TO WHEAT FIELDS. FRONTENAC SENT MANY OF HER MEN

And Possibly at Her Own Expense—Both Railway Lines Carried Away the Harvesters—Names of Many.

Westward, ho! Frontenac is sending her quota, at perhaps her own expense, to reap the harvest throughout the North-West. At midnight, Tuesday, the Grand Trunk railway pulled out with about seventy-five men, taking the harvesters' excursion and again at 7:45 o'clock, this morning, an equal number left by the K. & P. train for the wheat fields of the distant west.

They were in the majority of cases a fine type of men, young, healthy, strong and used to the work as sons of the soil. And yet, while all the surrounding rural districts call "a scarcity of farm labor," we lose our own helpers—a sacrifice for a new country, a greater Canada.

It was the largest excursion to the west that we have carried," declared Frank Conway, general freight and passenger agent, K. & P. R.R., to a Whig reporter, this morning, as the train loosed its peal out. "And not only is the crowd going from here," he added, "but every station along the line, as far as Remfous, is sending at least one. Lavant is sending forty men."

"Are you just going for the harvest season?" was the question asked many and the answer was mostly in the affirmative. Many stated that they would go out and devote the thirty days required to help in the harvest, and then see the prairie country, before returning home. It is a fine trip and cheap.

On the G. T. R. train last night were a party of seven, composed of A. L. Grant, A. J. Randall, R. B. Benjamin, Frank Walroth, W. McCracken, Frank Shaw and A. Lear. They had all come from the border towns in New York state, and were bound for Winnipeg. Mr. Grant was a fine, big strapping fellow; he wore a leather belt, such as used by the United States soldiers in the Spanish-American war. Evidently he had served Uncle Sam.

The Grand Trunk train took her crowd by way of Toronto. They arrived early this morning and spent still two o'clock this afternoon in the Queen City. Then they joined the big train leaving harvesters from all the country round, and left for North Bay, it was expected the K. & P. excursion would join them.

Both the steamer Kingston and Toronto have come under the law, and had to put up the coin. The fine paid for the season there is no further trouble. This is likely what is meant in the local case.

But why single out one boat, when it is a well known fact that nearly all the large steamers running in and out of Kingston have had their license inspectors to become energetic, his efforts should not cease in the single case.

MARINERS ASK IT WOULD LIKE TO HAVE MAIL DELIVERED.

The Custom at Detroit Should Also Prevail at the Soo—The Latest Marine News.

At Detroit, Mich., a system prevails that the crews of all steamers, vessels, in fact, craft of all description plying the river, will receive mail addressed to them at that port. The marine post office does a splendid work most satisfactorily. All hours of the day or night one may see the little mail launch steam out to the boats as they pass up or down the channel, and hundreds make the trip daily—a receiver is let down the side of the boat and letters, etc., to be sent off are collected and mail delivered. The boat's passage is not stopped, yet the men get the contents of the post. It seems perhaps a trifle apart from the Whig's jurisdiction to handle the matter, but local marine men have suggested that a system of distributing the mails be inaugurated at a Canadian Soo. It would indeed be a grand idea for the sailors. As it is,

And now some people are advising the transferral of Major Shannon to another place in the military service. Shifting the trouble to another place, eh? That won't do. Cancellation of the military group which they own thought to fill places with their own kind, struck an earthquake when they tried to pitchfork Major Shannon into a job. The liberals had suffered too much abuse from the Shannon family to stomach this last act of the tory military cabal.

LIFE ABOVE DIAMONDS. Gems Unheeded in the Transvaal Now.

William Lawson, formerly connected with the local branch of the C. P. R., is now in South Africa, where he is now stationed at Fordsburg, in the Transvaal as an operator. In writing to friends in the city he gives a vivid description of the mines and the South Africa. There is no thought of diamonds there now, for every man seems to be thinking of his life than the sparkling stones.

The letter, which was written on the 16th of last month, did not reach Kingston till this week. It stated that the kafirs had risen in Natal and that a many were looking for Joburg on the 17th. "Bill" Tracey, who is on the table beside his sticking instrument lay a rifle and revolver, both ready for use. In the night writing he was disturbed by a revolver shot, and had to investigate, while as the letter was just concluded all hands had received a message to turn out. Apparently it's a South African country just now. The letter, which to be remembered to all his old Kingston friends.

CAPTAIN'S LAST VOYAGE. Death of Popular Navigator a Shock.

Capt. Harvey Solmes, a native of Prince Edward, and as popular a man as ever sailed the waters of our sea or rivers, died in Toronto, on Friday last, after a week's illness. He was a skillful sailor, and a trusted employee of the Niagara Navigation company. Capt. Solmes was mate on the Empress of India, and has commanded in succession the W. H. Merritt, Chicora, Cibola and Corona, and this season, was mate on the Empress of Waipoua, and one son survived. He was a conservative and a Methodist. The floral offerings from vesselmen and other friends, were beautiful.

A Hot Times Joke. The railway porters and the express men, and everybody else who handled the package addressed to Dr. James Johnson, one of the British medicals in Toronto, must have smiled a smile of pity as they read a legend thereon: "Please protect from frost." The speculation now is what the good doctor, sweating with the mercury in the air, did to the block-headed Englishman who put the caution on the package, when he gets mechanics, farmers, sportsmen.

GEORGE LOTT DEAD. A HIGHLY RESPECTED RESIDENT OF LENNOX.

No Marks of Violence Found on the Body of Solomon Ball Found Dead on the Roadside Near Colebrook.

Napanee, Aug. 22.—On Sunday afternoon, George Lott, an old and much respected resident of Napanee, died at his home, Newburgh Road, after but a short illness. Deceased was eighty-two years of age last July and was widely known and highly respected in this district. He spent the most of his long life in this country, and was at one time connected with the late Hon. John Stevenson, and the late J. D. Ham, Napanee, in the lumber business. He leaves besides his widow, two sons, Albert, in Mexico, and William, on the homestead. He was a member of the Methodist church and a life-long reformer. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Eastern cemetery vault.

Monday afternoon as Dr. E. Ming, Napanee, was driving from York to Colebrook, he discovered a man dead, in a fence corner. Upon investigation the man was found to be Solomon Ball, a resident of Colebrook.

The authorities were notified but no marks of violence were found on his person, and it was concluded that he died from natural causes. He was past middle age, and the cause of death is attributed to heart failure.

MISSIONARY PATHFINDER. A New Text Book to Be Issued.

The Presbyterian General Assembly's committee on Young People's Societies, of which Rev. Dr. MacTavish, of this city, is convener, will issue at an early date a new missionary textbook, entitled "Missionary Pathfinders." It will contain twenty-four short biographies of missionaries who represented distinct types of work either in Canada or in heathen lands.

Probably the sketch which will prove most interesting to readers in this section of the country will be the one by the Rev. Dr. Gregg, of Toronto, on the life and work of Rev. R. McIvor, under title of "A Missionary With a Wide Parish." This distinguished pioneer had charge of the territory between Kingston and Toronto, but his labors were confined mainly to the district around Bath, where a beautiful memorial church was erected in his honor a few years ago. One of the finest addresses which the late Sir Oliver Mowat ever delivered was an appreciation of Rev. McIvor, at the centenary celebration. The book will be edited by Dr. MacTavish.

BAND IN THE PARK. Last Night's Were Out to Hear It.

Last night was another hot one, but the 14th band was in the old-fashioned Park. If anyone doubts the popularity of and one might even say the necessity of band concerts, it would have been an object lesson to see the crowds that thronged the lower hill and the shores of the lake, last evening, to listen to the music. It was an ideal night and an ideal spot, for such a gathering, and the people of the city, who were present on the occasion by the large numbers who attended. The water was smooth as glass and every available craft in the harbor, from the smallest canoe to the big steam pleasure yachts was in commission and lazily floated about the placid surface while the occupants listened to the strains of the band. The music was up to its usual standard, and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The next concert is Thursday evening.

LAD'S BRAVE DEED. Jack O'Neil Saves a Girl's Life.

Another rescue, due to the presence of mind and courage of a young lad who happened to be nearby can be recorded. The other morning Miss Partridge, Collingwood street, was bathing at the malt house. Unknown to her the waves washed the plank to which she was clinging beyond her depth. She was in a nasty predicament. As she could not swim, she became naturally overcome with fright when she found the water about her was so deep. Jack O'Neil, King street west, happened to be near at hand and unhesitatingly plunged in with his clothes on and brought the girl safely to shore. This is his second rescue to O'Neil's credit, as last summer, it will be remembered, he plunged off the breakwater to save a child who had fallen into the water.

H. A. McKim, formerly of Murvale, and son of Hiram McKim, of Sydney, is now one of Tonopah's, Nevada, most enterprising citizens. The building, when completed, will have two stories and a basement with dimensions 30x66 feet. The front and one side will be of cut stone, while the rest will be of quarry stone. The first floor will have a modern glass front and in this Mr. McKim will open up a large dry-goods store, while the upper floors will be for office rental.
