A Very Wise Decision.

The police magistrate of Toronto has given some evidence of how he thinks the discipline in the public schools should be maintained. A teacher had been accused of assaulting a boy who was a pupil in his class. He had given some offence, and was called up for punishment. He refused to hold out his hand. The master realized that he either had to rule and be respected, or be ruled and lose his control of the class. So he had the lad removed to the cloak room, and there he was given a proper flogging. The magistrate heard both sides of the case and then dismissed it, with costs against the complainant, on the ground that the master had to assert his authority, and that he had given the boy the strapping he most richly deserved. The incident is worth remembering. Scholars are expected to behave while in the schools, and when they transgress they expect to be chastised. The interference of a parent is not to be tolerated. The parent who is wise will uphold the master, and there will be no appeal to the home if the respect for authority is properly inculcated. Col. Denison's decision will be generally approved.

Mr. Tarte Is Posted.
La Patrie has astonished the conservative papers by intimating that the party leaders know pretty well where the money comes from which is used in the elections. He says that capitalists engaged in important enterprise, and subsidized by the state, contribute to a general fund, and that it is decided according to the needs of the provinces.
The Mail accepts the deliverance as reflecting upon the liberals during the time Mr. Tarte was a member of the Laurier government. It does not think that the ex-minister can speak authoritatively of the practice of the opposition. Why not? For many years Mr. Tarte was a conservative organizer. Elections, he has told us, are not won with prayers and one can imagine how he busied himself and used the sinews of war during the time he managed things for the Tory party in Quebec.
What led to the downfall of the Langevin party? What overwhelmed the conservative government and helped to drive it from power, but the revelations of Mr. Tarte! He had his grievances with the men he served, and they failed to give him the satisfaction he desired. The result is known. Mr. Tarte presented a powerful arraignment against the government, and it incited the rule of a very corrupt crew.
It is so indeed of the Mail to suppose that Mr. Tarte has no knowledge of how the conservative party raised its funds for campaign purposes. If urged to do so, perhaps Mr. Tarte would be a little more specific.

Canada Wants Men.
A traveller through the maritime provinces announces that there is a great scarcity of labour, that the exodus of young men to the North West is very great, and as a consequence the work on the farm and field in these older provinces is seriously crippled. What is to be done? The natural growth of population is very slow and immigration is scanty, because it does not always contribute the quality of men which this young country demands.
It is worthy of notice that both the United States and Canadian governments have undertaken a thorough investigation of the business. It has been charged that the steamship companies are more concerned about the number of persons they carry across the ocean than the promise they give of fitness for the work that lies before them. The Canadian government will ask the British government to legislate against the deportation from the old land of strike-breakers on any account and under any auspices. The United States government has decided that it will take no more foreigners without a rare discrimination and the assurance that they will meet the peculiar conditions of today. The only class now desired are agricultural labourers and railway navvies.

Of all the writing on the labour and immigration question the most remarkable letter is that of A. B. Lowe in the Advance Advocate, the official journal of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees. Mr. Lowe is first vice-president of the order and welcomes to Canada all "able-bodied foreigners who are able to swing the pick and handle the shovel." As many as 50,000 could now find work and the brotherhood could organize them and make for their continued influence. The cry against the able-bodied foreigners is, Mr. Lowe thinks, clap-trap. Without competent help east and west the work on railways is dropping, and this is bad for the country. Mr. Lowe's address is Kingston, but he is travelling most of the time for the brotherhood, and he ought to know what he is talking about.

Bryan's proclamation in public ownership was only a "feeler." If the party objects he can drop the thing, however, or put it away in pickle for use at a future time.
"So far," says the Winnipeg Tribune, "the conservative party has dealt with public ownership as a sort of hot weather subject. Treated in that way, the policy will never do the conservative party any good."

A GREAT MISSIONER
REV. S. F. COLLIER TO VISIT KINGSTON.

He Carries on One of the Greatest Missionary Enterprises in the United Kingdom—Well Worth Hearing.
The Methodist of Kingston will have a treat on Tuesday night in an address by Rev. S. F. Collier, the representative of British Methodism to the Methodist General Conference, now meeting in Montreal. Dr. Collier will speak in Spynham street church. He is one of the leaders in the advance movement of British Methodism, in the recognition of the best organized and most successful city mission in the British Isles. Though he is an able preacher, and every Sunday night addresses an audience in Free Trade Hall of about four thousand people, yet Mr. Collier is something more than a preacher; in fact, he is the leader of a great army of business organization. The work of this great mission are open from daylight till nearly midnight every day in the year, and last year more than 100,000 men and women in distress and trouble of various kinds passed in for help, and the great majority of them did not seek it in vain. Last year six thousand destitute or fallen women, washed, clothed, and helped back, in almost numberless instances, to a life of decency and self-support. Over four thousand released prisoners were put to work, and helped and counselled while employment was found for twenty-two thousand workless men. All sorts of men are carried on in connection with the work of this mission, and a profitable source for those who need it, and so complete and thorough is the management of this department that it actually pays for itself, year after year. As an illustration of the ingenuity employed in running this department might be mentioned that branch of it which collects from the city on Saturdays, Memorial services were held on Sunday in all the churches in New Hamburg.
Three women and one man were drowned in New York bay, when the asphalt launch Scudder, after having driven helplessly all night with disabled engines, collided with the second scow of a tow in charge of an unknown tug, and capsized. The rest were saved.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL
For Stealing a Farmer's Wife's Shawl.
Through getting drunk on Saturday, and being arrested, the theft of a shawl was brought home to Norman Babcock, an old man who trades on the road, and has his headquarters at Odessa. Liquor is thus pointed to as being a valuable aid in the detection of crime. Last Thursday, Emmanuel Orser, of Kepler, missed his wife's shawl from his wagon in which he had placed it, when putting up at the Windsor hotel yard, Babcock was suspected, and when, on Saturday afternoon, Police Constable Arnold saw him driving down Brock street in an intoxicated condition, and unable to direct a horse which required careful boarding and a long rest at the stable, he placed him under arrest. By chance, in a search of the wagon, when shawl was brought forth, when Mr. and Mrs. Orser came to town this morning they identified it as theirs.
Charles McKenna, yardman at the Windsor, gave evidence as to Babcock having driven into the yard on Thursday afternoon with his brother and having remained ten minutes. Babcock gave evidence on his own behalf, being represented by D. A. Givens. The Orser swore that he bought the shawl from a man as he was driving up Queen street, after dusk on Thursday, paying a dollar for it. When he got home he became suspicious that the shawl might have been stolen and decided to bring it back to town and advertise for an owner.
This story the magistrate couldn't swallow, without a liberal supply of salt and pepper, and the addition of a bottle of chloroform. His worship said that he was fully convinced Babcock stole the shawl. The prisoner's story was a very poor one, and couldn't possibly be accepted. A month in jail was the sentence.
Edward J. Dickson answered to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. On Saturday night, when in an hilarious condition, he fell through the store window of John Haldane, on Ontario street. Three dollars and costs and the expense of repairing the window was the magistrate's levy.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from female trouble, that an operation is necessary it is, of course, frightful to her.
The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation she felt that her death knell had sounded.
Our hospitals are full of women who are there for just such operations.
It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.
The strongest and most grateful testimonies possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.
Mrs. Robert Glenn of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:
"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need my recommendation, but I am pleased to add it to the many which I have in its favor. I have suffered untold agonies from a serious female trouble for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation, but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound, and I am only too glad to say that I have been cured.
I have had a very good recovery of health, and I am only too glad to say that I have been cured. I have had a very good recovery of health, and I am only too glad to say that I have been cured."
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all functional troubles, inflammation, ulceration, cramps, bearing-down pains, and a medical advice compelled me to seek an examination, said that I had a serious female trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me."
Serious feminine troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

PASSED BOGUS CHEQUES.
Haldane Was Run Down and Jailed.
Renfrew Journal.
Mark F. Haldane, who says he published a paper in Aylmer, Que., called the Aylmer Times, some years ago, was, last week, doing the towns of Ottawa Valley in endeavoring to pass bogus cheques for sums of money. He tried the game in Renfrew and succeeded in passing a five-dollar cheque on one citizen. The cheque was written on a blank form of the Bank of Nova Scotia, at Amport, and made payable at the Sovereign bank. It went from there to Pembroke and roped in a couple of citizens there. One got out a warrant for his arrest. He came down to Coblen and tried his luck there, with some success, it is stated. Police Magistrate Mitchell notified Chief McErmott. The chief tried to get the Pembroke chief by phone, but could not at the time. He got a warrant for the arrest of Haldane for passing his bogus cheques on a Renfrew citizen. He proceeded to Portage du Fort, where he got his man, on Saturday, and brought him to Renfrew. The Pembroke chief was waiting here and brought Haldane to Pembroke for trial.
We learn that he also nipped a couple of prominent citizens of Amport.
