WEDDING GIFTS

GREAT CHEESE FOR QUEEN, TROUSERS FOR KING.

120 Silver Drinking Cups, Fashioned Like Slippers, Given a Famous Ballerina - King Given Knitted Stockings By Poor Subject.

Wedding presents made to sovereigns 1540 the farmers of East and West of the late King Charles, and seven hundred and fifty cows made immense cheese of upward of eleven hundredweight and measuring nine feet square, which was presented to the royal bride and Prince Albert, by them graciously accepted as a wedding gift.

The cheese was stored at Buckingham Palace and would doubtless in the season have been tasted by royal mouths, had not its donors, seeking wide advertisement, asked for its loan for purpose of exhibition. Their request was granted, but when their gift having been attained they were returned the cheese, they were with an intimation that upon altered conditions her majesty could not for a moment entertain the idea of accepting their gift.

Poor peasant woman sent a pair trousers of her own design and made to the late King Charles, and it is remembered on the morning of his marriage with Princess Olga of Russia accompanied by a letter expressing of her hope that the garment which she was taking the great but trusted pardonable liberty to send would be found a better cut and than the one in which she had had the honor of seeing his majesty attired.

Another German ruler, Louis IV. of Barmstadt, the husband of Princess Alice, received on his wedding day a perhaps more useful offering in a dozen pairs of stockings, and sent by an elderly female in his humble circumstances, the romantic personality of Giuseppe, the celebrated Italian singer, infrequently evoked a hopeless passion in women's hearts on more than one occasion found expression in a strange manner. This was certainly the case on the occasion of his marriage, when he received from a wealthy admirer a handsome bag stuffed with the fair donor's luxuriant hair. An even quainter present, never did he receive on his wedding day an anonymous gift from a rich lady of one of her teeth, which, as she remarked in an accompanying note, she had drawn and set in pearls and emeralds as a souvenir of the trust that she sometimes give a passing thought of his own vivacity.

Talk of a Protectorate as Only Sure Means of Permanent Peace—Funston Has Been Suddenly Called to Washington.

Havana, Sept. 17.—Heavy fighting was reported, on Saturday, near El Cano, ten miles southwest of Havana. No details have yet been received. The fight between Rodriguez's forces and the rebels, already reported, resulted in a victory for the government troops. The rebels suffered a loss of eight killed and twenty-three wounded; the government troops, one and thirteen wounded.

Must Be Protectorate.

Havana, Sept. 17.—Eduardo Chibas, a prominent resident of Santiago, said to the Associated Press: "The entire province of Santiago will have to revolt unless the United States intervenes immediately. There must be a protectorate, or there will be no permanent peace in Cuba."

Funston Summoned.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 17.—Gen. Frederick Funston has been ordered to Washington without delay. The order is supposed to be in connection with the situation in Cuba.

Leaving For Cuba.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—Sixty marines here and sixty-six at Portsmouth, N.H., have been ordered to proceed at once for Norfolk, Va., where they will embark for Cuba.

Forwarding Mounts.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 17.—An agent of the Cuban government is buying horses for cavalry mounts and for the baggage animals. The order is supposed to be in connection with the situation in Cuba.

Issued A Decree.

Havana, Sept. 17.—At three o'clock, Sunday afternoon, President Palma issued the following decree:

"On the proposal of the secretary of public works, the acting secretary of government, and the acting secretary of the treasury, I decree the following:

"Article I.—All campaign operations are suspended, and, as a consequence, all the forces of the government will remain in the defensive in all the territory of the republic.

"Article II.—The secretary of government will see to the immediate carrying out of the above, issuing whatever orders are necessary for its execution."

Senor Montalvo said the issuing of the decree was the result of a request from the rebels that negotiations for peace be entered into. The sentiment in favor of peace in certain political quarters is strong, nevertheless, an agreement between the contending factions would be a source of disappointment to a large number of persons who are desirous of American intervention.
