To-Morrow.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—There was a peculiar incident in the police court, this morning, when one of the prisoners charged with disorderly conduct complained to Police Magistrate Denison about the treatment prisoners received while in the cells. His charge was that they were cruelly treated, beaten and kicked, but that they had been afraid to complain because they were threatened with a double one if they said anything. Another prisoner in the dock had his face bruised and cut. "How did you get that?" asked the
