "painting it red," "paint the town red," or simply to "paint the town," there is a popular saying, common also in books which has quite lost its original significance for the average reader or hearer. In the first use of this expressive metaphor there was no suggestion of carousing or lawless and devil deeds.

It came into use from the immemorial habit of celebrating popular festivals or holidays by lighting bonfires. The fires painted the night sky and the scenery red, and hence the color became significant of jubilation and merrymaking. From that meaning it was a short road to carousals and reckless pursuit of pleasure in a loud and conspicuous way.

But it is believed by some authorities that the current phrase owes its immediate vogue in part to the habit of Mississippi river steamboat captains of telling their men to "paint her red" when they were urging them to help more inflammable fuel on the roaring fires under the boilers. That wild, racing spirit was close enough to other outbreaks of hot blood and recklessness to make the transition easy and short.

Again, it is possible to get close to the current meaning of "painting it red" in old allusions to the color of the noses of hard drinkers. It used to be not uncommon in England to use the expression "paint" as equivalent to drink.

Newspapers As Executioners.

Reilly Queen Atlantic Monthly.

When you have some powerful robbers to invoke the popular verdict on, there is nothing like modern journalism for doing the job thoroughly. Those great names in our business and political firmament which lately have fallen like Lucifer diveded expostion in the press most of all. Courts and juries they have faced with equanimity; or, rather, their lawyers could have done it for them in the most beautiful illustration of the law's delay. But the very clamor of newspaper publicity was like an embodied good conscience pronouncing condemnation—every headline an officer. I know of no other power on earth that could have stripped away from those rogues every shelter which their money could buy, and been to them such an advance section of the day of judgment.
