A $10 MONOTONY WAS THE RECITAL AT BYE-ELECTION ENQUIRY.

One Man Surrenders and Will Be Used as Crown Witness—Many Names on a Paper—Jerry Collins a Large Purchaser.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Thomas Lewis, an hotel-keeper of London, in whose house a great deal of the alleged crooked work at the London bye-election is said to have been done, walked into the police court at the bribery investigation this morning and surrendered himself. It is said he will be used as a crown witness. The monotony recital of ten dollars being paid for a vote went on again this morning. Mr. Everett, a dignified looking man who had been arrested and that while he had been arrested $10 and the money was placed in an envelope, he had not received it. John Beelman told of being paid $9.50 by Collins, fifty cents being deducted for expenses. This was paid in the Lewis hotel, and at the time there were a number of others waiting in the ante-room to be paid. They were let in one at a time. He signed a receipt on a paper, on which there were about a dozen names ahead of him. At the Beck election, too, his vote had been purchased by Jerry Collins for $10.

Another man, who received $9.50, in the Lewis hotel, was Charles Simeons, and Hamilton Hamilton told of being paid $10 by Service. John Meece, employed in Hyman's tannery, got $5 from Collins, in the Lewis hotel, and $5 in the Beck election. This was for work done, and did not influence his vote. W. Service was then put in the box and testified to seeing voters and inviting them to call on Jerry Collins. He was stationed in a committee room, where he handled a considerable number of envelopes. He received a week in handing out envelopes to different people, and he gave every man his envelope when called for. He could not, however, remember a single name, stating that his memory was very poor. He received himself $25 from Collins.

The various transactions in hand by the Great Western Land company were further probed by the insurance commission this morning. An investigation of the book of the company, the producing of which was so strenuously resisted by G. E. Foster, disclosed the fact that Mr. Foster and his colleagues, Lieut. Col. McGillivray and Matthew Wilson, had an interest in a second purchase of 8,540 acres of land, which was bought from Pope and G. W. Fowler, M.P., for $200,000. The original option for 200,000 acres, the interest of the gentlemen named was not hitherto apparent from the fact that they took their profits in shares in the Great West Land company. It also transpired that when turning over the lands these gentlemen had selected under the option of Pope and Fowler 6,500 acres which they apparently still hold.
