NEWS OF THE WORLD

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

S. M. Thomson Speaks in Its Interest. The Children's Aid Society took advantage of the presence in town of S. M. Thomson, Brantford, an agent of the society whose business it is to look after neglected, dependent, ill-treated, or homeless children, to hold a meeting, yesterday afternoon. Archdeacon Macmorris presided, and the secretary, Rev. D. McCallum, read his report of what has been done for children during the last month, showing that active and effective steps in the interests of children had resulted in their surroundings being bettered and conditions improved.
