THE SPORT REVIEW

DECLINE OF INTEREST IN SAILING RACES.

Some of the former keen sailors have dropped out—the Kingston Yacht Club Fleet Needs to Be Added To—General News of Sports.

There has been a very marked decline of interest in sailing races noticeable at the yacht clubhouse for the past couple of years. This season the club races have been poorly entered. The decreased interest is due chiefly to the dropping out of several keen yachtsmen from the sailing yacht ownership. S. C. Calvin disposed of his "Coral Robin," a fine craft in a gale, to the Royal Military College, Ireland brothers' "Wimona" now belongs to the Gananoque fleet; W. C. Kent's "Geisha" (later owned by J. C. G. Almon) is swimming over the bay of Quinte; the "Kestrel" has been on the ways for two or three years, while the "Verona," owned by Dr. Black, seldom races, as the doctor has retired from active yachting, after making an enviable reputation all over Lake Ontario as a keen sailor.

With these yachtsmen occupying their time with gasoline launches, and smoking the pipe of peace, the Kingston Yacht Club has lost some of the former most active members of its sailing fleet. Dalton brothers are the only recent enthusiasts to fill the ranks, with their fine twenty-footer, the "Chrysis," built two years ago. Having beaten Commodore Gledhill's "Teipi" and "Skipper" "Stranger's" "Thelma," they sigh for something more to conquer. A matched race with the two Gananoque twenty-footers would be of great interest.

There are many yachtsmen who would like to see such keen old-timers as John McKelvey and Dr. Curtis have built a couple of twenty-footers to revive yachting. Unless a few more boats are added to the local fleet, a stalemate will soon take place, and racing develop into the lazy cruise.

The club's racing committee has been lethargic this season. It should shake itself and arrange some digby, skiff and canoe contests to make things active at the clubhouse.

May Play Saturday.

It is altogether likely that a match will be pulled off on Saturday afternoon, at the Cricket field between the Young Irishmen and the Triple Linkers. Those two teams are so evenly matched and each has such an enthusiastic following of supporters that a contest between the lines is anxiously awaited by the fans. Arrangements are also being made for another game at Cape Vincent, the 30th of this month. If a boat can be chartered, a special excursion will be taken over with the teams, so that the Kingston people can see the sport. It speaks well for both the Triple Linkers and the Irishmen when they are both taken out of the city and pitted against each other.

News of Note.

At Boston Empire Evans received an ugly wound under the eye from a foul tip that left the wire on his mask.

Much complaint of reckless and dangerous driving was made at last week's grand circuit meeting in Buffalo, but no action was taken.

An agent of the Toronto ball club will start this week on an extended hunt for players. All the minor league stars will be looked over, and the good ones will be secured for next season.

The refusal of the entries of the Algonquin stable by the jockey club of New York was due to the fact that the Algonquin stable was racing name of Arthur Peabody & Sons, and vesting tipsters.

The Buffalo Driving Club has been expelled from the grand circuit for refusing to allow Starter Newton, the official starter of the circuit, to occupy that position at the Kentworth meeting last week.

At Hamburg, Cecil Healy, the amateur champion swimmer of Australia, won the 100-meter swimming championship and the emperor's cup, creating a new German record for the distance of one minute and seven seconds.

London Advertiser: The Toronto bowlers complain that the British hand it to them rather roughly and pile up big scores. Put on real bowlers, and not nice gentlemen, and that they will be solved to a great extent. They are out to win, and the Canucks ought to do likewise.

Prospects for English rugby between the universities of Stanford and Berkeley next fall are becoming brighter, according to the enthusiastic statements of Stanford's head coachman, James P. Lanagan, who has just returned from studying the game in Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Lanagan has seen several matches played in the north, and is highly pleased with the game, and its fine points.

In her wonderful race at Cleveland, the time of which was 2:03, 2:03, 2:03, the Broncho broke seven world's records, namely, that for a pacing mare in a race twice; that for a first heat, a second heat and a third heat, and for two and three consecutive heats by a mare, and, finally, for three consecutive heats by a pacer of any sex or age. The last record was made by Star Pointer at Medford, Mass., September 18th, 1896, his time being 2:02, 2:03, 2:03.

CLOTHING CAUGHT FIRE.

Strenuous Efforts of Young Man Saved Life.

Saturday evening, Miss Mooney, in charge of the ice cream parlor, in connection with Hog's drug store, upper Princess street, had a thrilling experience.

When the gas was being lighted on the counter in some manner her waist of flimsy silk material, caught fire and immediately burst into flames. She ran screaming into the store proper, and the head clerk, Arthur Publow, seeing her enveloped in the flames, rushed to her assistance. He was unable to get her and thrown to the floor, the fire soon extinguished, never at any moment meaning danger, but to the young girl.

Miss Mooney was not at all dangerously hurt, a few slight burns and her hair a trifle scorched.

Mr. Publow suffered two badly burned hands as the result of his speedy and effective assistance. His reaction was the only way and highly commendable from a standpoint of presence of mind. But for the young man, Miss Mooney might have been quite seriously burned. Her escape was fortunate.

JACK TAR ON VISIT

SIDNEY SPARKS OF H.M.S. DOMINION.

In Kingston to See His Sister—He's the Smallest Man on His Ship—Was Formerly Connected With H.M.S. Terrible.

Pictureque in his jolly tar suit, Sidney Sparks, H.M.S. Dominion, is town on a visit to his sister, Mrs. C. H. Bramhall, 53 William street, is attracting considerable attention, as he swings about the streets. This is his first visit to Canada, indeed, he has not seen his sister in eighteen years. One of Britain's "jacks" in full uniform, is a rare sight in the old Limestone City, for big boats cannot call up the St. Lawrence.

Today a Whig reporter had a chat with the sailor. He has been in the English navy for seven years, and is now a full-fledged able seaman. He has been on many ships. This spring he was one of the crew of H.M.S. Terrible, forming an escort for the Prince and Princess of Wales, en route to and from India. On his return to England he was transferred to his present ship.

"Love light," twinkled in his bright face as he spoke in glowing terms of the Dominion. Canada's pride, she is the pride of the Atlantic squadron, and next to the latest armored battleship in old England's possession.

She has come across this side of the water to be shown to the Canadians. On her arrival at Halifax, Mr. Sparks was given three weeks' leave to come to Kingston. He will remain here till the 25th, then rejoin his ship at Quebec. The Dominion is due to arrive in the old fortress town on the 15th, and remain a week. She will be visited by Earl Grey, and presented with the magnificent shield of the gift of Canada. Her sailor boys are to be given a two days' trip to Montreal.

Mr. Sparks is of English birth, and is twenty-four years old. He has the distinction of being the smallest man on his ship, and his comrades have dubbed him "Rabbit." He has a brother, also in the navy, connected with the Mediterranean fleet.

Appropos of the decisions by scores and hundreds from the six cruisers during their stay at Quebec, last August, at the time of Prince Louis's visit, the reporter asked Mr. Sparks if he thought such would prove the case this year.

"No," he replied, rather decidedly, "I hardly think to any extent; they all seem well contented."

SECOND "LOST CHANNEL."

Two Canoeists Have a Strenuous Experience.

Two well-known young men of the town caused considerable anxiety to their friends yesterday. Sunday morning they paddled to Gananoque and were to have been back that night. Wonder was expressed that they did not show up.

When yesterday morning passed and noon came, with no word from the absent canoeists, it was expressed that something had happened. At the afternoon noon over on the dread of the possible drowning of the two young chaps seemed a reality. Late in the afternoon, however, their canoe was seen coming up the river, and they gave them indeed, a warm welcome.

They were considerably fatigued after a strenuous journey. According to the story of the canoeists it would seem that they had been in the Thousand Islands, and among the Thousand Islands, they got in some channel and on arriving at their end found they were miles out of their course and had to return to getting back to Kingston.

HOME ON A VISIT.

G. H. Dickson, Chief Engineer of an Alberta Company.

George H. Dickson, E.S.C., chief engineer for the International Coal and Loke company, of Coleman, Alberta, is here on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dickson, Alfred street. He came from British Columbia over a year ago, to take the position he at present occupies. The company with which he is connected supplies coke to the boundary smelters, and also deals largely in steam and domestic coal. It has the best mines and plant in the Crow's Nest starting point, which he is connected with parties. He graduated from the Kingston School of Mining several years ago.

CAN COLLECT $1,000

FOR THE BATHING HOUSE SCHEME IN A DAY.

Were a Site Decided Upon by the City Council—Ald. Bassam Says He is Waiting for the Site—Then He'll Collect.

Ald. Bassam takes exception to a criticism of his bathing house scheme which recently appeared in the local press. To begin with the city father claims he is not waiting for the city engineer to draw up plans as these he could easily secure himself, but he is waiting that official's advice relative to choosing a site and securing the same. Ald. Bassam has in view the west side of Macdonald Park, close to the foot of O'Killy street, but before he can move definitely in the matter, the sewer extension question will have to be decided, hence the engineer's decision must be awaited. If the proposed exit of the sewer is the one favored by the new engineer then the alderman suggests running it at a right angle into the lake a short distance, and thus not interfering with the bathing house scheme. Again there is a nice spot near the tower, but still on the western side of it, which looks good to the Victoria ward representative. But it is the sewer question that has caused the delay and not the awaiting of the engineer to secure plans.

From a financial view, the "fresh water for children" of the horse-shoe, has long since forgotten any idea he may ever have had of securing aid from the council, but he insists there is no necessity to await the appearance of one Ernest Wyman. Once let him secure the site and have his plans drawn up, and Ald. Bassam thinks he can snap his fingers at his colleagues and raise all the money necessary by a personal canvass. "Why, I can go out to-morrow and get $1,000," he exclaimed, "but I'm not going to ask people to subscribe till I can show them something definite regarding the proposition."

DIED IN HOSPITAL.

J. S. Ross was Sufferer From Jaundice.

Napanee citizens were shocked to hear on Sunday morning of the death, in the Kingston hospital, of John S. Ross, a most respected resident of Napanee. It is only about ten days since Mr. Ross left here for Winchester to spend a few days with his brother. He was taken ill while there and his daughter, Miss M. J. Ross, was telegraphed for. Upon her arrival at Winchester, and after a consultation of doctors it was decided to remove Mr. Ross to the Kingston hospital for treatment for jaundice, from which he was suffering. He was brought to the hospital, but gradually grew worse, and the end came suddenly on Sunday morning. Deceased was about seventy years of age, one daughter, Miss M. J. Ross, survives. The remains were taken to Winchester for burial in the family plot. The funeral took place this afternoon.

TRIED TO BREAK IN.

It Is Said Some of Men Were Identified.

Last evening about half-past ten o'clock thieves attempted to rob the residence of Lieut.-Col. Ogilvie, on Earl street, just above Sydenham street. The disturbers made too much noise, however, and awakened the inmates of the next house occupied by M. S. Sutherland. Mrs. Sutherland looked out of a window and called down. This frightened the burglars and they made themselves scarce. Three were recognized as being mixed up in the affair. They had taken the land residence and his family were away for the summer and the house was unoccupied.
