NO GROUND FOR CRY THAT POLITICS ARE BEING INTRODUCED

In Appointment of General Hospital Superintendent—The Local Doctors Have Recommended a Local Practitioner.

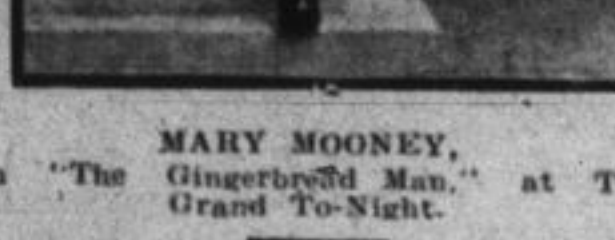

It has been alleged in a certain quarter that an attempt is being made to introduce politics into the appointment of a medical superintendent by the general hospital governors, and, evidently, for the purpose of causing injury to a local doctor of many years' standing, whose name is mentioned in connection with the position, the news raises an uncalculated political cry, which is attributed by a medical member of the hospital board to another prominent member who is opposed to a man of experience being appointed, but favors an outsider who has been in the profession a brief time. The local doctor mentioned for the superintendency happens to be a liberal, but three conservative doctors (so one of the latter informs the Whig) waited upon the gentleman in question and, to him, if he would take the position. They were instrumental in getting a petition signed by all but one of the doctors (outside of the committee to make the recommendation to the board) asking for his appointment. Hence, the Whig doctors desire his appointment, and politics certainly have nothing to do with the matter. This statement, which makes at the request of a leading conservative doctor and member of the hospital governing board.

There is another point dealt with by the News and to which he drew attention, as it is a most humiliating charge. The reason given for the local doctor's wanting a local man appointed to the hospital is that they do not wish an outsider to come in and remain as superintendent for a few years and then retire to go into practice here, as a competitor. Such a view he declared to be most insulting to the medical profession here, Kingston is a most conservative city, and it is generally only after long service that new doctors can get a footing. The old established medical men have not been disturbed by new arrivals. It is not natural, the doctor asked, that the medical men of Kingston should be allowed to say who should be superintendent of the hospital? Does a hospital not depend upon the medical profession? In Kingston, especially, have not the medical men for years past, made the sacrifices for the General Hospital? Do they not give their services gratuitously year by year, and put their hands in their pockets besides? If the large majority of them think that a certain doctor should be appointed to the position of superintendent should he not be appointed? And is not a local man, who knows local conditions, and who, evidently, knows the confidence of the profession when they nearly all desire his appointment, the best one for the governing board to choose as superintendent, instead of an outsider of little experience?

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Production of "The Shadow Behind the Throne."

Good fair-sized audiences were present at the Grand Opera House, on Saturday afternoon and evening, to witness the production of "The Shadow Behind the Throne." The company was fairly up to the average, the principal parts being taken with credit by Leland de Cardava, as "The Mandarin," and Charles F. Southworth as "The Viceroxy of China." Special notice must be made of the scenery, which was above the average. The play was of the usual melodrama character, and was laid during the times of unrest between United States and China, and dealt with the love of the viceroxy with the daughter of the American ambassador. To work out the details of love and intrigue, five acts were necessary, and at last evening ended happily, and the true lovers were united. The excellent Dorothy Calhoun, the colored dancer, pleased the audience, being possessed of a good stage appearance and delivery of her lines.

MARY MOONEY, in "The Grand Trunk."

THE GINGERBREAD MAN.

The bugbear "dull care," will find it a hard task to inflict his presence on those who witness the "Gingerbread Man," the brilliant, fanciful fairytale, that comes to the Grand Theatre with a company of eighty people and their own orchestra on Monday, September 24th, commencing with wit, humor, and repartee, brilliant in its scenic appointments, standing in its electrical effects, it is one big kaleidoscope of light and color. The Edward Braden company, who are responsible for the production, have been to lavish expense, and have given to the theatre-going public the most gorgeous musical show of the decade. It must be seen to be appreciated.

AFTER FIFTY HAPPY YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Shortell celebrate Golden Anniversary.

On Thursday, September 20th, there was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Shortell, Washburn, Ont., a celebration of rare and joyous character, it being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The house and grounds about were gaily decorated; the decorations, in keeping with the event, were chiefly of golden hue. Their many friends and relatives sent such gifts as would have charmed the heart of Midas.

Among the many guests were every friend member of their family, all their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hickey and the Misses Hickey, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. John Shortall, John Draper, of Glouburnie; Misses Draper and Mrs. B. Draper, Mr. and Mrs. P. Madden, and Mr. G. M. Cornick, with other members from the same families, and numerous other friends. Mrs. Shortell received a message of congratulation from an uncle in Toronto unable to attend.

Dinner was served in the evening and the speeches to the various toasts brought out the unique characteristics of the occasion. John Hickey, in proposing the toast of honor, reviewed the many changes, social and personal, since the wedding fifty years ago, and wished Mr. and Mrs. Shortell many more happy years of wedded life. John Draper, in a similar vein, told the young people many astonishing facts about the pioneers of half a century ago. P. Madden, amongst other things, called attention to a remarkable fact. There were present from lots 25 and 26 and 27 three couples who have lived side by side for fifty years and married life, and all six hale and hearty. They can challenge Ontario to beat this record.

After the dinner mirth and merrymaking was carried far into the night and the old time songs and dances concluded an event long to be remembered.

Have you forgotten that family history of yours, with its tendency to weak lungs? Your doctor has not, if you have! He will tell you the special danger of hard coughs to your case. THE SCALES OF GOD

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCES AND FOUND WANTING.

Sermon by Rev. Prof. James Elliott—The Standard by Which God Weighs Us—How We May Rise to That Standard.

"Thou art weighed in the balances and found wanting" (Daniel vi), were the words of the text from which Rev. Prof. James Elliott delivered a forcible sermon, in St. Andrew's Street Methodist church, last evening, to a large congregation. It was his last sermon in the east ere he takes up professional work in Wesleyan College, Winnipeg, having been called from Montreal to a larger sphere of labor in the fast-growing Canadian west.

The words of the text, Prof. Elliott said, constituted one of the most momentous declarations to be found anywhere. Supposing God was to come to a man or woman this night and say, "Thou art weighed in the balances and found wanting," would a depression come to any one of us. Every day is God weighing us in His balances. In all our business transactions, and in all our social life, God is watching everything we do. He is watching us in our social life, too. Are we trying to elevate or are we degrading the life of the social circle? God is in the solitude as well, weighing our desires and our motives. Everywhere we are being weighed by the scales of the Eternal God.

What does God put on the outer scale pan in weighing human character? What is His standard of value? First, righteousness towards God and our neighbors; absolute truth, complete courage of our convictions, and complete unselfishness. In other words, the standard by which God weighs us is the spirit of the life of our Saviour.

Can we rise to that standard? asked the preacher, who declared that his goal was an eternal God.

What does God put on the outer scale pan in weighing human character? What is His standard of value? First, righteousness towards God and our neighbors; absolute truth, complete courage of our convictions, and complete unselfishness. In other words, the standard by which God weighs us is the spirit of the life of our Saviour.

Stood Second In Province.

W. C. Clarke, Westminster, who was named by the Ontario government as the eighth division court of Leeds and Grenville, to succeed D. Deacon, stood second in the list of students who passed the junior matriculation in the province.

Found Colony Of Bees.

Last week James Hagan found on an island in Crosby Lake, a colony of bees in a hollow cedar tree. He helled the tree and got about two hundred pounds of honey from it, as well as the bees which he has now sold in a modern life. This makes his second "find" of bee trees this year.

Watch Found; Not Returned.

Last July a lady on Brock street, advertised that she had lost a watch, and the penalty in connection with a violation of it. Dr. Evans is to ask the jury to find that the watch was a matter of health to enact that cigarette smoking in public places be prohibited.

Bad Behavior In Church.

Some boys sitting in the back seats of St. Andrew's Street Methodist church last evening behaved very unbecomingly, and talking throughout the whole service. They were big enough to know better. Their actions greatly annoyed those sitting near them, and were noticed from the pulpit. In a theatre such continuous action would not be tolerated, and it shouldn't be in a church. Attention drawn to the matter may have good effect, and be a deterrent upon ill-behaviors in the rear seats of other churches.

Late on Friday afternoon Herbert Pryke and Fred Frost, awaiting the action of the grand jury at Water town, N.Y., on the charge of larceny and burglary, were released from custody by Sheriff Bellinger. Their deposit of $1,000, Pryke and Frost are accused of being members of a gang which has been operating along the river in the vicinity of Cape Vincent.

May Hold Institute Here.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish returned on Saturday from Toronto, where he made arrangements for the publication of the missionary text book, entitled "Missionary Pathfinders," of which he is editor. He also attended a meeting of the Canadian executive of the Young People's Society movement of New York. The committee has under consideration the holding of a series of mission institutes in one of the Canadian cities. Dr. MacTavish says it is probable that an institute will be held in Kingston during the last week of November.

Farmer vs. City Lad.

The Glouburnie correspondent of the Westport Mirror has this to say: "Quite a number of the boys" from Kingston are fishing and shooting on the lakes here and are having good sport. A number of others from the same town amused themselves by killing off as many ducks as possible during the last week of August and the nine men all call themselves sportsmen. The very same fellows would probably not hesitate a moment in firing a farmer for going out to get a duck for himself any time before September 1st. Such men should suffer the extreme penalty of the law, and would be glad to be shot by the game warden of this province any time before September 1st. Heaven help the poor man who is caught breaking the game laws.

BETTER PROTECTION WANTED FOR ONTARIO'S FISH AND GAME.

The People Are Waking Up to the Necessity—The Help of Both Political Parties Wanted.

The Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, under the guidance of A. Kelly Evans, is making itself felt all over the province. Its aim is to appeal to the people generally. In brief, the pronouncements of the association are as follows:

The game fish and game through the attraction they form to tourists are a most valuable financial asset to the province, and that, therefore, their protection should be encouraged.

That the food fish in our waters should be conserved and regulated for the good of the masses of the people and not wasted or used for the benefit of one small class of the community.

That certain game birds and song and insectivorous birds are an increasingly valuable asset to the farmer in destroying harmful insects, wood ticks, rodents, etc., and the lack of knowledge by the public on such subjects should be combated.

That the wild lands of the province suitable to game and the waters of the province suitable to game fish should be ever kept the property of the public, and that the association must always endeavor to prevent the acquisition by individuals or groups of individuals of large tracts of territory for the purpose of forming private game preserves.

It is recognized that the Ontario fisheries have been conducted, not for the good of the masses of our own people, but rather for the temporary benefit of the commercial fishermen who carry on this industry.

The several royal commissions which have been appointed by both Dominion and provincial parliaments, have reported in no uncertain terms as to the rapid depletion of the waters of our great lakes, and that unless changes were soon made, the fisheries would be a comparatively small number of years become useless.

These reports, however, have not been read by the public generally, and the people have been for the most part too busy engaged to pay much attention to this serious question; the politicians of both parties have realized the indifference of the people, and have for the most part truckled to the vote of the commercial fishermen. It is felt that both political parties will be allowed no longer to trifle with the question. The Kingston branch of the Ontario Protective Association will, no doubt, do its share of the missionary work.

Several Good Catches.

Charles Clarke, who, in company with his nephew, Mr. Garbutt, of Water town, N.Y., have been out fishing for several days at Lobbrough Lake, have returned, bringing with them a large catch. Two of the fish-helm weighed four and one-half pounds each.
