STRATHCONA SLEAKS About the Bonds Binding the Two Lands.

London, July 28.—At the presentation of the silver centrepiece to the battleship Dominion, Lord Strathcona said Canadians were proud to know that an officer born in Canada would command the noble ship and also proud to know that other officers of the British navy were Canadians by birth. There were in the British army also not a few Canadians who were doing their duty to their king and country. A visit of the Dominion to Canada, declared Lord Strathcona, would show there was an abiding sentiment of brotherhood and a desire for closest friendship between the mother country and the colony. Capt. Kingsmill responded. The centrepiece bears the inscription, "One life, one flag, one fleet, one throne."

Plague Of Earwigs. London, July 28.—Councillor Enos Smith, yesterday, complained at the meeting of the West Ham town council that the custom house library was over-run by a plague of earwigs. The matter was referred to the library committee.

IS TOO LATE To Save Russia And Ivoff Withdraws.

STOLYPIN'S IDEA IS TO MODIFY SOME OF DOUMA'S PROJECTS.

And Issue Them in Form of Imperial Ukases—Bishops Give Thanks For Douma's Disolution—Viborg Manifesto Printed By Thousands.

London, July 28.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says: Nicholas Ivoff, who represents the Premier Stolypin's cabinet, M. Stolypin clearly intends to make use of some of the projects of law drawn up by the Douma, modifying them in a bureaucratic sense, and issuing them as laws in the form of imperial ukases. The scheme is plausible, but practically so absolutely inapplicable that Ivoff, who was at first ready to put patriotic reasons to support Stolypin, now withdraws, because he is convinced it is too late to save Russia. The Viborg manifesto continues to be printed in thousands. The printers, so far, have been surprisingly successful in eluding the police.

The central committee of the constitutional democrats and the parliamentary faction hold daily meetings in Finland, and are arriving at important decisions. It is intended to enforce the appeals of the Douma manifesto. The socialist organizations which the coup d'etat found ill prepared, are now endeavoring to organize the working masses for a general strike, and are meeting with much success.

Serious rumors are current of a probable renewal of terrorist activity. The bishops of Nijni Novgorod, Kiev and several other cities held thanksgiving services to celebrate the dissolution of the Douma.

OUT TEN MILLIONS. The Saving to Be Made By British Admiralty.

London, July 28.—The agitation for reduction of the naval construction programme has proved successful and Edmund Robertson, parliamentary secretary of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons, yesterday, that only three new battleships of the Dreadnought class would be laid down, instead of four, as originally proposed. Two ocean-going torpedo boat destroyers will be built instead of five and eight submarine boats instead of twelve. The total of the expenditure involved by the new programme is $34,000,000, instead of $44,000,000.

Cows Milked By Advers. Pittsfield, Mass., July 28.—Striped adders are so thick in a pasture on the Goodrich farm, in Hinsdale, that they have taken to milking cows, and a posse of farmers will try to exterminate them. The adders would ordinarily strike a cow's leg and begin to milk the animal. No kicks from the cows could drive away the reptiles.

A Doctor's Mistake. London, July 28.—William John Roberts was sentenced, yesterday, at Row street, to six months' hard labor for forgery. It was stated that some years ago he was married to a woman, and several doctors told him he had not long to live. He immediately set about spending all his money, and when it was gone he recovered.

RESCUERS OF PRINCESS. Suffer For Aiding Her Escape From Asylum.

PRINCESS LOUISE. Berlin, July 28.—The sensational flight of Princess Louise of Coburg from the asylum at Elster, Saxony, where she was imprisoned for five years by her husband, Prince Philip of Coburg, is recalled by a sordid aspect of what was otherwise a romantic escape.

Her lover, Mattschich, enlisted the help of a clerk in the local bank, named Frederick Thormann, and a local innkeeper, named John Weitzer, both of whom rendered valuable aid in furthering the flight of the princess.

Mattschich promised both of them substantial rewards, and Princess Louise, after her escape, renewed these promises in person.

When their complicity in the affair became known, both suffered. Thormann lost a good post, thereby sacrificing his prospects for a pension, while Weitzer lost his best customers and otherwise sustained financial damage.

Two years have elapsed. As the princess shows no sign of redeeming her promises, Thormann and Weitzer have decided to sue her.

Thormann assesses the compensation due him at $10,000, and Weitzer fixes his claim at $9,000.

QUEER DREAM It Was Fulfilled In A Curious Manner.

SKELETON OF A CHILD FOUND ON MOUNTAIN AFTER ELEVEN MONTHS.

Mother Dreamed He Was Brought to Her in Bath—Searchers Secured the Neighborhood—Bloodhounds on the Track.

Cardiff, July 28.—The skeleton of Edwin Pincott, a three-year-old boy, who disappeared from his home at Aberthilly on August 25th, 1905, was found on the mountain side between Aberthilly and Blaenavon, early yesterday morning.

A farmer named Parker was riding in search of some sheep by a clump of gorse, which he had passed repeatedly before, and in which he had noticed what he took to be a bundle of rags, when the conduct of his dog induced him to make a closer examination.

Among the gorse he found the skeleton of the boy, with some fragments of clothes adhering to it. Only the boots were perfectly preserved.

Mr. Parker informed the police, who removed the skeleton to the police station, and told the parents of the discovery. They immediately identified what was left of the clothes.

Mrs. Pincott has dreamed several times lately that her boy was brought to her in a bath, and, strangely enough, it was in a bath she had seen removed the skeleton from the mountain to the police station.

The child had been given to wandering before his disappearance. He went to school some months ago, and on the morning of August 25th, but from the time he left he was never seen alive again.

Search parties scoured the neighborhood for days. On one occasion more than 6,000 miners gave up their work to look for the missing child, but no trace of him could be found.

Essentially bloodhounds were employed, and one of them started off in the direction of the spot where the skeleton was found, but after a time he refused to work.

The search was abandoned after many days, and the opinion prevailed in the district either that the child had fallen down in a fissure in the mountains or a disused mine shaft, or that he had been kidnapped by gypsies.

CLERK HAD NERVE. Bought Millions of Bonds Without Capital.

New York, July 28.—An express company's clerk named Samuel Ryerly, at the cost of a two-cent postage stamp, secured $5,000,000 of the new Panama canal bonds, at par. He will have to pay for the same on August 1st. The bonds have already jumped to $104.40, and Ryerly has resold his allotment at a profit of $27,024.

SHRINE IS SWEEPED AWAY. Vienna, July 28.—The village of Welchrad, a popular Moravian resort of pilgrims, where the bones of the patron saint St. Cyril and St. Methodius are preserved, has been devastated by a flood.

Twenty houses and fifteen farm buildings were swept away, and nine persons are missing. Immense damage was done to cattle and crops, but the sacred bones were rescued by priests from the flooded church.

PAID $25,000 BY A PITTSBURG MILLIONAIRE.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 28.—Avoiding the publicity and scandal of what would have been a sensational trial, Mrs. Mary J. Vetter, a pretty young widow, it was learned that Mrs. Vetter received $25,000.

Mrs. Vetter alleged that she became acquainted with Parker about eight years ago. Parker, who is a bachelor, called frequently on Mrs. Vetter, she alleged, and she frequently accompanied him on business trips west. It was on one of these trips to Philadelphia she alleges, that the proposal of marriage was made. She accepted but no definite date was set for the marriage.

Their engagement was made several years ago, according to Mrs. Vetter. She alleged that he put off setting a date for the wedding from time to time until a year ago, when she claims he told her he would not marry her. She then prepared to enter suit for alleged breach of promise.

Among other allegations made by Mrs. Vetter was that Mr. Parker had fitted up a fine home for her in the east end, where she lived for several years. Mrs. Vetter left Pittsburg shortly after filing the suit, and it is said she has been making her home in New York.

Pushing Cart Around World. Cincinnati, O., July 28.—Anson Hanson, an Australian, who left Vienna in 1900, to travel around the world with a push cart within seven years on a wager of $10,000, passed through this city on his way to New York, where he will embark for Sydney, Australia. He has already travelled through Europe and Africa. After traversing Australia he will sail for Hong Kong, China, and will return home by way of Siberia. He has not yet seen one year and about three months to reach home and is confident that he will win his wager. He has already travelled nearly 30,000 miles, pushing his cart before him, which weighs 450 pounds. Handwritten photographs and postal cards to pay his expenses, and is accompanied by his wife and child.

Suicides Follow Failure. Belgrade, July 28.—The Serbian youths who take to an examination which he had set his heart on passing often commit suicide.

The summer months, when the college examinations and those for public appointments are held, usually bring an extraordinary recurrence of tragedies, and this year is no exception to the rule. No fewer than seven students' suicides were reported in Belgrade this week.

The frequency of these tragedies has been noted by the examiners, who are unusually lenient toward sensitive students.

Celebrates 106th Birthday. New Haven, Conn., July 28.—Mrs. Sylvia Langdon Dunham is celebrating her 106th birthday quietly today in her home at Northampton with her family and friends. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and several members of the society called on her and offered their congratulations. Mrs. Dunham is the widow of Chauncey Dunham. During the last four years her sense of hearing has gradually failed and her eyesight has grown weaker, but in other respects her health is still good.

Vatican Walls Falling. Rome, July 28.—The structural condition of the Vatican is causing serious alarm among the inmates of the apostolic palaces. The pope will have to change his apartments.

Several walls threaten to collapse entirely, and large cracks have been found in the great throne room. Several rooms have been hurriedly emptied of their furniture, and props are being erected.

It is estimated that the repairs will cost $100,000.

Shrine Is Swept Away. Vienna, July 28.—The village of Welchrad, a popular Moravian resort of pilgrims, where the bones of the patron saint St. Cyril and St. Methodius are preserved, has been devastated by a flood.

Twenty houses and fifteen farm buildings were swept away, and nine persons are missing. Immense damage was done to cattle and crops, but the sacred bones were rescued by priests from the flooded church.
