A WARM SUBJECT
There's nothing in the world we're so much interested in as Coal at this time of the year. It may sound queer to speak of coal buying and selling as a science, but that's what we've made it. Two important discoveries we have made are that complete satisfaction to our customers pays best, and that the way to win business is to deserve it.

Cures Rheumatism Too.
Bu-Ju cures Rheumatism, because it cures the Kidneys. Every drop of blood in the body passes through the kidneys, to be filtered. If the kidneys are sick—strenuously inflamed—they don't filter out the uric acid. It is this acid, deposited in the joints—on the nerves—that causes Rheumatism.

QUEER EASTER CUSTOM.
Penitents Infract Fearful Self-Torture.
One of many curious customs practiced in the Philippine Islands is the way they observe the week before Easter. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the streets or roads on the outskirts of some villages, and sometimes the principal streets of the town itself, are filled with crowds, who have come to see the natives inflict self torture.

Great Missionary.
Rev. Dr. Griffith John, who went from England to China when 23 years old, and has labored there for half a century in Yonkers, N.Y., seeking restoration of his health. This "Apostle of Central China" has been abundant in labors as pastor, as translator of Scriptures, as author, as teacher, as director of a high school and of a medical college, and in other capacities. One of his missionary tours measured 1,700 miles. Over 30 years ago he founded the Central China religious tract society, an undenominational organization. Thoughtful Christians realize its importance, and propose to erect buildings for it in Hankow, a city destined to become the greatest center of commercial activity in the country.

Everyday Creed.
Be honest, making money justly or not at all. Be fair, refusing to injure a competitor. Be kind, regarding employees as something more than an investment. Be charitable, giving liberally for the uplifting of humanity. Be healthy, exercising as a duty. Be sociable, having a side to friends not known to all. Be sympathetic, fearing littleness of soul more than littleness of fortune. Be broad, accumulating resources higher than material. Above all, be true to self, condoning nothing in self which is to be condemned in others.

"Taffy," the nickname for Welshmen, is simply a corruption of David.

VERY MANY THINGS
LEARNED ABOUT CHURCH MATTERS.

Bells Melted By Lightning—The Holy Jumpers Got Rather Demonstrative—New York's Vacation School System.
At Venice, discovery has been made while detaching mosaics from inside of St. Mark's, in the work of restoring the cathedral, shaken through the sinking of its foundations. Buried in cement was a rare coin of the time of the Doge Enrico Dandolo, who died in 1205, thus proving that the building of the basilica was going on in the twelfth century. It is supposed the coin fell from the clothing of a workman into the cement.
At a meeting of the Free Churches Council, a federation of non-established bodies in England, the members were invited to a joint communion service in the parish church. The vicar officiated, assisted by a neighboring Anglican clergyman. About 200 attended. In the evening a joint prayer meeting was held in the Wesleyan school room, which the vicar attended.
The site of All Hallow's Church, Lombard street, London, is worth at least $800,000. The population of All Hallow's parish does not number three hundred persons, and the average congregation at the services is twenty-six. The parish idea has its disadvantages. A cloudburst, accompanied by lightning, destroyed the Church of Les Chavannes, France, melting the bells into a solid mass, injuring a number of persons and causing an enormous amount of damage along the Franco-Italian border.
Before going to Europe John D. Rockefeller gave $250,000 for a building for the naval Y.M.C.A. at Norfolk, Va. Within five years Miss Helen Gould has given $200,000 to the railroad, army, and naval branches of the association.

People in this country, when making their wills, do not remember their newspapers. An Italian lady has set an example. She left a legacy of £500 to a journal "in recognition of my gratitude for having been so often entertained."

The "Holy Jumpers" at Monrovia, California, have reached the fanatical point of proposing to burn the first born baby in each family as a sacrifice. Police interference had to be invoked.
The retiring moderator of the United Free Church of Scotland, Principal Rainy, and his successor, Dr. Hutton, are over eighty years of age, but work with the enthusiasm of thirty.

Stoke park, Stoke Poges, which surrounds the church yard where the poet Gray wrote his "Elegy," was offered at the Mart, and withdrawn when the bidding reached £110,000.
Upwards of a hundred members of parliament in favor of practical temperance reform were entertained in London lately by the Temperance Reform League.

Charged with the manslaughter of a servant's child, Edward Topley, secretary of the Church Waifs' Home, Hanley castle, was acquitted at Worcester Assizes.
The vote for the union of the Bible Christians, the United Methodist Free Church, and the Methodist New Connection in England was almost unanimous.

After hearing Madame Albani sing a song, entitled the "French Partridge," a London sportsman has registered a vow not to shoot any more of those birds.
Holy Cross College (Roman Catholic) has conferred upon the Governor of Massachusetts, the Rev. G. W. Jr. (a Protestant), the degree of D.D.
With 31 schools in operation and a registration of 21,331 children, the vacation school system of New York is doing a great public service.

Lady Mountstephen has placed a window in the chapel at Adlestone in memory of Princess Mary Adelaide, Duchess of Teck.
Princess Christian laid the foundation-stone of a national sanatorium for workers suffering from tuberculosis, at Benenden, Kent.
The late Sir Charles Tennant left £2,700,000. Almost all going to his family. The windfall to the exchequer is £270,000.

The first Methodist church in America, erected in 1764, was called the "log meetinghouse," on "Sam's Creek," Maryland.
Boston has 52,282 Canadians; Chicago 34,779; Detroit 28,044; Fall River 22,591; New York 21,262; Lowell 19,159; Buffalo 17,242.
During eight o'clock mass at Dungan Church, Ireland, one Sunday lately the ceiling collapsed, injuring about forty people.

In New York State 28,239 automobiles are registered, and in United States the number exceeds 80,000.
Completed plans have been filed for the Singer Building with its forty-one storey tower in New York.
The World's W.C.T.U. convention will be held in Tremont Temple, Boston, October 17th to 23rd.
Canadian visitors in London are so numerous as to be a feature of the season.

Get Your Bowels To Move.
Now see here a minute my friend, You ought to know that you can't cure pains in the head, or heartburn with shooting pains in the stomach with headache powders and liniments. That stuff you rub on doesn't remove the cause. You have got to go down where the trouble is. What you want to do is to get your bowels to work. Take three Huteh to-night. Take one after each meal. It takes out these pains by stopping the fermentation of the food. It is easily taken, better than salts, sarsaparilla, iron and acid preparations. Don't lose time fooling with such things, but start using Huteh as quickly as you can. It's a doctor for ten cents.

PRACTICAL MISSION.
The Industrial System is Sure to Succeed.

The Industrial Evangelistic Mission of Northern India, under Rev. J. C. and Mrs. Lawson, experienced missionaries, is proving the mission of the Industrial system can succeed, though many have held this impossible. Their bakeries are doing so well, and such fine bread is being made, that the headmen visit in crowds, hoping to secure employment. They want to find out the secrets, but this privilege is for the Christians who, outcast for Christ's sake, are made to suffer from the industries are shaping rapidly and bid fair also to be successful. Lazy Christians cannot be holy Christians. It is to give the Christians an opportunity to build up a sturdy Christian character, and to make it possible to open up mission stations in hundreds of places, that this work has started. Instead of sending money to support the missionaries, materials are sent to start the industries. Missionaries of the industrial evangelistic type go out to reach the native Christians now to work and earn their own living, and together preach the gospel on the self-supporting plan. Those wishing to hear more of the mission can do so by writing Miss Mary Middleton, 76 Hayter St., Toronto, honorary secretary.

Spartan Reverence.
There is an old story which illustrates the reverence which the ancient Spartans felt for old age. One of the greatest amphitheatres of Greece, filled to the gates with a throng assembled to witness the athletic games so popular in those days, an aged man went one day. Every seat was taken. One hundred Athenian boys sat on one side; and many Spartan youths sat on the other side. Seeing the old man, the Athenian boys, true to their instruction, rose and uncovered their heads, but not one went so far as to offer his place to the aged man. He turned toward the Spartan side. All rose and, bowing low, each proffered his seat, whereupon the Athenian boys broke out in prolonged applause. The old man smiled, and bowing, said: "The Athenian knows what reverence for old age is; the Spartans show that reverence."

Nestorian Arrivals.
The coming to Canada of twenty families of Nestorian Christians, from their hills in Trans-Caucasia, to join the colony located near Battleford, calls attention to a strange sect which has survived in the east since days of the early Christian church. It was founded by Nestorius, a patriarch of Constantinople in the fifth century, who was condemned as a heretic for maintaining that the divine and the human natures were not merged into one in Christ and hence that it was improper to call Mary the mother of God, though she might be called the mother of Christ.

A Pretty Child's Coat.
Child's coat of either cloth or linen, made with a circular cape, the edges of which were finished in deep scallops. In the centre of the back and on each front were embroidered flower sprays, which were partly done in open embroidery. The little sleeves were plain, and were almost covered by the cape, the straight hand cuffs being also scalloped and embroidered.

Of The Water Wagon.
Chatterbox, from "Time"
I dreamed that I dwelt on an isle of cracked ice,
In the midst of a lake of champagne,
Where bubbles the mint juleps in meads of snow,
And showers of lithia rain.
I reclined on a divan of beer foam,
With a pillow of froth for my head,
While the spray from a fountain of sparkling water
Descended like dew on my bed.
From far-away mountains of crystalline ice,
A zephyr refreshing and cool,
Came wafting the incense of sweet muscatede,
That sparkled in many a pool.
My senses were enthralled by the soft purring
Of a brooklet of gossamer cascade,
That rippled along over pebbles of snow
To a river of alabaster frape.
Then, lulled by the sound of tinkling glass
From the schenkers that danced on the deep,
I drifted asleep a hieball or two,
And languidly floated to sleep.
And then I awoke on a bed of rocks,
With a bolster as hard as a brick,
A "fresh" in my sock, a rack in my head,
And a stomach distastefully sick.
With "in my eyes and a grit in my throat,"
Where the taste of last evening still
And felt a bath towel stuffed in my eye.
Which I afterwards found was my tongue;
And I groped for the thread of the evening before.
In a mystified maze of my brain,
That great light burst upon me at last.
I'm off of the wagon again.

CLERICAL SALARIES
Remain Stationary Though Living Has Gone Up.
Notwithstanding the increased cost of living, the allowances to the clergy have remained stationary. Many receive smaller living allowances than the day laborer earns. Some are not nearly so well paid as the mechanic. Yet all are required to be well-educated men—and to be ornaments to the community, socially. The claims upon the clergyman are far greater than those upon the average man. The reading must be voluminous; books are expensive; style of living must be good; dress for minister, his wife and family cannot be poor; education for the children must be good. Yet there is no way by which a clergyman, if he attends to his duties, can supplement his income, and thus make the financial burden lighter.
It is scarcely probable that the average layman thinks about the material needs of the clergy. Nor, in many cases, is there the disposition to be reasonable. People are prone to be liberal about many things, but not to the church. Still, it is unanimously conceded that we cannot get along without the prescribed ministrations, and that were the work of the clergy suspended the country would speedily experience painful results. If by the example of Rev. Mr. Shaw were to be generally followed it would be a public calamity, especially as such resignations have a tendency to warn young men against the clerical profession.

Safe From Temptation.
A parishioner met the vicar of an Essex parish carrying an overcoat. It was one of those occasional hot days which indicate that summer is here, although we can't enjoy it. "You hardly want your coat today, sir," said the parishioner. "I know," replied the vicar, "but my wife is greatly interested in a jumble sale, and when I carry my clothes about with me I know where they are!"
