Friendship 100 Years Old.

Friendship, N.Y., Aug. 6.-The cele versary of the founding of this village began here to-day, and will continue through the week. An elaborate programme has been arranged for . the celebration and the festivities have attracted a large number of visitors from the surrounding districts. The village was founded in 1806 by Richard Friar, who came here from Kingston and settled. Others soon followed. As the size of the settlement increased, dissensions arose among the people, and the strife was so hot that the place was called Fighting Corners. Later, however, the differences were amicably settled, and upon the sug gestion of one of the pioneers the place was named Friendship and was incorporated under that name. That
