PLEA FOR MISSIONS

SERMONS IN THE ANGLICAN CHURCHES.

By Archdeacon Pentreath and Rev. Dr. Tucker—The Duty of Every Church Member to Help in the Work.

There was a fair sized congregation present at St. James' church Sunday morning to hear the sermon by Archdeacon Pentreath, who is here in the interests of Anglican mission work. He said he was not here for the purpose of making any special appeal for money, but to give the people full information so that they could intelligently apprise themselves of the situation. It was not only a duty but an inestimable privilege that each member of the church had in giving to the mission work. The speaker touched upon the growth of Woman's Auxiliary to missions, the extension of domestic and foreign missions and the individual responsibility of each member. Expenses had been heavy, but the money collected had been expended wisely and well. Reference was made to the great immigration into the North-West during the past two years, 80,000 settlers in one section. Great credit was due to the mother church for the help she had given in the work, and it now became the duty of Canadian members to bear the expense. Short reference was made to the many resources, wealth in minerals and magnificent climate of British Columbia, of which the speaker was archdeacon. A general appeal was made for contributions to advance the work of missions.

The greatness of the work in the mission fields of the west, the urgency of the call for men and money, and the great results if the church lives up to the terms of her charter, were the subjects of Rev. Dr. Tucker's eloquent sermon, in St. George's cathedral on Sunday. The church is needed there that the new empire may be built strong and true. Long centuries since it was England's church that welded the heptarchy into the English nation. It was England's church at whose feet sat King Alfred as Edward VII sits to-day. Is that church forgetful that she is needed in empire-building to-day? Upon the answer of individuals who make up the great body depends the future of this Canada of ours.

The national anthem was sung, as usual, at the close of the service, and during the offertory J. M. Sherlock sang, with great sweetness and expression, "If With All Your Hearts," and also the favorite, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The apportionment to the cathedral, of $400, out of the $69,100 required by the general mission board this year, has to be made up by October 30th, and envelopes for contributions were distributed on Sunday.

A CROWDED CHURCH

To Hear the Music By Many Persons.

Chairs had to be carried into the auditorium of Queen Street Methodist church last evening, to accommodate the crowd that gathered. The special feature of the hearty service was the singing. The choir rendered a spirited anthem and then followed a solo by J. M. Sherlock, Toronto, the sweet voiced tenor, who served in Queen street choir in the early days of his musical career and who fondly enjoys singing before old friends. He sang "If With All Your Hearts" from "Elijah," and it was most admirably rendered. The male quartette, Messrs. Shea, Bradley, Rutherford and Manhard, gave a new setting to "Rock of Ages," and did it so well that everybody was sorry when they ceased. This organization will be a splendid musical feature in the church during the next six months. Their voices are wonderfully adapted for good melody. Mr. Bradley, sweet, clear and melodious, sang "Just For To-day," and in a manner that was full of feeling and restfulness. Rev. R. Stillwell of Cataraqui, who preached excellent gospel sermons, said he was passionately fond of music and the forty minutes spent were the shortest he had known for many a day. He preached a twenty-minute sermon on the use of one's talents, making a good impression. J. M. Sherlock sang, as a closing piece, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," it was a treat. The big audience left with expressions of admiration over the service.

LOVE IS HIGHER

Than Duty, as the Best Motive in Our Life.

At Sydenham Street Methodist church last evening the pulpit was occupied by Rev. G. H. Cobbledick, of Woodstock, who, although just recovering from a sudden attack of indisposition, delivered an interesting sermon. Taking as his text Paul's words, "For me to live is Christ," he spoke of the necessity of every life having a high motive, and while duty was a high motive of life, it did not compare with love, which surpassed everything. It was a mean and selfish thing for us to do something just because our conscience tells us to. A sense of love is the highest motive in life, and in it is all power. Let a man for direction, say to himself, if in doubt, "If Jesus lived in Kingston, and owned my business, how would he run it?" This same question applied in other lines would show us the way to what is right. Christ can be to us as he was to St. Paul, a pattern to live by, and while others shine around us like the stars, distant and cold, He will come and walk by our side and help us. The speaker closed his remarks by urging his hearers to take Christ as their example.

This most excellent tragedian and student of Shakespeare has advanced in a few seasons to the most prominent place among American born tragedians, and is giving his native land as much reason to be proud of him, as of any of its favored sons. In the most famous characters of the classic drama he has won enviable success and after three seasons of Macbeth he has taken up the divine bard's greatest tragedy "King Richard the Third" —a character in which his strenuous and intellectual nature will revel. His management has furnished a great deal in the way of an unusually excellent company, fireproof scenery, costumes and all other needful historically correct equipment. STIFF BODY BLOW.

Strong Protest From Township Council.

The position of the municipal council of Richmond in the county of Lennox and Addington, to his honor the lieutenant-governor-in-council humbly sheweth, that whereas the legislative assembly of the province of Ontario did at its last session pass an act amending the public schools act some of the provisions of which we do not consider fair or reasonable, but on the contrary a class of legislation of the most vicious type. Be it therefore resolved that we the municipal council of the township of Richmond in the county of Lennox and Addington in session assembled do hereby express our entire disapproval of, and humbly ask for the repeal at the next session of the legislative assembly of sub-sections 2, 4, 5 and 6 of section 39, of the said public schools act, the said sub-section containing provisions which in our opinion are a direct insult to the intelligence and business ability of the boards of rural school trustees.

BASEBALL MATCHES

KINGSTON BEAT GANANOQUE FOR PURSE.

The Game Was Very Much One-Sided—The Triple Linkers Won From the Irishmen By Five to Four.

The fans were entertained to a double header Saturday afternoon at Lake Ontario Park. The curtain raiser between Gananoque and Kingston for a purse proved a farce. For seven whole innings the spectators were forced to suffer while the democratic aggregation of would-be ball players representing the factory town were being allowed a look in. Had Knotty Lee and his old time bunch been on the side lines they would have disowned the town which he made famous in ball circles.

The fun started in the second innings with two men out. Moore hit to left field bringing home McCammon, while B. Derry did likewise for Stokes and the latter followed himself. A wild throw from short tallied Moore. Appleton worked in a nice one giving Hunt and Laird an opportunity to cover the pan. The third saw Williams hit to right field for two runs from Derry and Hunt. Appleton's bump brought in W. Laird, and Williams scored on a wild throw. Score 10 to 0.

Gananoque was playing ball like children and so were treated by the Kingstons, who now allowed them to tally seven runs before the game was called, the final score being 11 to 7. The kind of game this created can be better imagined than told. Sullivan replaced McCammon in the fifth. The teams were:

Kingston—B. Derry, 2b.; Hunt, 1b.; Laird, s.s.; Williams, l.f.; Appleton, c.f.; McCammon, and Sullivan, p.; Lumb, r.f.; Stokes, 3b.; Moore, c.

Gananoque—O'Connor, s.s.; Clow, 1b.; S. Dorey, l.f.; Brennan, 2b.; Davis, 3b.; W. Dorey, c.; Nicholson, c.f.; Howard, r.f.; Ormiston, p.

Umpire—E. Hartrick.

The second mill proved more interesting, but withal there was no snap to the game and therefore it was disappointing. The score 5 to 4 in favour of the Triple Linkers, was close enough to make things hum, but still enthusiasm was lacking, and the fans did not seem to get worked up over the contest any more than did the players. Good ball and bad ball were played in streaks by both teams.

Triple Linkers—Laird, s.s.; Appleton, l.f.; B. Derry, 2b.; E. Saunders, c.f.; McCammon, p.; S. Saunders, 1b.; Smith, 3b.; Birch, r.f.; Burke, c.

Irishmen—Williams, 2b.; Lumb, s.s.; Young, c.f.; Hunt, 1b.; Stokes, 3b.; Moore, c.; Sullivan, p.; Rielly, r.f.; W. Dorey, l.f.

Umpire—E. Hartrick.

In the first innings the Linkers tallied three. In the fourth the Irishmen took the lead with four men across the plate. In the sixth, however, the Triple Linkers once more forced in two runs, making the score 5 to 4 in their favour, which it remained till the last. The attendance was about four hundred.

GIVEN A GOLD RING

On Retiring From the Street Railway Service.

On Saturday night, the employees of the street railway company met in the company's office to make a presentation to Alexander Bearance, foreman of the car sheds, who has retired after twenty-three years' service with the Kingston street railway line. Mr. Bearance was with the Wilson company which operated the horse cars in the eighties. In appreciation of his services and helpfulness to them, the employees presented Mr. Bearance with a heavy gold ring, surmounted by three links. Charles Kimball made the presentation. Hugh C. Nickle, superintendent of the line, spoke at length of the valuable services rendered the company by Mr. Bearance, and expressed regret over his decision to retire. He would be greatly missed at the car sheds. Mr. Bearance expressed grateful thanks to Mr. Nickle and the employees for the gift and kind words spoken about him. He would ever retain the most pleasant memories of his long connection with the Kingston street railway.

No Liquor Secured Here.

A Lad's Good Capture.

A Dangerous Place.

The government property at the corner of Ordnance and Montreal street, cannot be fenced in too soon. It is a great danger to pedestrians. On a dark night, or in fact any night, some one is liable to stumble off the walk and down into the deep excavation. The board of works should have some temporary erection placed along the inside of the walk for the public safety.

An Easterner's Boys.

The Whig business office displays an interesting photograph of a harvest scene in Manitoba. Nine brothers, sons of Mrs. Charles Thomas, formerly of Frontenac, surround this happy couple. The sons are mounted on nine reapers and binders, each drawn by four horses, engaged in cutting a field of six hundred acres of No. 1 quality of hard wheat. The family has within five years raised twenty-five thousand bushels of grain on their own land and the crop this year is equal to any yet produced.

Met A Tragic Death.

Mr. Taliaferro, of Houston, Texas, whose family spent the summer at the British-American a year ago, met a tragic death last week. He fell from his office window in the eighth storey of a large building, and was dashed to pieces on the pavement below. He had just recovered from an illness, and it is supposed that a dizzy spell seized him as he leaned out of the window and he lurched forward. His wife and children are very kindly remembered by many people in Kingston, who will extend very sincere sympathy to them in their affliction.

Mrs. Ruddick's Bravery.

At the Gilmour hotel fire in Ottawa there were many heroic rescues, and the bravery of Mrs. Ruddick, wife of the dominion dairy commissioner, who was on the third floor of the hotel, won hearty cheers from the crowds that filled the street. She had been obliged to take refuge outside of the window, and there remained silent; while a guest, who had been forced to the means of escape, waved the smoke away with a sheet. Cheering words from the crowd, who announced the approach of the hook and ladder waggon, were shouting to them.

When the ladder arrived, delay in getting it into position was experienced on account of the network of wires in the vicinity, yet Mrs. Ruddick held the fort and promptly began its descent, but was quickly caught in the arms of a fireman and borne to the ground and to shelter. The gentleman followed, and hearty cheers greeted their rescue.
